Carlisle School 1892

A Century of Honor and Tradition

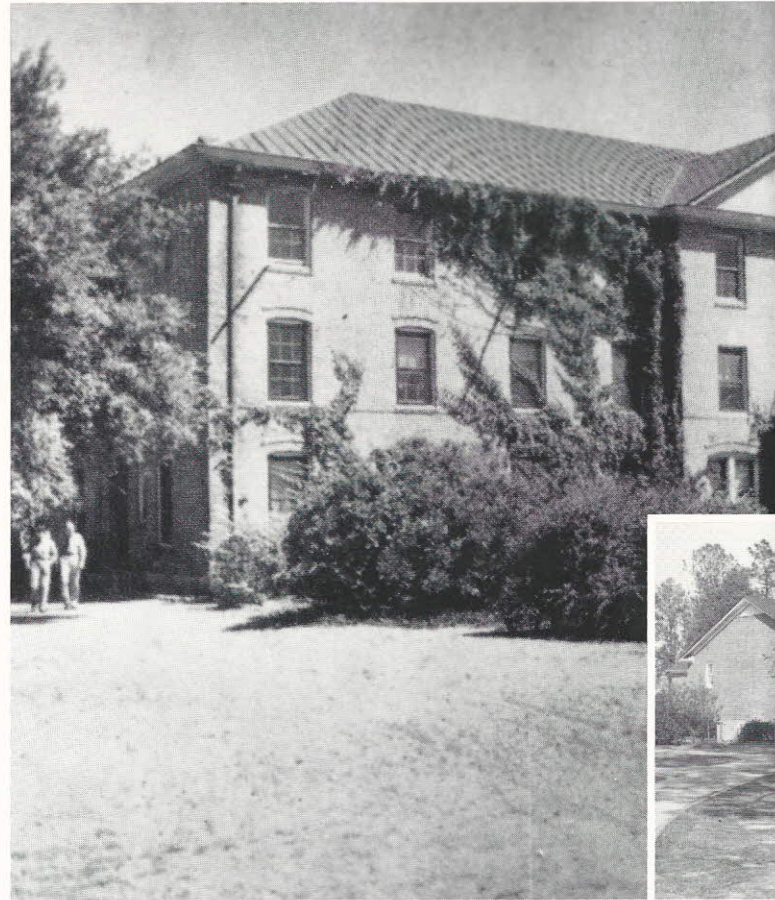

In 1992 we celebrate the centennial of Carlisle, the beginning of the Carlisle-Camden tradition. The Carlisle Fitting School was established in 1892 by the Methodist Church as a school to "fit" young men to attend Wofford College. It was named for Wofford's president, Dr. James H. Carlisle. In the early days, it was a civilian coeducational school, but it became a military school for young men before the end of World War I.

During the Great Depression the enrollment dropped to thirty-five students, but with the return of more prosperous times, the enrollment recovered until it reached 365 in the 1950s. In June of 1958, with an extensive waiting list for admission to Carlisle, the site of Camden Academy (1949-1957) was purchased, and a second campus in Camden was opened as Camden Military Academy.

