Honor in Achievement

At Camden Military Academy, we seek to mold the minds and character of our young gentlemen. It is not what we can teach them, but the principles with which we can inspire them. We hold high expectations for our cadets. This year we have seen our young men rise to unbelievable heights of performance. We have expected them to perform well and have supported them in their efforts to do well and to be better. We have provided them with large doses of English, mathematics, science, social studies and foreign language to form the core for a sound educational experience.

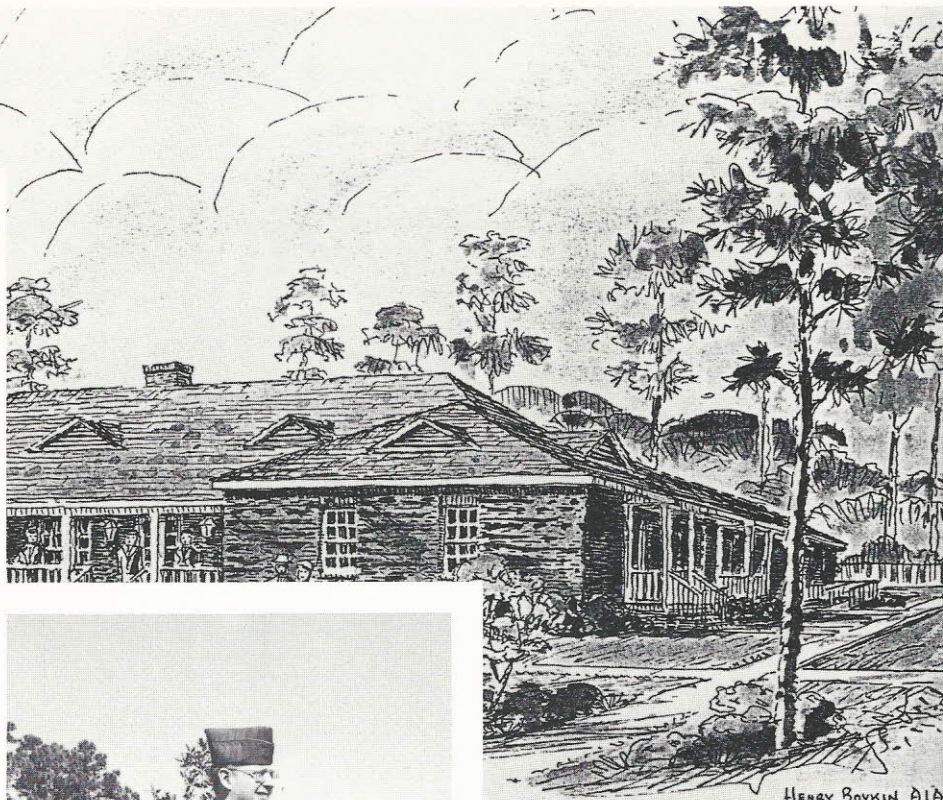

We have sought to improve this experience by increasing our standards and academic requirements. We have seen the addition of honors, advanced placement and other new courses this year. We have invigorated our institution with a stronger spirit of scholarly application and tradition. Many of our young men have accepted our challenges and have shown significant academic improvement.

We have sought to provide a safe and disciplined setting. We tend to stress character and personality development. Our small community promotes greater participation in sports and activities and a greater association with the fine men and women of our faculty. These factors and many more have given our young men a higher sense of self-esteem and greater control over their future.

We look forward to our next year, in which we will complete the construction of our administration building and renovation and improvements in our classrooms and barracks. We see the addition of more elective offerings. We see a stronger sense of personal development for our young men. We see a sense of cadet involvement and participation in our programs to the extent that each young man accepts responsibility for his own conduct and progress. We seek to help our young men understand the need for personal and professional excellence that are a part of men of character.

Thomas Jefferson remarked, "God grant that men of principle shall be our principal men." We pray that by our good works and example, our cadets, too, shall become men of principle.

Cadet Honor

A cadet is a student first; but beyond that, he is a gentleman with all the obligations appertaining. He considers honesty, courtesy, and charity among the highest of virtues. He seeks to appraise himself honestly and to remedy his shortcomings. He deplores cheating in any form. He is respectful and careful towards the property of others and employs reasonable safeguards in preserving his own. He cheerfully follows the rules of common courtesy, frequently putting others before himself. He is charitable towards those less fortunate and freely shares his time and talents with other persons, his community, his state, and his nation.

