SERGEANT FIRST CLASS CHARLES C. WILSON

"Get it cut," and "Son, you've got short pants" are just a few of the sayings that cadets have heard for the past three years here at Camden Military Academy. He came to Camden fresh out of Vietnam and actual war, just to step into a new kind of battle. From the very first day that he has been here, he has let everybody know who the boss was as far as the cadets and himself were concerned. He has gone out of his way to help each and every cadet realize what important part the armed forces of America play. For a job well done, we, the corps of cadets and the EXCALIBUR Staff salute you, and it is for this reason that THE 1969 EXCALIBUR is dedicated to you,

HISTORY OF DEDICATION

We of the 1969 class of Camden Military Academy do dedicate for his unselfish devotion to our school, this, our annual.

For his years of hard work to make men of the cadets at Camden Military Academy, no words can truly express our gratitude to "Sarge". When all else around us seemed to falter and blur, his guidance and leadership never failed, and in times of stress he always stood faithful and true.

Sgt. Charles Wilson was born in Kings Mountain, North Carolina, entered military service early in life, and has fought for America in many battles and in many lands; and just as he never failed the trust of the country he loves, he never failed in his service to C.M.A.

Sgt. Wilson will leave the Academy this year, but hundreds of cadets will always remember Sgt. "Chuck" Wilson as being a fair and helpful man who could be relied upon. To Sgt. Wilson we want to say "Thank you and good luck."

Camden Military Academy is an institution that seeks to provide a total educational experience for the young men enrolled. The Academy offers a full academic schedule, an excellent ROTC program, all major sports, and a variety of recreational activities.

It is the purpose of Camden Military Academy to replace the problems and perplexities of its students with goals and ambitions. At the Academy, a student learns to adjust to new situations, and to adapt himself so that he might be a better citizen when he goes out into the world. The members of the faculty, administration, and ROTC program work together to produce a well-rounded young man who can be proud of himself.

FOREWORD

The year is drawing to a close, and man is a being who tends to look backward and reflect. In quiet moments, we can remember the good times, the hard times, the joy and sorrow of a year gone by.

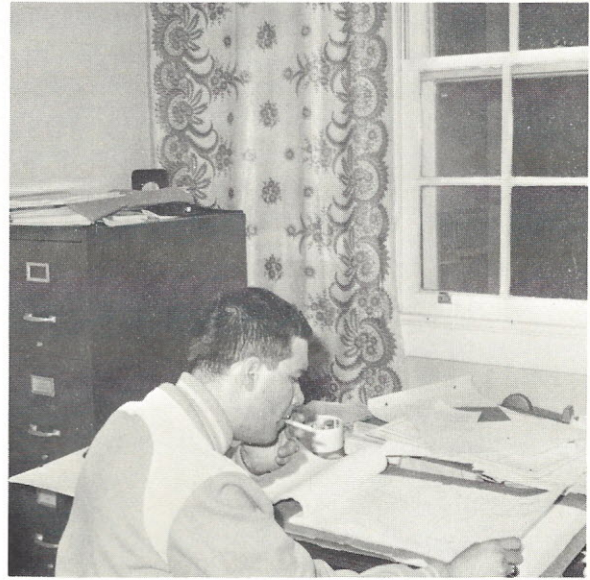

Camden Military Academy was a vital part of our lives and as always in life, one gets back just what he puts in. By trying to do our best, giving a smile instead of a frown, saying a good word instead of a gripe and attempting to make things easier for everyone, we reach closer to what it truly means to be a man.

If in this year we have all learned something about how to give and take, how to face troubles squarely and without fear, then this has been a good year. Suddenly, the true purpose of the Academy is clear—to teach each of us—to be a better, more solid human being.

A yearbook is a collection of memories and the hope of the EXCALIBUR staff is that this annual will serve as a reminder of the events that took place in 1968-69 at Camden Military Academy. May they be good memories and may we have the understanding that in most ways, it was a good year. To those who do not graduate this year, good luck in the future. Remember us as we will remember you.

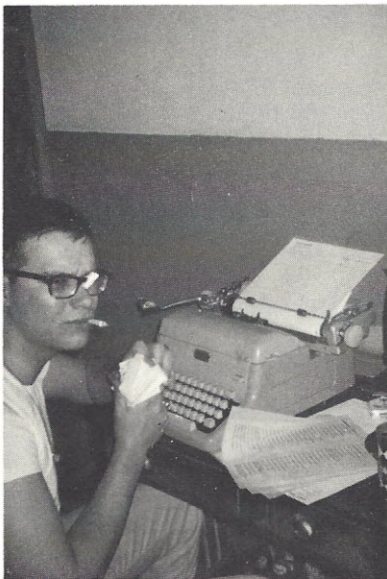

"Now where did I put those copy sheets?"

