

Buckle up for Safety! Seniors Matt Crosby and Jon Pye clown around while demonstrating the dangers of not buckling up at the Safe Kids Fair. They may have had a little too much fun being crash test dummies.

Guess Who? Senior Ellyn Sanders is disguised in this suit as she dressed up and helped with the Safe Kids Fair. The members enjoyed dressing up and having fun with the kids.

NHS Stress

"Since I have been inducted in the NHS, I have been involved in many service projects, including Relay for Life, Adopt-a-Highway, and exceeding 200 hours of volunteer service. Just spending a little time helping someone goes a long way and is well worth it." -senior Carrie Griffin, President

The National Honor Society stayed busy throughout the school year with tons of community projects. The members were given the responsibility of doing forty hours of community service. Some of the major events they did as a whole were the new Powder Puff football game, the State Convention, the Safe Kids Fair, and the Taste of Waltherboro.

Junior Gareth Avant was a new member this year. He commented, "One of my favorite parts about this year in NHS was the powder puff football game. I enjoyed getting to dress up like a cheerleader for the night, even if I felt dumb." Some of the other activities the members participated in were volunteering at the hospital, tutoring, and adopting a highway.

"I like being able to give something back to the community," said senior Jon Pye. To some helping the community was the best part of being in the Honor Society. These hardworking, dedicated students also enjoyed having fun working with different groups of people on the community.