C A D E T L I F E

As always, CMA cadets and their dates really get into the music during the first dance of the year.

On the Road

On January 16, forty CMA cadets went to Ft. Jackson to participate in ceremonies commemorating Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday. After attending formal services, the cadets had lunch at the NCO Club in the company of Major General William J. Bolt (center), Commander, US Army Training Center and Ft. Jackson, S.C.

As usual, CMA cadets appeared at many different places during the school term. Number one on this years list of destinations was Ft. Jackson, with three visits. LET students also made a trip to the Revolutionary War battle site at Kings Mountain. A local jaunt took 1995's Honor Company to participate in Veterans Day formalities in Camden.

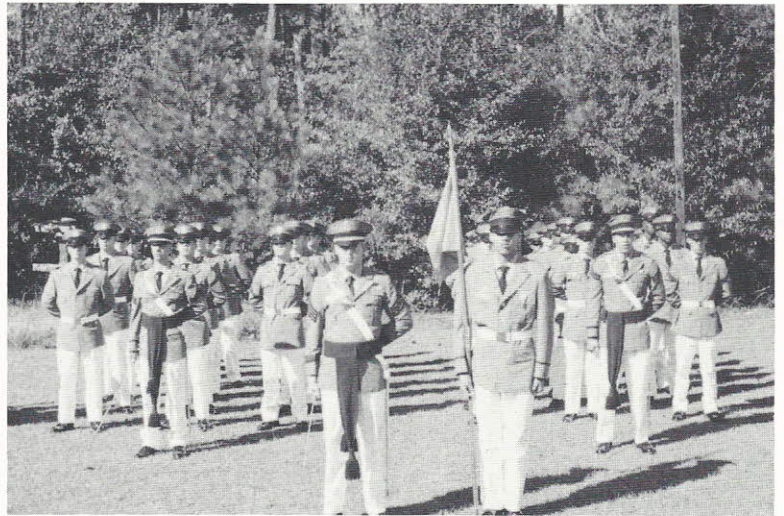

Larkin, Judkins, Key, Newberry, Paparone, Cloudt, and Essey check out a military vehicle at Ft. Jackson.