"Oh, me, . . . toil and trouble."

ANNUAL STAFF

"Ayer after working all night."

"We WILL finish the annual."

Our Photographer—
Flashbulb Charley

Putting an annual together requires considerable time and effort, and an annual staff must give their labor freely. The long hours, shattered nerves, and hard work is all worthwhile, however, when the annual is finally complete.

We of the annual staff hope that the 1969 EXCALIBUR will bring back fond memories of Camden Military Academy in the years to come.

COL. JAMES F. RISHER was born in Hampton County, South Carolina on November 26, 1889. After attending the South Carolina public schools, he completed his formal education at The Citadel in 1911. Eleven years of public school teaching ended in 1922 when he became a teacher at Carlisle. In 1928 Col. Risher became headmaster and thus became a leader in southern military schools. Camden Military Academy established in 1958 is an example of his greater efforts in the education field.

Col. Risher has, through great personal sacrifice, given positive direction to the lives of many young men.

ADMINISTRATION

COL. LANNING P. RISHER was born September 19, 1931. He is the son of Col. James F. Risher. He attended public schools of Bamberg and completed high school at Carlisle Military School. In 1952 Col. Risher graduated as an Army 2nd Lt. from The Citadel. After completing his active service in 1955 Col. Risher began teaching at Carlisle. Col. Risher left Carlisle to become headmaster of Camden Military Academy in 1958. In 1965 he received a Master of Arts in history from the University of South Carolina.

Col. Risher has worked hard and long to make Camden Military Academy a top quality military school. Col. Risher, you are to be commended on the fine performance of a great task.

COL. JAMES T. DALLAS was born in Greensboro, North Carolina. He is the instructor of French I and French II. He received his A.B. Degree at the University of South Carolina and did graduate work at the University of d'Aix Marseilles, Aix-en-Provence, France.

Col. Dallas came to Camden Military Academy in 1958. He has been an instructor for eleven years and is now the commandant of cadets.

It has been the goal of Col. Dallas to make Camden Military Academy as fine a school as possible, and he has worked diligently to accomplish this ideal.

MAJOR WILLIAM P. BECKHAM has served Camden Military Academy for eleven years, first as a professor of military science. He is now the Academy's assistant Commandant, and has given untold hours of time and devotion to the school.

Major Beckham feels that everyone should have a high school education, and should go to college if possible. It has always been his purpose to guide and assist the cadets at CMA so that they might get the full benefit of the Academy's training program.

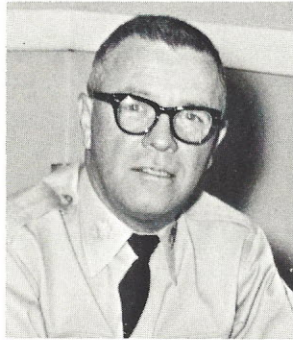

Major Beckham is a dynamic man who isn't ashamed to say "I'm still learning—these cadets teach me something new every day."

In Memoriam

LARRY F. FAILE

naturae MCMLII
VALE DULCISSIME

obit MCMLXVIII
VALE DESIDERATISSIME

In November of last year an untimely tragedy struck and a member of the Cadet Corps was cut down in the flower of his youth. Larry Faile, during his brief sojourn with us at the Academy, exemplified many of the characteristics of humanity which are held dear by all. The passing of this young man whose winning smile and kind heart had injected into our lives a brief ray of warmth, was for us a most sad occasion. At such a time, vain gestures and hollow words offered but little comfort to the bereaved. However, the pain caused by death's sting has been dulled somewhat by an expression of the entire scheme of our brief existence in the immortal lines written by Alfred Lord Tennyson in the Poem of his In Memoriam:

*Strong Son of God, immortal love,
Whom we, that have not seen Thy face,
By faith, and faith alone, embrace,
Believing where we cannot prove;*

*Thine are these orbs of light and shade;
Thou madest Life in man and brute;
Thou madest Death; and lo, Thy foot
Is on the skull which Thou hast made.*

*Thou wilt not leave us in the dust;
Thou madest man he knows not why,
He thinks he was not made to die;
And Thou hast made him; Thou art just.*

*Forgive these wild and wandering cries,
Confusions of a wasted youth;
Forgive them where they fail in truth,
And in Thy wisdom make me wise.*

In a matter of days, many students will be leaving Camden Military Academy. It will be the last time they have to pack their bags here at school. They will be leaving with only the memories they have, whether they be good or bad.

CMA might have taught its seniors the academic work that they were supposed to have learned, but how were their lives influenced? Not only were we sent here to learn, but a young mind is also influenced by everything that he is exposed to at this age.