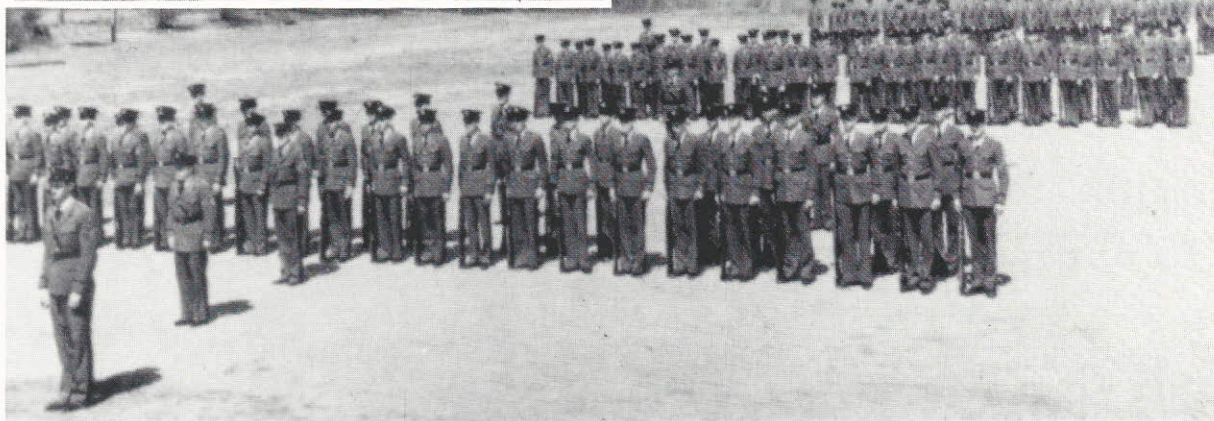

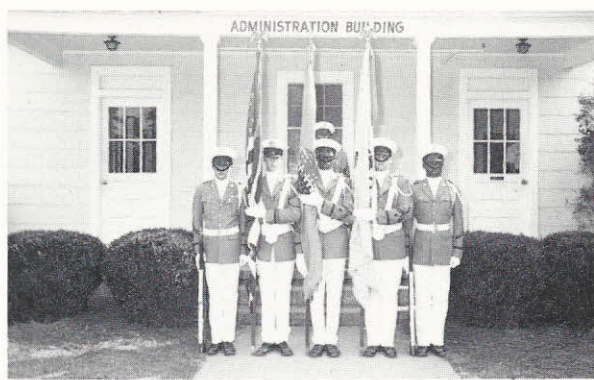

The halcyon days of the 1950s and 1960s were followed by the strong anti-military sentiment of the 1970s, and Carlisle fell victim to decreasing enrollment. Regretfully, in 1977 the Bamberg campus of Carlisle closed its doors, but all rejoice and take heart in the fact that the Carlisle-Camden tradition of sound education, honor and integrity still lives in the Cadet Corps of Camden Military Academy, where each year this tradition grows stronger, more viable, and more permanent.

During this centennial we look back with gratitude toward the beginnings of our heritage, but, more importantly, we look forward heartily and enthusiastically to the next century of challenges and opportunities for Camden Military Academy.

Yesterday and Today

Carlisle School

The Carlisle School was erected in 1892 by the friends of Christian education in Bamberg, and presented to Wofford College. Its aim is to offer the benefits of moral and intellectual development, under the best conditions, to the youth of this State. How well it fulfills its high mission, the large number of young men and young women it has sent out with quickened minds and exalted purposes bear ample testimony. It is a school of character. It seeks to embody as its ideal the spirit of the man for whom it is named — the late Dr. James H. Carlisle.

WORK AND QUIET TIMES

THE CMA WAY

Cadet life at CMA is usually busy and often boisterous. There is the frantic routine of classes, timed meals, drill, and study hall. At other times, stereos blast, vibrating the barrack walls. Laughter and raucous voices reverberate down the hallways. But surprisingly, there are quiet times in between, when the few who are there go about the necessary chores of cleaning rooms, shining shoes, or sorting laundry. And if they are especially lucky, they suddenly find a few uninterrupted minutes to watch a TV program that they really like.