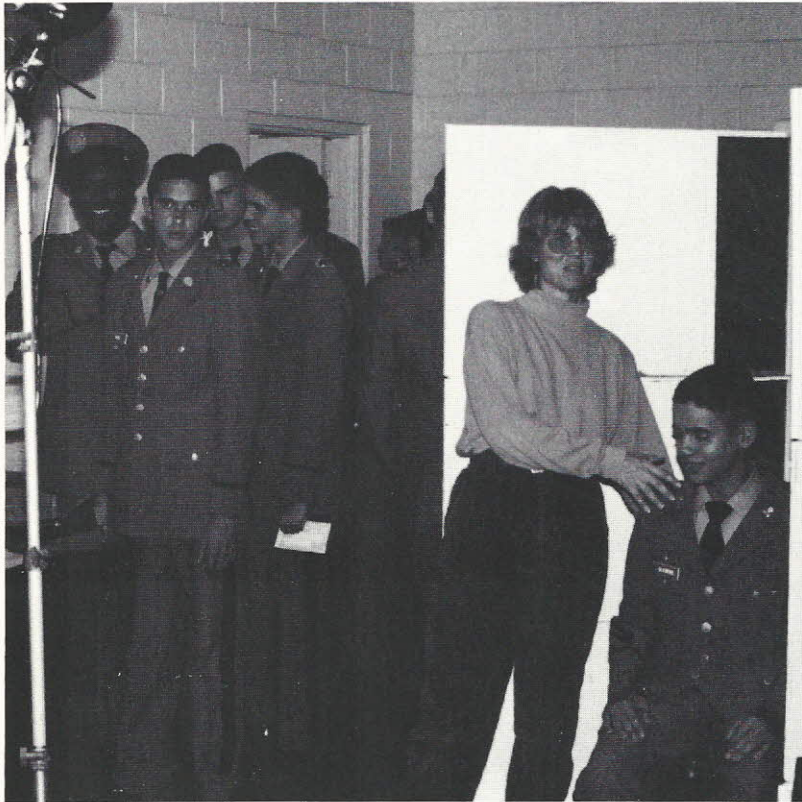

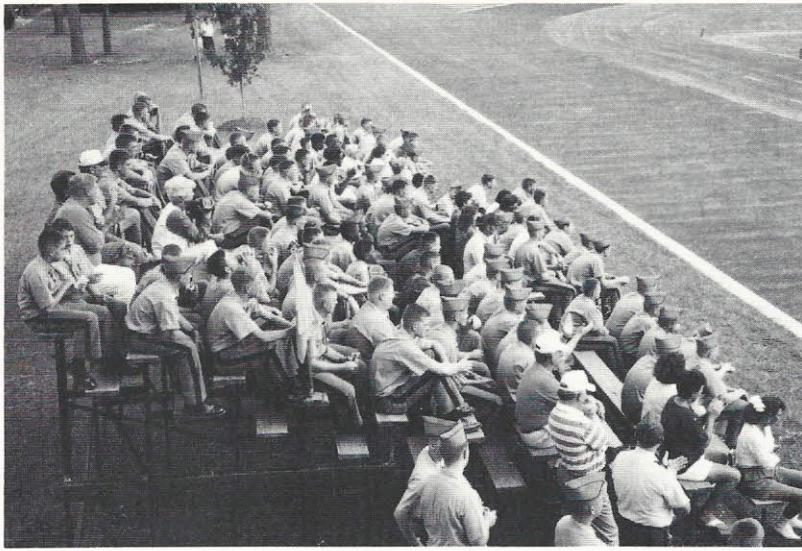

Chambers, Bohlander, Valdez, and Curry carry Pollard in the litter race during physical fitness competition at Ft. Jackson.

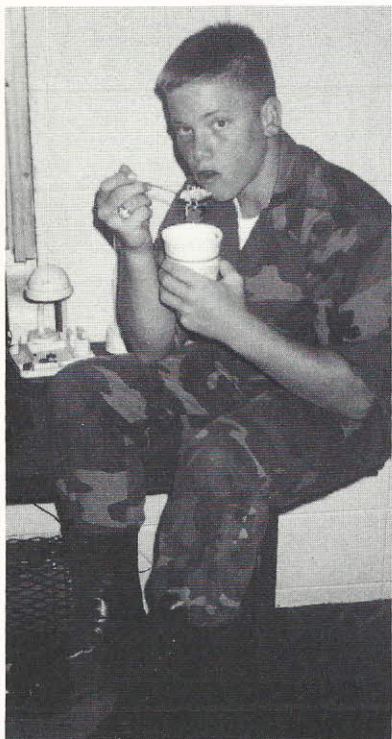

Senior students Newberry and Uehling look back as they make their way toward the monument at Kings Mountain.