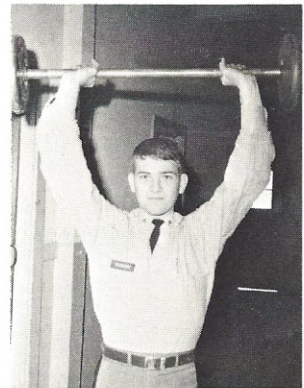

As each and every senior leaves this academy, he can only say that he made what he did out of himself by the efforts that he expended. This was left entirely to the student. Camden Military Academy is here for the student to make whatever he wants to out of it. He can make his mistakes or he can make his breaks.

As we leave Camden Military Academy, we can see the hard road ahead. If we take each problem in life as it comes, we can prevail.

If one word had to describe the junior class, it would be spirit. Spirit in academic endeavors, spirit on the athletic field, and spirit in life itself.

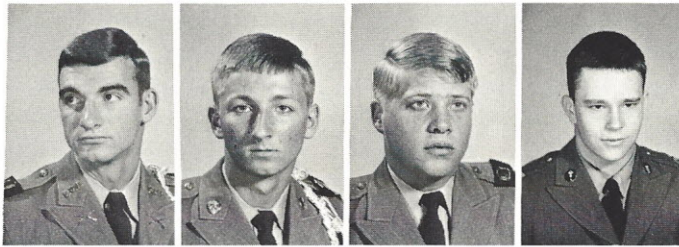

As the time to bid farewell to Camden Military Academy grows closer, it seems the days can not pass fast enough. Always there is the lingering thought of only one more year.

Looking back on this year there is no way a member of the class of 1970 can help but remember the good and bad times shared by some of the closest friends he will ever have. This period of time will be second only to one other, the senior year of 1970.

As sophomores, we all look forward to two more years left until graduation. In these next two years we hope to achieve and progress, not only in rank, but in mind as well as spirit.

A tradition has been set. This tradition leads all classes down a path of fulfillment. For as cadets we attempt to be as adequate as the ones that have walked the path before us. We hope to carry on that tradition here at Camden which symbolizes achievement. In this process of achieving we develop our foresight and maturity to enable us to be better men.

Right now, we have to think about the present. There will be lots of heartaches as well as breaks lying in the few years left ahead. It will be like an obstacle course that we must conquer. We will have to take each step of the road, never stopping to think about anything that would keep us from reaching our goal.

One of the major organizations of Camden Military Academy is the Honor Council, which is composed of the Cadet Lt. Colonel, the Lt. Adjutant, the Company Commanders, and Major Beckham, the faculty advisor.

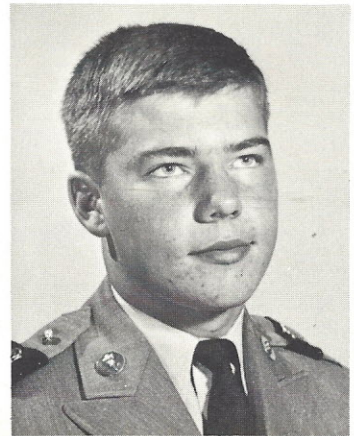

This judicial committee governs the decision for punishment of a cadet who has been accused of an offense. All evidence and witnesses pertaining to the case are brought before the Council for their consideration; then a verdict is submitted to the Headmaster for approval.

The main purpose of the school newspaper, The Adjutant, is to inform the Cadet Corps of the current events on campus. The newspaper staff has worked diligently this year gathering materials of interest to each and every cadet for the newspaper. We can say with certainty that their presentation has been most excellent.

The topics have ranged from Snow Storms on Campus to the major athletic events. The paper has been constructed in a very concise and professional manner. Not only have the Cadets enjoyed reading The Adjutant, but it has served to inform parents about the major happenings at Camden Military Academy.

Cadet officers are chosen for their outstanding military performance. The responsibilities and duties of these young men are many and varied. But, their most important responsibility is the guidance of their fellow cadets.

NON COMMISSIONED OFFICERS

Privates First Class and Corporal.

The rank of non-commissioned officer is merely a stepping stone to greater responsibilities. They are the backbone of the battalion. These people are the ones through which the greater bulk of the military operations are carried out.

A non-commissioned officer's service to the Cadet Corps is very valuable. For example, his duties may range from duty as Sergeant of the Guard to Squad Corporal. Every non-commissioned officer eagerly awaits a promotion whereby he can serve in a greater military role.

