

Before You Know It

Before you know it, grammar school will be ending for these young people. These students work diligently, pay attention and take good notes. They are ready for high school. They hope they have learned enough to be prepared. At the moment, the most influential person in their lives is their teacher. They hope the high school teachers are as nice as the ones they are accustomed to in grammar school. It may seem an eternity away but before you know it, these students will be the leaders of our society.