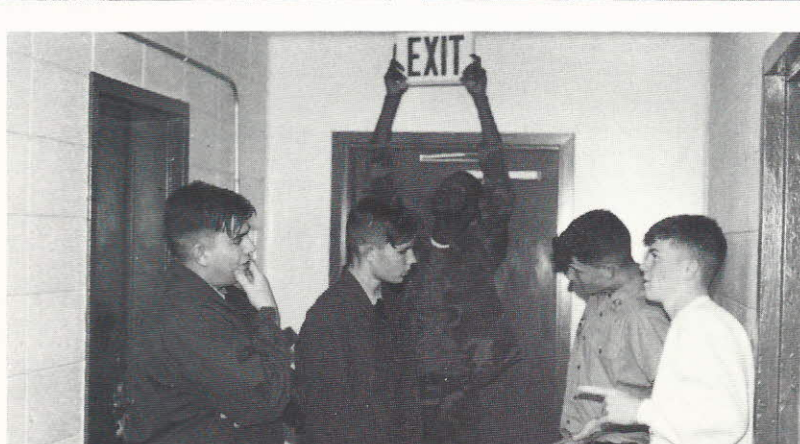

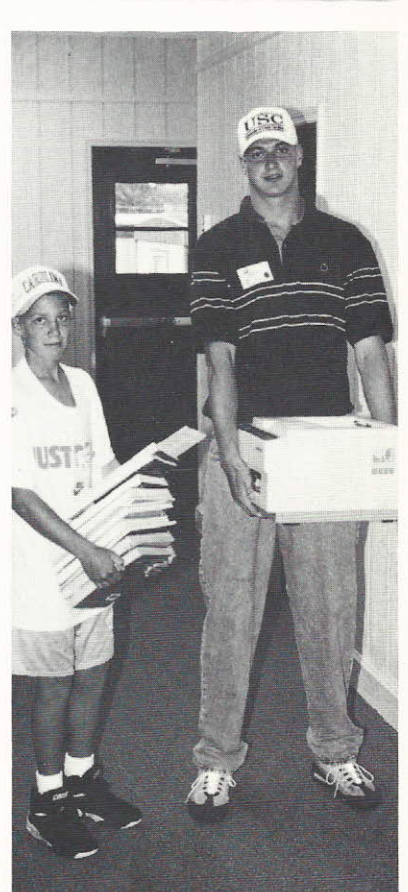

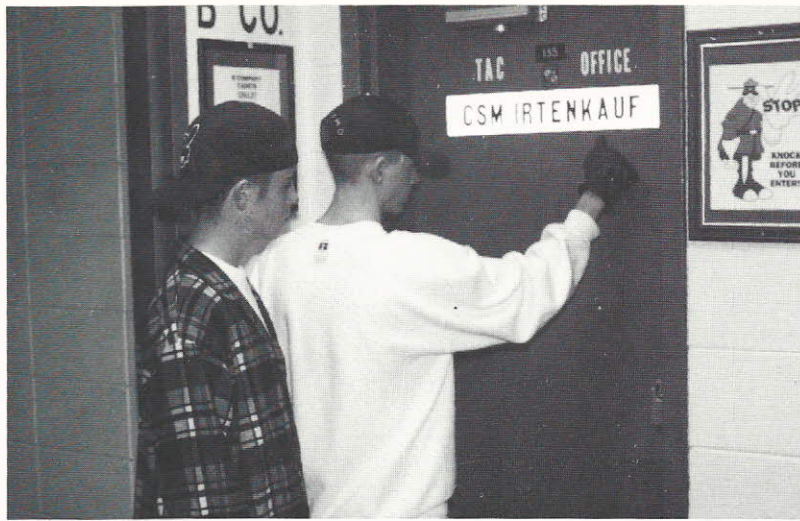

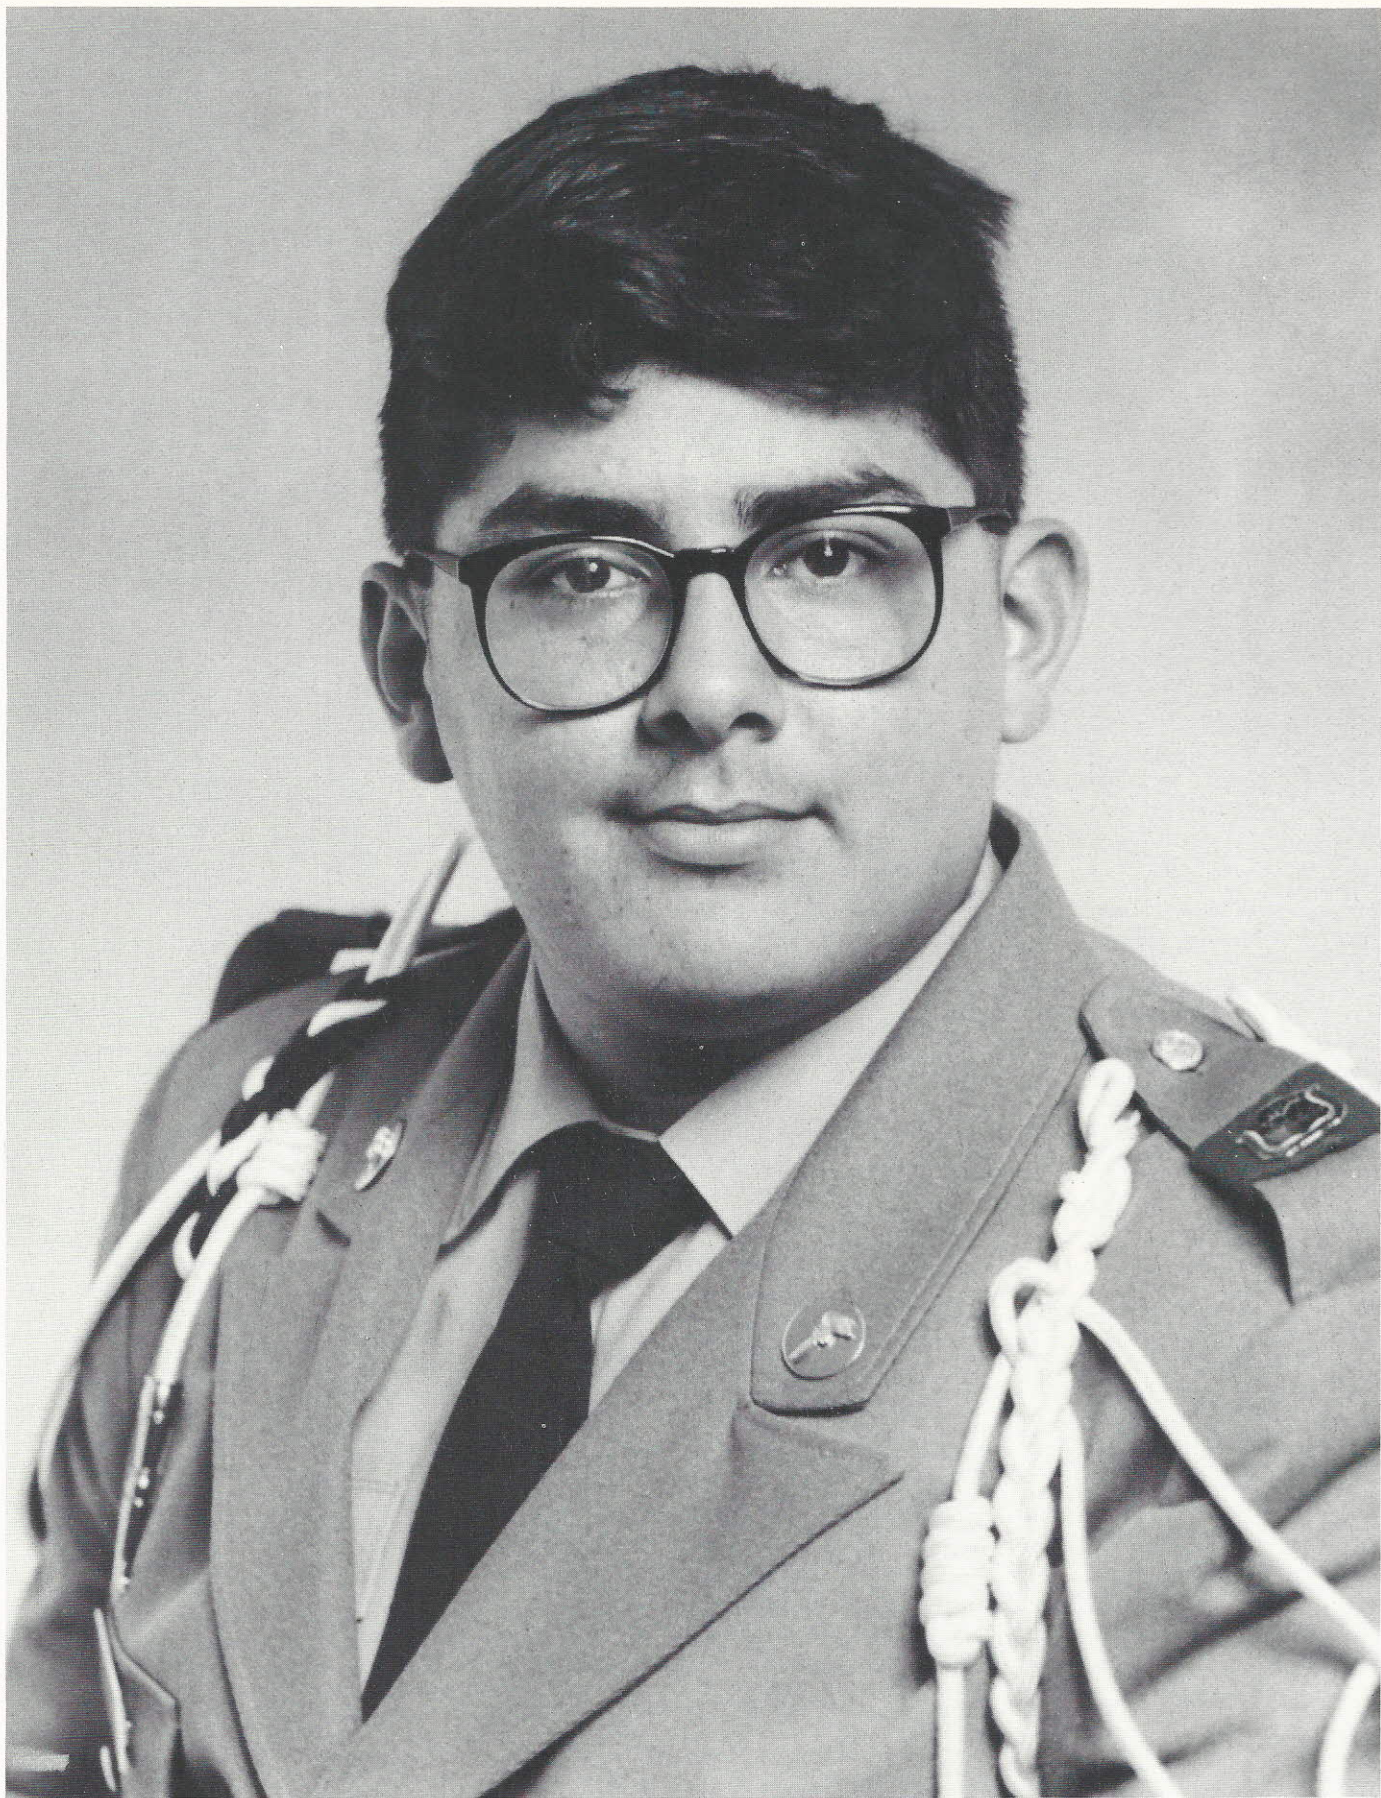

Fronted by Company Commander Matt Judkins, C Company—Honor Company of 1995—represented CMA in Veterans Day ceremonies at the Camden American Legion Post.

Jonathan Cooper

In Memoriam

June 5, 1977 — July 27, 1995

In July we lost our friend Jonathan Cooper. He had been with us since the eighth grade and would have been a senior this year.

