FOREWORD

Between the covers of this book lies the story of the many happy days at Camden High School. These are the joys and wonderful experiences that will always be remembered. To the underclassmen, it is something to look forward to, and to the seniors, it is a memory. Your classes, your organizations, your faculty, your friends, and activities are all recorded here, marking a milestone in your life. As you go your separate ways and strive to reach higher goals, pick up this book and relive in your minds the happiest days of your life.

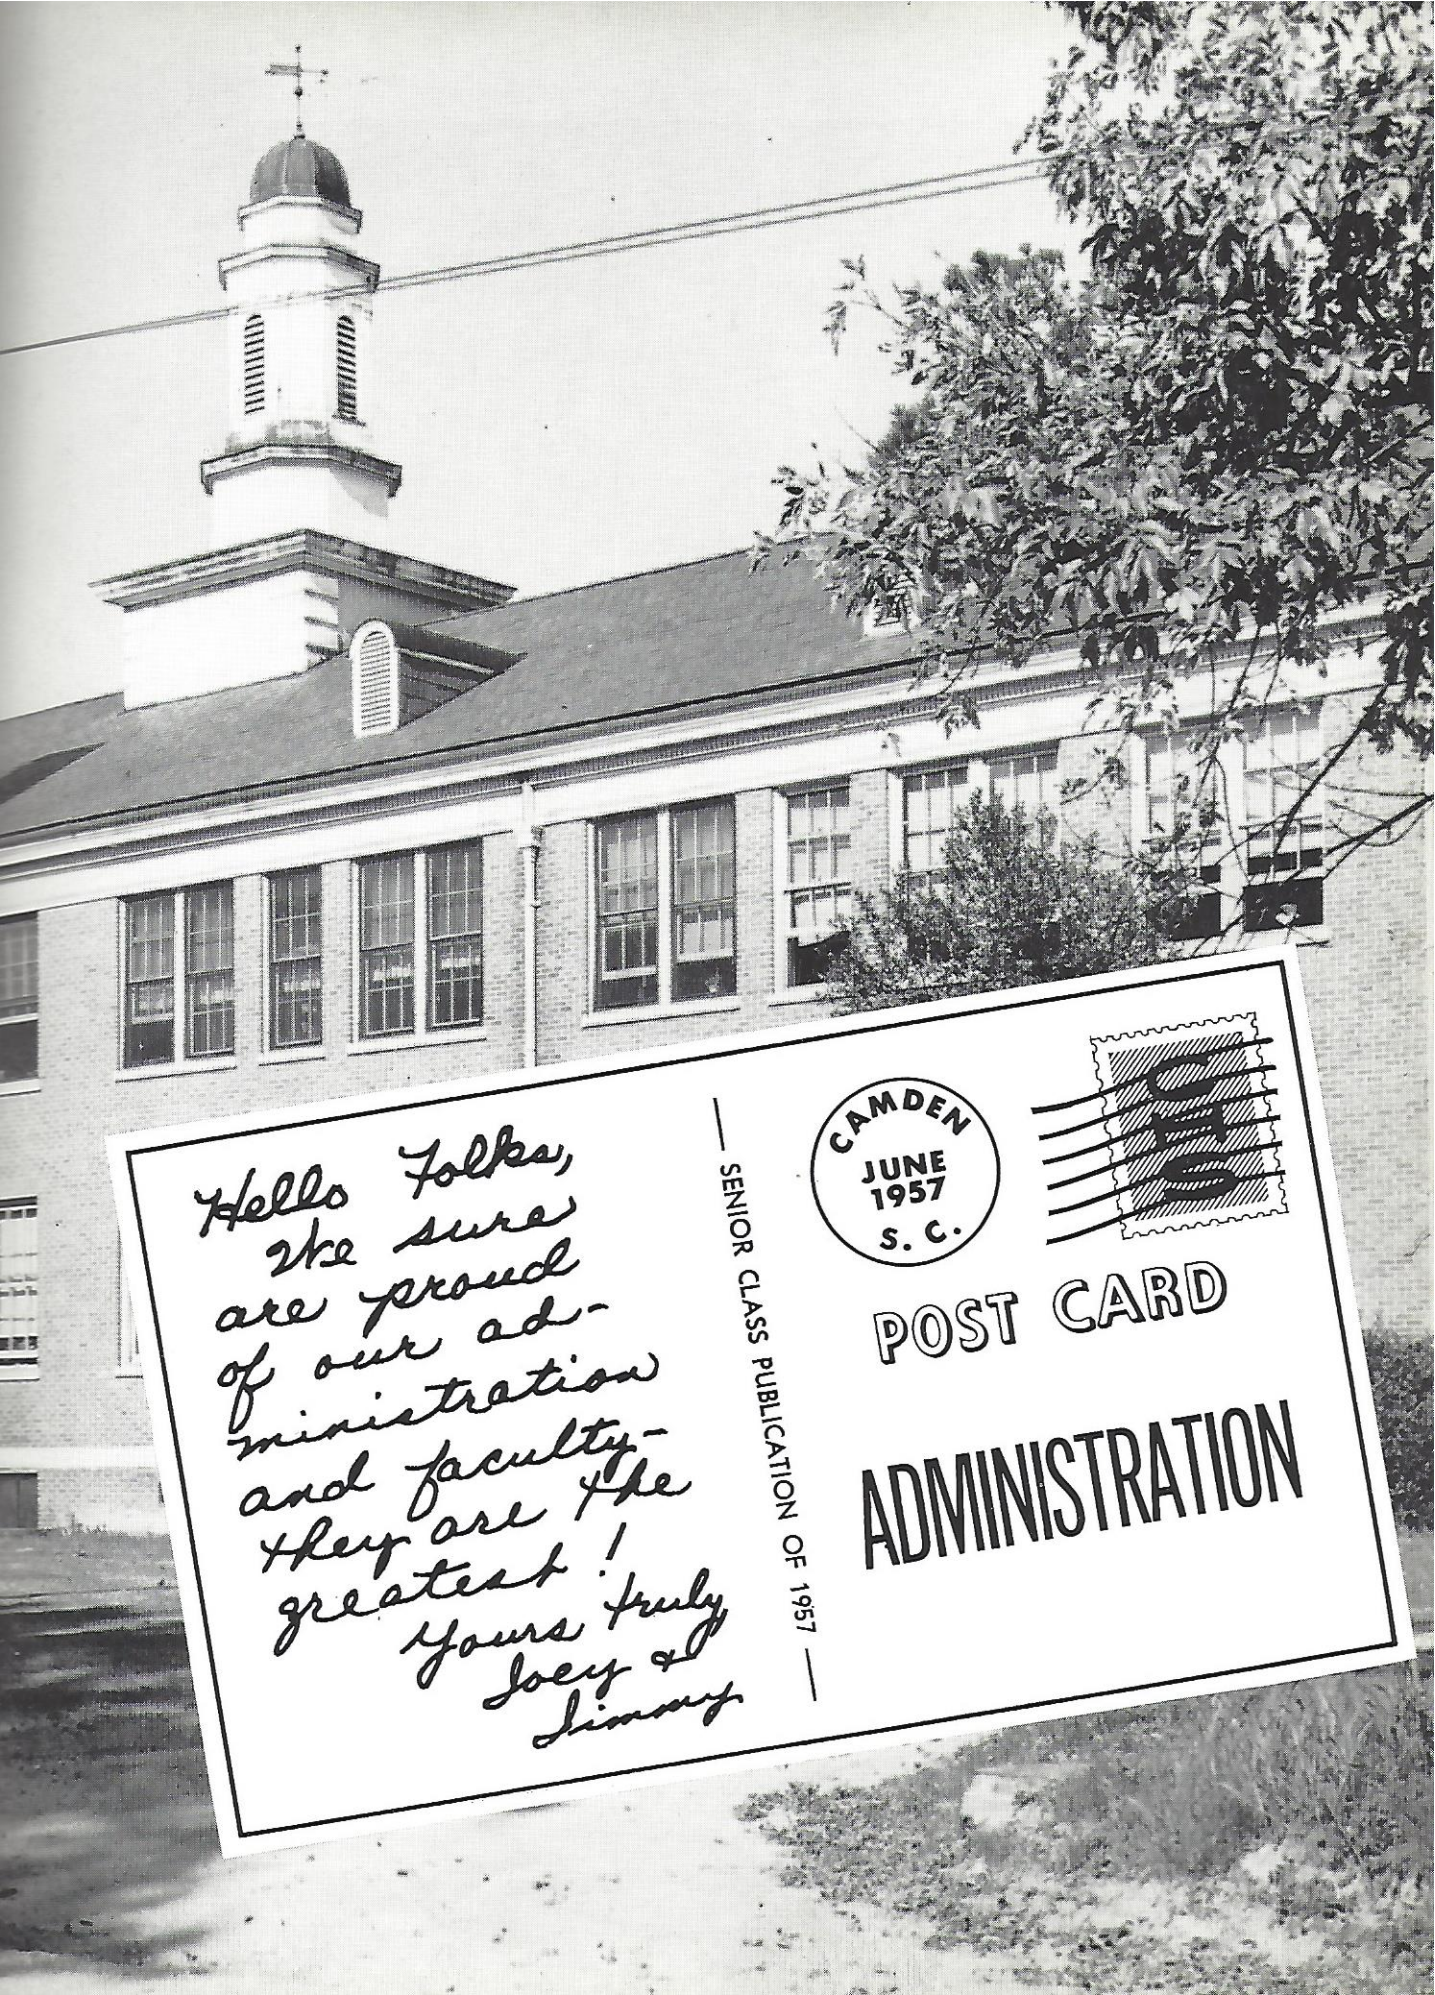

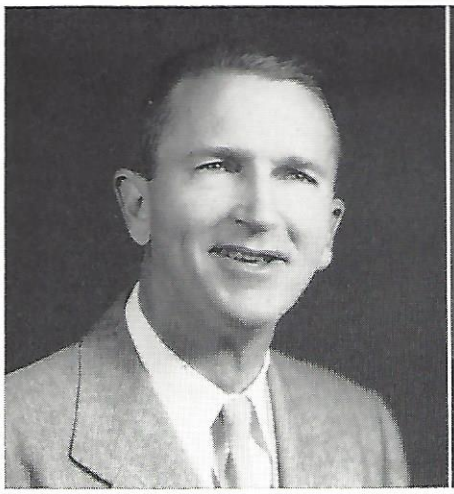

Dedicated To

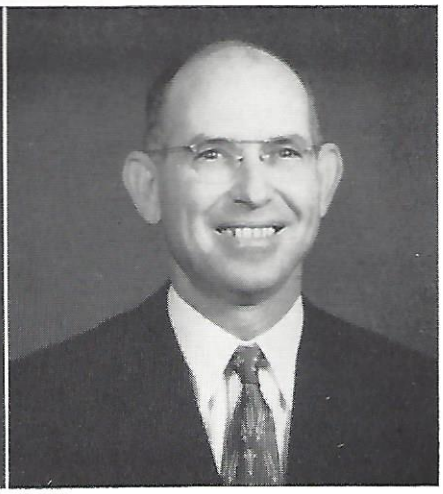

Mr. J. G. Richards, Jr.

We, the Senior Class of 1957, in grateful appreciation of your many years of devotion to the Camden Schools do dedicate our annual to you, Mr. J. G. Richards, Jr. We thank you for your many efforts to improve our education and for the help and guidance you have given students through the years. We shall never forget your devotion to our schools.

Hello Folks,
We sure are proud of our administration and faculty-they are the greatest!
Yours truly

Dear Miss West:

Thank you for your letter of January 25th, and for the pictures of the top entrants in your "Miss Gold and Black" contest, which I am returning to you herewith.

Since all the girls looked so charming, it was a difficult choice for me to make. However, I have chosen the following in this order: DEAS BRUNSON, VIRGINIA SIMPSON and BEVERLY OGBURN.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

STEVE ALLEN

Homecoming

The picture above represents the climax of our annual Homecoming parade and football game. A parade beginning at the high school went down Broad Street and ended at the football field. The parade included the Camden High School Band, sponsors for the senior football players, several floats and the three finalists for Homecoming Queen who were Joyce Robinson, Judy West, and Deas Brunson. Just before the game the sponsors and the three finalists were driven onto the field. At the halftime the band presented an impressive program and then the Homecoming Queen, Miss Judy West, was crowned by the three injured football players.