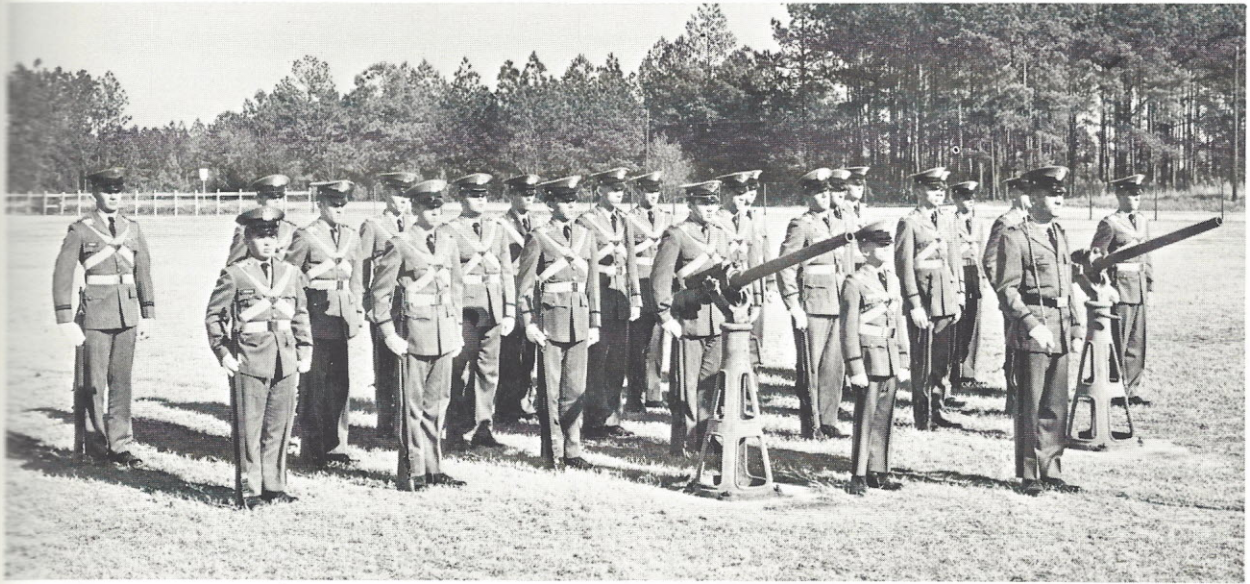

Just as in the regular Army, the sergeants at CMA have a big job to do. When procedures are determined by the company officers, it is up to the sergeants to see that the orders are carried out efficiently and promptly.

It is usually the rank of sergeant that gives a cadet the chance to show that he is truly officer material. A good hard-working sergeant is worth his weight in gold in a military organization, and the responsibility of the task is excellent training for future officers.

ROTC PROGRAM

R.O.T.C. PROGRAM

The Reserve Officers Training Corps has a two-fold mission. First, to teach the principles of leadership, respect for constituted authority, habits of precision, orderliness, courtesy, hygiene, and correctness of posture and deportment; and second, to give the cadet instruction in basic military subjects which will be of benefit to him and the Armed Forces of his country, when he becomes a member of one of its many and varied branches.

Our program here at Camden Military Academy consists of four years of military training. In the first year we are taught the basic military subjects, hygiene and first aid, customs and courtesies of the service, and good posture and personal appearance. In the second year we are taught military subjects oriented toward the development of leaders, at the squad and platoon level. The third and fourth years are used to expand upon the subjects necessary in developing leaders at the company and battalion level.

R.O.T.C. PROGRAM

Here at CMA, we learn leadership, the art of getting others to willingly get the job done. It doesn't take many weeks to learn that a good leader must have compassion for those he leads. We also realize perhaps not so quickly, that being a good leader means acquiring greater responsibilities, knowledge, and having strong moral character. We believe, that patriotism, duty, honor and integrity make the kind of citizen we hope to be.

A school's football team is the product of many hours of practice in the field and instruction in the classroom. A football team plays for the entire student body, and for the glory of the school.

The cadets of CMA pulled hard for the Spartans all year, and the team played some hard games for the school; and when a team fights a tough and clean game, it has succeeded, no matter what numerals are on the scoreboard. Coach Dozier and the football squad have the esteem of everyone at CMA for the hard work they put into the 1968-69 season.

The rifle team is coached by Sgt. Sizemore and led by team Captain Walter Martin. Martin and "Dicky" Jones are the shooters who most consistently place all shots on target. The expert use of firearms is invaluable, whether for sport shooting, hunting, or defense.

CHEERLEADERS

The Cheerleaders' job is to inspire and encourage the team. Just as the team members give their time and effort, so do the cheerleaders, and they are actually an important part of the total team effort.

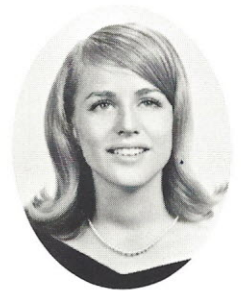

Cheerleaders sponsor Capt. Wallace and his enthusiastic group did a great job in supporting the team and keeping spirits high.

BLOCK "C"

The athletes who earn the coveted "C" are always extremely proud to wear it. Those who wear the letter have demonstrated good sportsmanship and great ability; only the best are in the Block "C".
