Late nights and hard work brought forth an evening of beauty and excitement. Parents, friends, and classmates under the direction of Mrs. Marsha worked very hard to "build" a prom that everyone would enjoy and be happy to attend. The Class of 2005 appreciated all the help they received. All the lovely young ladies in their formal gowns and the handsome young men in their tux were a sight to behold. How proud everyone was to be a part of such a magical moment.
