

GOT THE LIFE ?

Small Town Life, Small Town Pleasures

The lack of entertainment in a small town often prompted students to create their own brand of happiness. After school hours, the phone lines buzzed as weekend plans were finalized.

Friday night football games, movies, and just hanging out topped the list of weekend pastimes.

"I go to all of the home football games," said senior Ashley Bennett.

Some students invited friends over on the weekends. "Sometimes my dad and I have pay-per-view wrestling parties and invite a bunch of people over," said senior T.C. Dopson.

Others ventured to Charleston and enjoyed a different sort of fun. "I like to go to the Music Farm in Charleston and check out cool bands," said senior A.J. Bridge.

For some, religious activities occupied their weekend life. "I study, sleep, and go to church," stated junior Joseph Hamilton. "In church, I'm a youth leader for my youth group and I play trumpet."

Walterboro is a rural area where hunting and fishing are as much a part of life as going to an afternoon movie. "I usually go hunting, fishing, and have fun with my friends," said junior James Eustace.

Though Walterboro had the outward appearance of being a bit boring, the members of this small community did the same things that everyone did. They spent their weekends enjoying a little R & R.

-Jacob Murdaugh

Chatting away! Sophomores Jodi Clark and Drew Coker stop to talk to each other at a Walterboro High School football game. The two of them, long time friends, were discussing their plans for the remainder of the weekend.

WEEKEND PASTIMES

"When I'm not working, I chill with my friends in my shed behind my house, and I play with my band."

-senior Eddie Rumpfelt

"I spend time with my boyfriend and my friends as well as writing poetry and doing outdoor stuff."

-junior Karen Lanier

"After doing homework, I get in my car and hit the road."

-junior Madia Brown