

I am so proud of you! It is so hard watching you grow up so fast. I still remember you running around those little blonde pigtails. Don't ever forget you will always be my baby. No matter how far you go away from home remember I will always hold you dear to my heart. I have now done my part; the rest is up to you. I know that you will always make the right choices in life. Please remember as you go into this big world full of opportunities take them and run. Make the best of life and have fun. I wish you the best in everything.

[illegible]