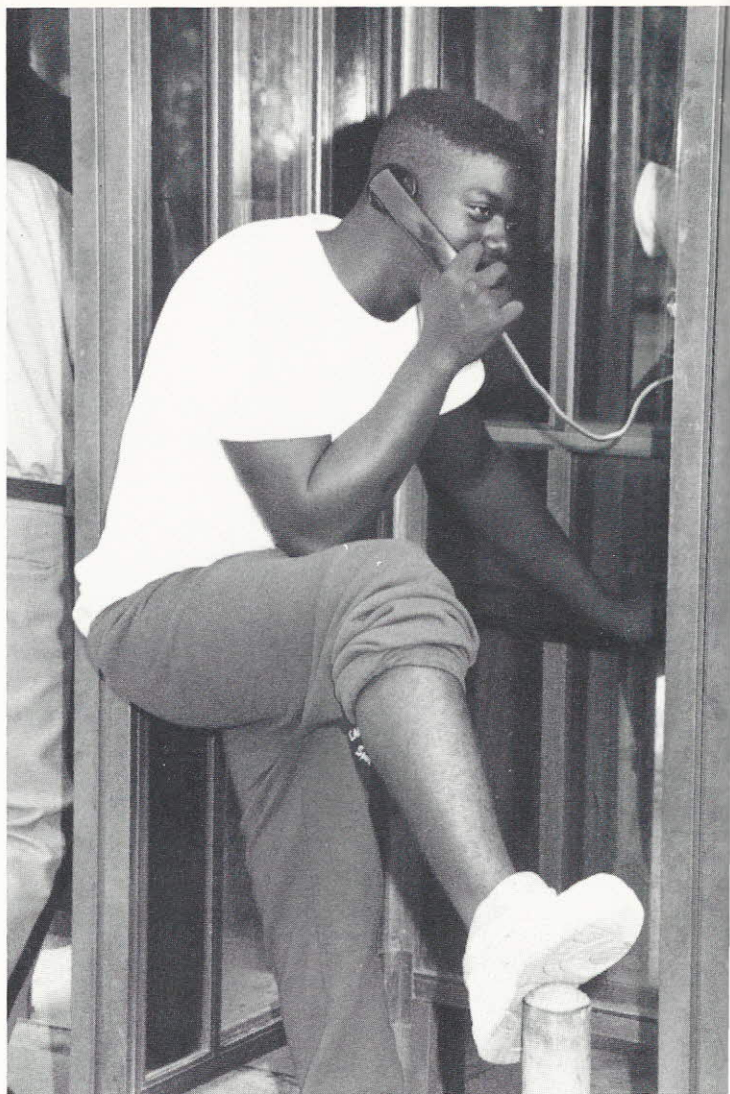

Alone in his room, Sawin finds a few undisturbed minutes to watch TV.

Juggling a can of soda, a bag of donuts, and a loaded clothes hanger, Clarke devises a way to get inside.

Enjoying some slack time, Cadet Graham talks to one of the many "contacts" he claims to have on the outside.

Chancey appears somewhat annoyed. Obviously, he does not want to be distracted from watching his new color TV.

If McCann is not enjoying polishing his brass, you can't tell it from the look on his face. Maybe he's just glad to be through with his homework.

CADET CANDIDS

Norris patiently brings up the rear as Maynard, Hicks, Smith, and Graham wait for Cokes and munchies.

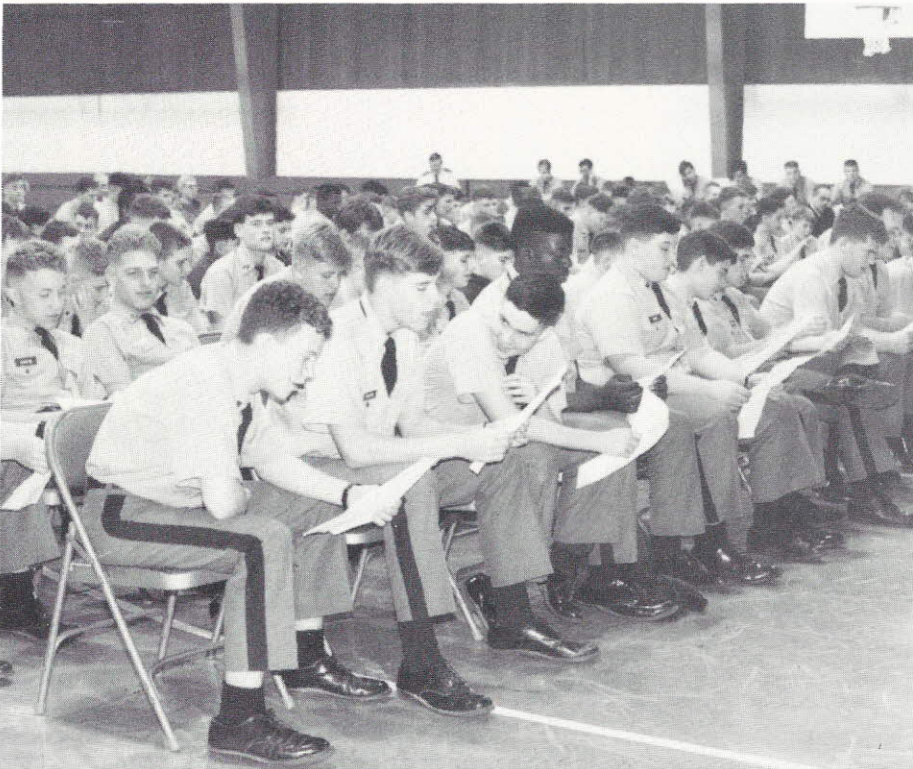

Getting ready to turn his infallible eyes to the task, CPT Simonson prepares to fit new cadet Tracy Taylor with his full complement of pants.

