

Bob Pence lends a little humor to the post-graduation festivities as he attempts to cheer up Tim O'Briant, a reluctant graduate.

Junior Marshal Shawna Davis sheds tears of joy and sadness as she says good-bye to her friends in the senior class and looks forward to her own graduation.

The blank expressions of these soon-to-be graduates hide a torrent of emotions. Pride, joy, confusion, and sadness all tug at the hearts of the 283-member class.
