

With every swing of the bat the Confederates come closer to winning the game

Bradley Priester is always keeping his mind on the game.

When our team gets together with the coach and starts thinking the other team knows they're in for it.