Lamar and Weatherford look on as Kirvan and DeMontfort put the pad babies through their paces.

Enjoying his winter sport of choice, Kilduff plays his Gameboy in warm, comfortable surroundings. The fern is a nice touch.

Before leaving for Christmas holidays, we gathered to sing carols. Hegeman seems to be the lead singer in the corner group.

At the Christmas party, Lewis appears to be in a hurry to taste the hot chocolate that Mrs. Haeflinger has just poured for him.

WINTER FINALLY COMES

After a long, hot summer which featured record setting temperatures, winter finally came to CMA. Everyone's thoughts focused on the upcoming Christmas holidays and the excitement of going home to be with family and friends. After Christmas and the bowl games, we shifted our interest to basketball and preparing for first semester examinations. In stark contrast to the summer, Camden got one of its rare snows in the middle of January. The snow was gone by noon the next day, but some of our cadets from warmer latitudes got to see their first snow ever.

In any kind of weather, life on the pad goes on. OD Bradshaw gives seventh grader McClure a stern lecture while OG Rhyne and Payne look on.

Everyone appreciated the talents of the Joyful Sounds from North Greenville Junior college, who sang upbeat, inspirational songs.

GOLD STARS SHINE IN REVIEW

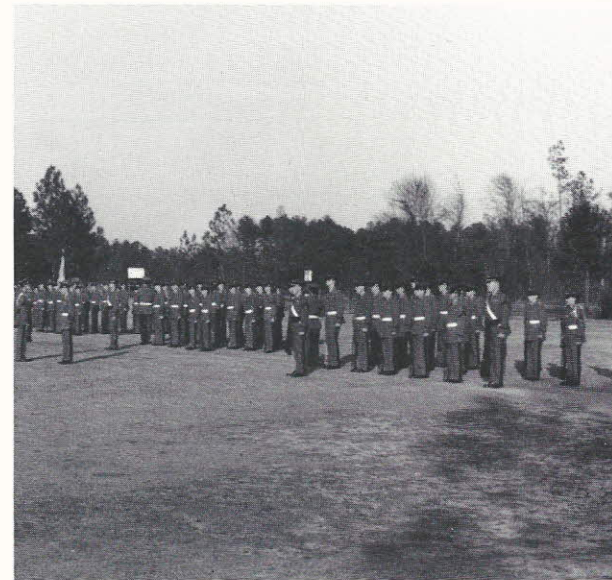

Battalion Commander LTC Brad Nichols, followed by CPT Partida and CPT Dietmeyer, leads the Cadet Corps to the review.

Aided by AA Washington, LTC Schrader, Academic Dean, awards a Gold Star to CPT Jesseph.

In early February Camden Military Academy held a Gold Star Review Ceremony, in which cadets who have maintained a 90 or above average for a semester are awarded a Gold Star to recognize their achievements. Thirty-two cadets were decorated on this occasion. In addition, Colonel Lanning P. Risher, Headmaster, presented the General of the Army Douglas MacArthur Award, which is given annually to the outstanding cadet in the corps. This year's recipient was LTC Brad Nichols, Battalion Commander.

After the presentation of the awards, the battalion passed in review before Colonel Risher, LTC Eller, Commandant; and LTC Schrader, Academic Dean. The review gave the CMA Battalion an opportunity to demonstrate its mastery of military drill in front of senior officers, family, and friends. As the battalion passed before the reviewing stand, every company performed admirably, and the band never played better.

The CMA Battalion prepares to pass in review.

C Company, 1st Platoon, marches by the reviewing stand.

TAC OFFICERS AND CADETS WORK TOGETHER TO GET JOB DONE

THE MILITARY WAY

A military school, just as any other military post, can operate smoothly only so long as everyone follows the chain of command and carries his own weight. At CMA the military side begins with LTC Eller and his staff of tactical officers. CMA is fortunate to have a group of military veterans who not only know their jobs well but also genuinely care about the well being and total development of the young men in their charge. But all the tac officers can do is lead, by example and by command. Each cadet has a responsibility to himself and to all those who care about him to do the best job that he can, no matter how mundane or tedious the work may seem, so that he might master those tasks, learn those loyalties, and develop those blends of toughness and compassion that lead to manhood. From the clerks to the bugler to the Raider Team, every cadet has his job, and every job is important.

