

L. L. Hughes

People 48

People were of all shapes, colors and sizes . . . A few studied hard while some lived dangerously and never cracked a book . . . Our Alma Mater—one thing we all had in common.

Sports 124

The '84 football season, a time for joy and disappointment . . . Summerville . . . Were we our own worst opponents, expecting too much?

Academics 164

Reading, Writing and Arithmetic were out and term papers, chemistry lab and Spanish tape papers were in . . . A break was all we needed.

Community 194

Walterboro's Bicentennial . . . Variety '85 . . . Ten years of the Rice Festival . . . Rocking Radio Stations . . . A town to be proud of—we got bigger, better and a little more interesting.

Index 224

Listings from A to Z . . . The index was a place everybody identified with . . . Recording the year with lists.

Closing 234

Closing the year with no regrets . . . We were going places . . . We would miss our town, our school and our friends.