Jonathan was Cherokee and proud of his heritage. On the wall of his room in B Company, he prominently displayed Cherokee art and poetry.

Jonathan was quiet, but once engaged in conversation, he could easily hold his own. He especially liked to talk about his home and his family.

Jonathan was generous. He was quick to lend or give his possessions. Although he enjoyed material things himself, he seemed to derive greater pleasure from sharing them with others.

Jonathan was a strong athlete, lettering in both tennis and football. He started as offensive tackle on two Spartan conference championship teams. He won the Coach's Award for outstanding performance in 1994.

Jonathan was hard working and persistent. He was always the first player to show up for football practice. As a cadet, he held the rank of master sergeant and commanded the Cannon Detail. He was an Eagle Scout and served actively in his church.

Jonathan was a loyal friend and inspired loyalty in others. We miss him, and we will always preserve his place and memory at Camden Military Academy.

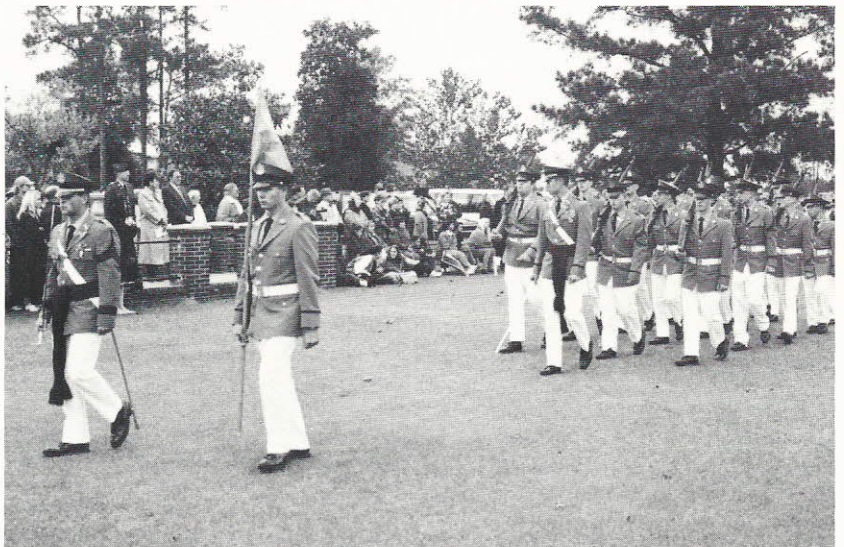

The Cannon Detail: Cadets Cole, Treska, and Jonathan Cooper, Commander.