We hear our Bugler, SSG Steve Morris, from reveille to taps. Why does he sound so much better at night?

AWESOME ALPHA

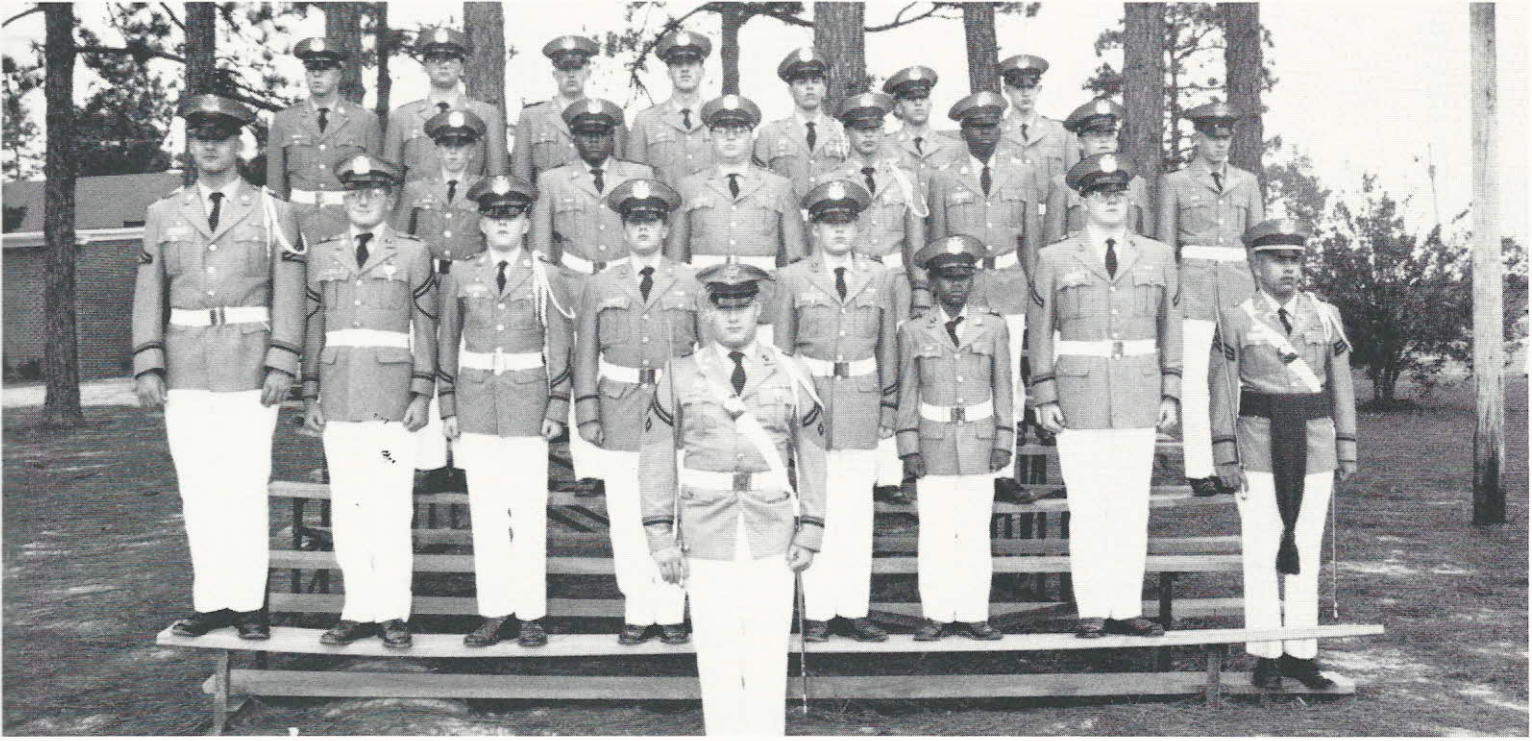

In the 1991-1992 Honor Company, brotherhood is still a big word. According to Plt Ldr 2LT Avant, "We try to be a big happy family and treat one another like brothers." While focused on improving academics, Alpha is also proud of its outstanding athletes, such as Covington, Lavender, and Devore. Although he is generally pleased with the company this year, CPT Boyette stated that one major achievement has been "remaining whole with all the busts and reductions we have experienced."

