

Study Habits: the Good & the Bad

Hittin' the Books

Top 6 Study Habits

1. Read everything and then say it out loud.
2. Cram everything in the night before.
3. Study with a friend.
4. Study a little bit every night to avoid cramming.
5. Outline the lesson.
6. Make it fun by making up songs, etc.

Cheater, Cheater!

Top 5 methods of cheating

1. Writing answers on the desk
2. Having a really small cheat sheet
3. Sticking a piece of paper in a clear notebook
4. Typing up a cheat sheet and putting it in a clear pencil
5. Talking to a teacher while the answer key is on the desk

What is your easiest class?

"Band, because it just comes naturally to me and I enjoy it."

-freshman Drew Allen

"Health Occupations, because I enjoy learning some of the things I need to know for medical school."

-sophomore Kim Bryant

What is your hardest class?

"Algebra II, because the memorization and the endless algebraic expressions are very hard to complete without forgetting something."

-junior Jason Berry

"Biology, because I got kicked out today!"

-junior Brian Linder

Caught: Red Handed

"I was in sixth grade and we were about to take a spelling test. I wrote the spelling words on the bottom of my paper before the test. I was taking the test and the teacher came over to me and told me to lift up my paper. She did not see anything but when I put my paper back down, she saw the answers I had written on the bottom of my paper. My friends were laughing, and I got a zero even though everyone else was doing the same thing."

-sophomore Angela Reeves

"In art class we were taking a test and I did not know any of the answers, so I wrote them on my hand. While I was in the middle of taking the test, a girl saw me cheating and she told the teacher. I spit on my hand to try to get the answers off, but it didn't work. The teacher caught me and everyone thought it was funny."

-sophomore Steven Vance

"One time in Spanish, this girl got caught cheating on the exam. She had a cheat sheet in her sleeve and was looking at it, but the teacher saw her. She got brought out bad, and everyone laughed. I mean you have got to be dumb to try to cheat on an exam!"

-junior Leah Elkins