Jonathan's memorial review was held in November. On the reviewing stand with Colonel William K. Orris, headmaster, Mr. & Mrs. James A. Cooper, Jonathan's parents, receive a sword, Jonathan's football jersey, and a shadow box containing his awards and honors — presented by the Corps of Cadets.

“Our dead never forget this beautiful earth, for it is our mother. We are part of the earth, and it is part of us. The perfumed flowers are our sisters; the deer, the horse, the great eagle, these are our brothers. This shining water that moves in the streams and rivers is not just water, but the blood of our ancestors. The water's murmur is the voice of my father's father. This land is sacred to us.”

from “How Can You Buy or Sell the Sky?”
—Chief Seattle

Led by CPT Jeff Key, Jonathan's Company B pay respects to their comrade.

Honor among People

“Honor and truth and manhood—
These are the things that stand,
Though the sneer and jibe of the cynic tribe
Are loud through the width of the land,
But a lie, whatever the guise it wears
Is a lie as it was of yore,
And a truth that has lasted a million years
Is good for a million more.”

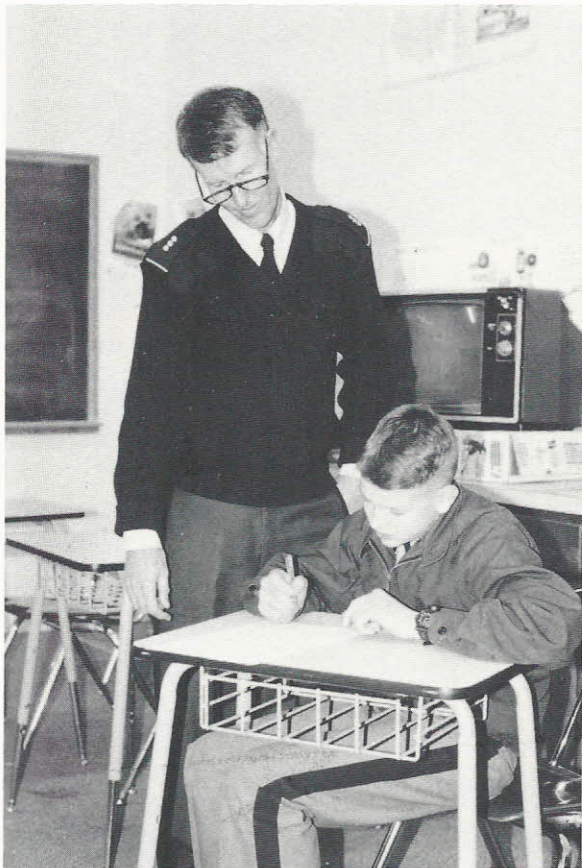

from “Things That Last”
Ted Olson 1912

Risher, Headmaster Emeritus, David Johnson, (right) Banks Scarborough, Board Chairman, Dwight Holder, Joe Gamble, James Holloway, Mayson Callaway, Ray Hobby, and Sibby Wood (not shown).

New on the faculty second semester was CPT Charles Boulware, math and science instructor and JV basketball coach. He received his AB from Wofford and his MAT from USC. Here, he is helping eighth grader Alex Servy with a problem.

Military Honor

With a hundred years of Camden-Carlisle tradition behind it, Camden Military Academy marches at the fore among secondary military schools. We are proud of our past. For over twenty years the JROTC Unit has been accorded the designation "Honor Unit with Distinction." We look forward to our future and will always remain committed to the basic values of honor, duty, and service to family, state, and nation. Military training is a valuable complement to the classroom, instilling discipline, order, teamwork, and self-respect. It is the ingredient that completes the molding of the whole man.

The Military Mission

The mission of CMA's Department of Tactics is to develop within the Corps those qualities and attributes of leadership with emphasis on duty, integrity, morality, and self-discipline. Through the use of a strict military regimen, cadets develop a deep sense of duty and obligation that motivates them and teaches them the responsibility necessary to meet future challenges. The process of developing a sense of duty comes from creating an environment that makes it clear to cadets what is expected of them, fosters progressive growth and maturity, and exposes them to role models who demonstrate exemplary and mature commitment. Our goal is to build better Americans and in the process create a nurturing environment in which all cadets can grow and develop into outstanding young men.

CMA Honors Major Gale

On October 15, 1995, Camden Military Academy honored Major Burton Gale, retiring English instructor, with a parade and a reception. As tokens of their appreciation, the Cadet Corps presented to Mrs. Gale a bouquet of flowers and to Major Gale a picture of the battalion; but these symbols of recognition bespoke only in small measure the high esteem in which Major Gale is held by his former students, their parents, his faculty colleagues, and all those who served with him during his twenty-three year tenure at CMA.