ALL FOR ONE, ONE FOR ALL

The well known "Three Musketeers" motto stated above seems apt for Bravo Company this year. Company Commander Billy Ray Dial commented: "Things were a little shakey at the beginning of the year, but our guys have learned to throw personal feelings aside for the benefit of camaraderie. Also, we have concentrated on academics and have a number of really good students in our company." Honor student James Burns expressed his feelings: "Everybody has learned that you can't be selfish when working together in a group such as ours. Instead, we are working hard for each other."

Although Charlie Company has undergone some changes in command this year, its goals remain the same: to keep up grades, participate in sports, and excel in military competitions. In the words of new Co Cmdr CPT Hudson, "The company runs fairly smoothly now, and we owe a good deal of that to CSM Layne. We're learning to pull with instead of against each other. Our AOC ratings have been good overall. C Company could greatly improve and has the potential to do it."

Band Company

The Best in Pride and Spirit, '91-'92

With great improvement and much effort, Band Company is striving toward the title of Honor Company, 1992. This has been a year of achievement. The band received a Letter of Appreciation for their performances at the First ROTC Region Ranger Challenge. Other appearances were in the Christmas Day Parade in Columbia and the local Veterans Day Ceremony, in addition to their fine performances this year in our own dress parades. According to CPT de Montfort, CO, "We owe a great deal to Master Chief Boyer, Band Director, and to LTC Mowe, Tactical Officer, whose leadership and encouragement have helped us move closer to our goals in 1992. Almost everyone agrees that this is one of the best bands that CMA has ever had."

This year the band has received many compliments from parents, students, and alumni for its spirited performances in dress parades and for its very noticeably expanded repertory.

A SEASON OF HIGHS AND LOWS

The 1991 football season was sparked by many highs and lows. After a slow but competitive start, the Spartans posted three straight wins. The 1991 schedule was one of the most difficult in years. It featured five play-off teams, including the Public School State Champion, Jonesville; the Independent School State Champion; and the SCNCISAA Dual State Champion. Some of this season's highlights include a state-record-tying 99 yard touchdown pass reception against Defending State

Champion, Jonesville; a combined 8 quarterback sacks in a single game by Billy Ray Dial and John Covington; and a 24-0 shut-out of conference rival Christ School.

Absorbed in the game, Vaughn, Davidson, and Doolittle get a short respite as the action continues.

JV's AND 7/8TH GRADE

The JV team posted an undefeated and almost unscored on season. The lone score against the stalwart JV defense came in the final game of the season against Heathwood Hall.

The JV opened the season with a 32-0 victory over Hammond Academy and closed the season with a 24-6 defeat of Heathwood Hall. Sandwiched between these two victories was the first of two wins over Heathwood Hall, this by a score of 8-0. The Spartans then traveled to Greenville to defeat Christ Church by a 53-0 margin.

Piling up yardage all season for the JV Spartans were Lynard Gardner, Eric Bates, Ron Tanner, Mike Skinner, Slim McDaniels, and Wellington Devereaux. Keeping opponents out of the end zone were linemen Preston Hancock, James Rush, Farris Parker, Jason Lynch, and Ed Dudley. All JV players are congratulated on their outstanding season.

Seventh and eighth graders line up to do battle.

This year's seventh and eighth grade team had a successful season. They ended on a high note with their second victory of the season against Thomas Sumter. This year's highlight was beating Hammond at Hammond. Final record: 3 wins, 2 losses.

At the top of the circle, Covington leaps high to get off a soft jumper over the outstretched arms of a defender.

Lavender fires from 3-point territory. This year the Spartans were strong outside and in.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

The 1991-92 varsity basketball team again took the CAA Conference Championship, marking the third time in the last four years that the Spartans have accomplished that feat. This year's team featured a strong inside game combined with a really good outside shooting back-court. This year's season highlights included a school record win streak of 16 games, John Covington's record of 50 points in a single game, Chad Lavender's and John Covington's selections as All-Conference players, and of course the conference championship.

As Covington comes in, Lavender suddenly checks his dribble. He's got the basket in his sights.

JV BASKETBALL

This year's JV basketball team featured a fine group of young players who will really help the varsity next year. The team had wins over Cardinal Newman, Carolina Day, and Thomas Sumter (2) and losses to Charlotte Country Day and Heathwood Hall (2).

The Cross Country Team worked hard this year and peaked toward the end of the season, finishing 3rd overall in the Heathwood Hall Regionals after regular season meets with Heathwood Hall, Hammond, Porter Gaud, Ben Lippen, Governor's School, Asheville School, and St. Jude.

