

Over the Rim

The Boys JV Basketball team had high hopes, but their dreams overshot the reality of their performance.

Coach Ricky Haynes and his JV boys basketball team have worked themselves sore this past season. In the end, however their hard work did not pay off, though they did manage to win a few games.

At the beginning of their season, the team's future seemed to be a promising one. They had a strong number of 7 returners, among these being Terence Fishburne, Brandon Jenkins, Keith Fishburne, and Tony Brothers. In addition to this, they had some promising newcomers such as Eric Castles and Tito Holmes.

"We're all expecting a good season with all of the experience we have out on the court.

My players should be very in depth this year," said Coach Haynes. The dreams of making it to the playoffs were soon distinguished as their season record worsened with nearly every game they played. At the end of the season, their final record was 4-15, meaning they lost nearly three-fourths of the games they played this season. A lesson was learned from all of the loses and disappointment. Next season is sure to be better for all of the returning players, as they will strive harder to win.

F: The boys' JV basketball team had 7 returning players, leading them to be a little over-confident about their performance further into the season.

F: The team's only four victories resulted from wins against Bowman, Hilton Head, Ruffin, and Wando High School teams.

Scanning the court. Under pressure. Terence Sophomore Eric Castles Ferguson looks for an open teammate. He says that this was his second year, but not his last.
