The graduating class of 2002 is definitely a wild and crazy bunch. When asked what they thought about the millennium, most of them said, "It's just another year."

It's not surprising to hear that the only thing Russ and Eric like about school is looking at the pretty girls. Shannon and Amanda enjoy seeing their friends and getting the daily scoop, while Brandy's favorite part about school is lunch. They all agreed that the four days isn't so bad.

Russ has the reputation of being the "class flirt" and Brad is known as the "class clown."

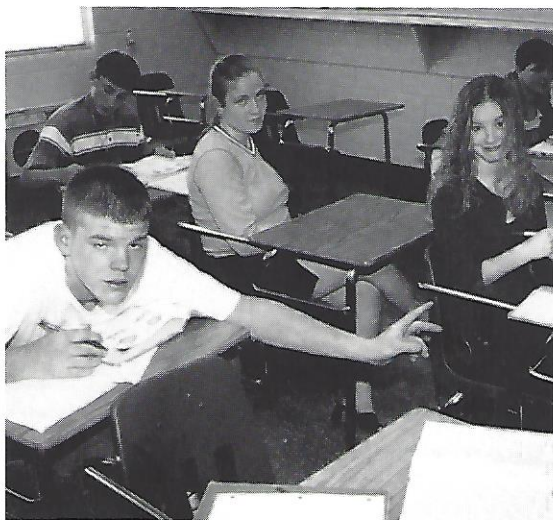

It's obvious that the sophomores are ready to graduate. They look forward to wearing class rings and being one year closer to graduation. Hang in there guys, two more years to go!