Cross country team members wish to express their special thanks to MAJ LePage for his guidance and friendship this season.

A STRONG FINISH

The Spartan Wrestling Team finished the season 4-5 in dual meet competition. The regular season proved to be tough for the Spartans since less than half the team was experienced and only two lettermen returned for the '91-'92 season. A returning letterman, Mike Silva finished the season at 6-4. He also finished 3rd in the 125 lb. wt. class in the North Carolina Independent Schools Tournament. A standout all year, Ryan Devore finished the regular season undefeated at 7-0 and finished 2nd in the North Carolina Tournament. Mike Popelars was one of only three seniors on the team and finished the season at 5-2. Mike Hartness started the season late and finished with a record of 4-3. He finished 3rd in the NCISAA tournament in the 155 lb. wt. class.

The Spartans were strong in the heavyweight division with senior letterman Billy Dial. Since Billy plays basketball in addition to wrestling, his regular season record was 4-3, but at the North Carolina Tournament he finished 1st. Billy pinned his first opponent in 18 seconds for the fastest pin at the tournament. At the NCISAA Tournament the Spartans finished 5th out of nine schools participating.

At a time when SAT scores are declining nationwide, CMA was fortunate to experience an increase this year. Colonel Risher, Headmaster, attributes this rise in scores to an able and dedicated faculty, as well as to the academic program that CMA has in place: enforced and monitored study halls, mandatory homework daily, instruction in study and test-taking skills, and intensive vocabulary studies. We in CMA also believe that the discipline inculcated by military training can have only a positive effect on student achievement. We have a balanced approach to educate the whole person, and we are proud of the progress that our students have made.

Field trips are a vital part of educational enrichment at CMA. In January seventh and eighth graders visited the SC State Capitol in Columbia, where they were greeted by Speaker of the House, Robert J. Sheheen, and had the added pleasure of meeting 5th District Congressman, John Spratt. While there, they witnessed the House of Representatives in session, during which they were formally recognized, and received a round of applause from House members. Field trips such as this give CMA students experiential knowledge that makes classroom theory more meaningful and understandable.

A FINAL LOOK

As we bring this edition of Excalibur to a close, we take a final look at life around the CMA campus. Although we often complain and mutter, these are shared experiences and friendships that we will never forget. They will be with us for a lifetime. We hope that Excalibur, 1992, helps to preserve these memories and bring them closer to us in the years to come.

Highlights

The golf team had an interesting season in 1992, going 7-3 with only one returning player from last year's team. The Spartans participated in conference and state championship playoffs.

With three experienced players returning, next year looks very promising. The Spartans are also getting the services of an outstanding transfer student.

Monty Childers (shown at left) played in the number one position this year. In addition to receiving the Coach's Award, he was named Most Valuable Player.

Most Valuable Player in 1992, Hast was always in the middle of the action. Here he intercepts again, to the opposing team's dismay.

Although this was a building year for the Spartans, we posted a respectable record and look forward to the spring of 1993.

BASEBALL

Highlights

The 1992 baseball Spartans finished 7-7 overall and 7-5 in the conference. Considering that only one starter returned from last year's team, our season has to be judged successful. In spite of inconsistent play, the Spartans always gave it all they had and ended up third in the conference. Chad Lavender was named to the All-Conference Team. This year's team had only one senior on the roster. If everybody returns next year, Spartan baseballers will be strong in 1993.

"I really think that we have a lot to look forward to next year with only one senior gone off the roster."

- Coach McElvain

This time up RC Elliotte takes a big cut but foul-tips the ball off the plate. The catcher tries to anticipate the bounce.

First baseman Hartness stretches for a put-out on an accurate throw from the shortstop.

Chad Lavender puts all his muscle into this solid hit which had the distance for a home run.

Most of the tennis season was literally rained out, and half the matches were not rescheduled due to time limitations. Jason Wall had the best overall record (4-1), followed closely by Tommy Lucas (4-2).

"I'm optimistic for 1993. Most matches went to 3rd set tiebreakers, and eight of ten players should be back."

- Coach Sloan

Exhibiting a smooth forehand stroke, Tomlinson may also be making a not-too-subtle fashion statement.

Szmurlo executes a deft backhand.

Tommy Lucas racked up a fine 4-2 record this year.
