

Guess Jeans $56.00

Operation Dog Seat

Bright and early December 9, athletes and band members assembled at the old Farena Furniture store on Main Street to begin a full day that would determine the status of Bulldog Stadium. Equipped with raincoats, umbrellas, name tags and buckets, students set out to canvas the neighborhood of the Walterboro area. Meanwhile, back at the headquarters, D101 had set up its radio equipment, reporting live the progress of the all-day affair. Listeners were able to call in and make pledges to the cause. Rob Fowler and Bill Baer, Channel 2 personalities, made appearances, autographing photos of Hurricane Hugo. In an attempt to encourage pledges, the Press and Standard's associate editor Rob Novit and Principal Bob Pence made a deal to "shed" all, their hair that is. If earnings totaled over $40,000, Editor Novit vowed to shave his beard and Mr. Pence, his mustache. The goal was met, so in an assembly that raised more money for the stadium account, Mary Louise's Salon did the honors for the editor and the principal while the student body cheered them on.

— Wendy Garrett

"Off with your beard," says Mary Louise Hiott, owner of Mary Louise's Salon to Press and Standard's Rob Novit. Rob shaved off his beard in front of WHS student body to help support the stadium project.

Stopping by to lend his support, Senator Ernest Hollings speaks with Cheryl Tillman of D101.

Compliments of

FOOD LAND

199 Ivanhoe Dr
Walterboro, SC 29488

Foursquare Gospel Church

We Believe c Jesus Christ, the same, yesterday, today, forevermore God
cares — We care

Church Phone: 538-5177

Pastors: Janet Pontious

Betty G. Bazzle

Fabric Shop

432 E. Washington Street
Walterboro, SC 29488
(803) 549-5216

Jane
Lyons

Merle
Worden