

2009 Teacher of the Year

Tammy Mathias

Third Grade teacher, Tammy Mathias has been voted as Andrew Jackson Academy's second annual Teacher of the Year for the 2009 school year.

Mrs. Mathias graduated from USC Aiken and has been teaching for the last 13 years. She says one of her favorite parts of teaching is when the "lightbulb" comes on and they (students) understand what she has been teaching.

Mrs. Mathias lives in Ulmer with her husband, Tripp Mathias and their 3 children, who also attend Andrew Jackson Academy: Mac (senior), Gayle (7th grade) and Job (5th grade). During her free time, Mrs. Mathias loves to read and do some work in her garden.

This is Mrs. Mathias' first year teaching at Andrew Jackson Academy, where she teaches the 3rd grade.
