I get up in the morning and rush out the door because I'm usually late for school. After a long day at school, I have to go to cheerleading competition practice. I see my life flash before my eyes as I am catapulted into the air, which usually makes me forget about my long day at school. When I finally get home I remember my homework and exhaustedly crawl into bed.

I wake up and realize my alarm was not just the sirens in my dream. I pry my eyelids open and hurriedly make myself presentable to go to school. I go to cheerleading practice for the J.V. and competition squads and scream my guts out. By the time I get home I'm so tired I can't do my homework so I just forget some of it. Oh well, only one more zero.

My alarm sounds off at exactly 6:00 a.m. I put on a pair of sweats and a t-shirt and go outside to jog for about 20 minutes. After jogging, I take a shower and get ready for school. This is the most boring day of the week, but it is also the day all the students are talking about the weekend. After school I have practice with a singing group called MoDef. After practice I go home, eat dinner, and go to bed.

Tuesday is a pretty moderate day. After an okay day at school, I have cheerleading practice for an hour and a half. Then I go to Barbizon modeling/acting school, which lasts for approximately 3 tiresome hours. I get home around 8:30 and get my homework done, I try to be asleep by 10:00 or 10:30.

Today is always the slowest day of the week. I wake up, get dressed, and on the way to school I flirt with all the girls on the bus. When I get to school I talk with all my friends before the bell rings and find out what they did over the weekend. When school gets out I have to go to football practice in the miserable heat but it's worth it. After practice I go home and chill, then I do my homework and go to sleep.

I go to school and usually sleep through all of my classes except for lunch. On Tuesdays I am always really tired. When the bell rings, I feel relieved from my long day at school. I go to football practice for a few hours then I go home and get ready to go out with my friends. I try to be home early so I can wake up and go to school on Wednesday morning.

After I roll out the bed, half asleep, I go take a shower. I end up washing my hair twice because I forgot if I washed it the first time. I go to school, and have a boring day as usual. When the day ends I go home and rest a little while then get up and go to work. After working for about 2 hours, I meet Craig Stivender and we go hunting. When I get home I try to get some of my homework done.

I wake up to the horrible sound of the alarm clock going off in my ear, as I remember I have to meet all my friends for breakfast. I rush to take a shower, then I run out the door forgetting my homework in the house. I get to school on time and my day goes pretty well. I go to work again, as usual. I get home around 6:00 and go fishing, it seems to unwind me from the day.