To his students he was an inspirational teacher — alternately a martinet and an understanding friend — who always demanded of them their best. In his well-ordered but lively classes, he created an atmosphere in which his students wanted to learn. He sought to instill in them an appreciation for the English language and a commitment to use it effectively.

To parents he was that special kind of teacher who could bring out the best in their sons and provide them a formula for success.

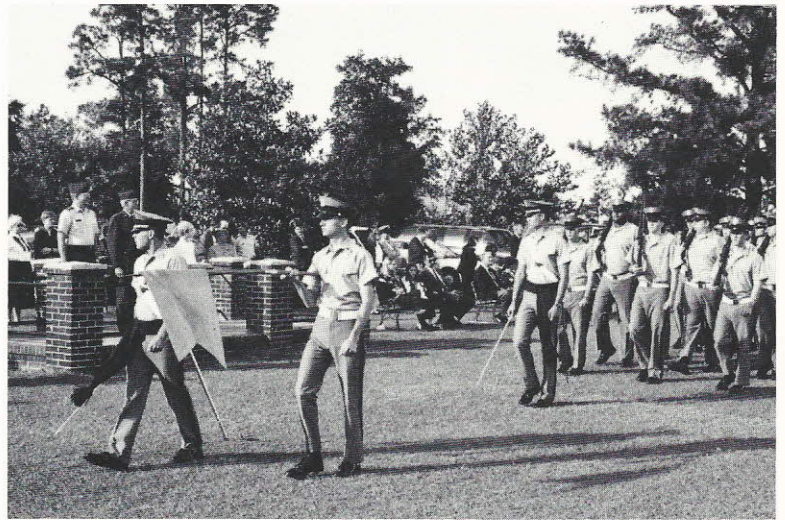

To his colleagues he was a competent and caring professional who enjoyed unusual success in the classroom — a model worthy of emulation.

To college professors who inherited his students, he was a teacher who prepared his pupils well to meet the greater challenge of college-level studies.

Although Major Gale is no longer in the classroom, the high standards he set for his students and the quality of his personal contributions to their achievement form an enduring strand in the fabric of CMA tradition.

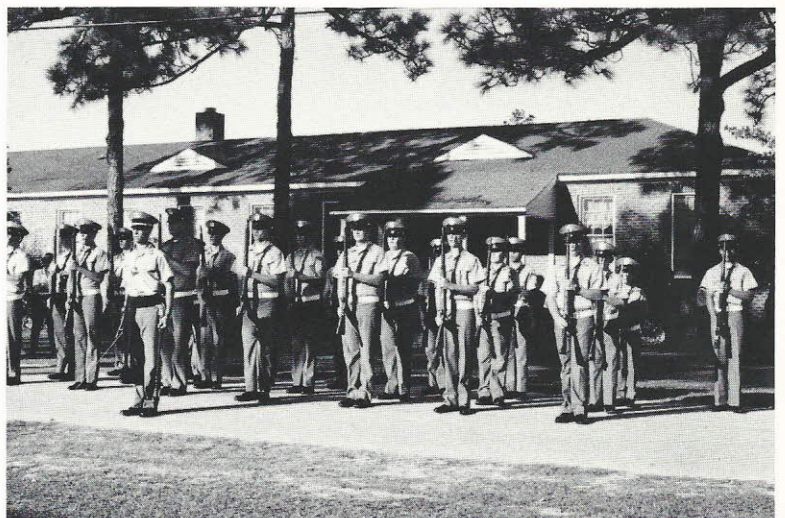

Major Gale and Colonel Orris prepare to troop the line the traditional CMA manner.

A Company

A New Spirit

Led by CPT Larkin, 1LT Uehling, and 2LT's Mathias and Lynn, Alpha Company jumped off to a quick start in 1995. Demonstrating their positive motivation and their hard work, A Company won the first parade of the year. The newly renovated barracks has brought out the brighter and more spirited side of all cadets in the company.

But military success is not all that Alpha can point to with pride. Studies have been a top priority as well. The consistently high study hall ratings and the outstanding academic achievements earned by the cadets show the dedication that is present in all who call Alpha "home."

A new spirit, dedication, and hard work are Alpha's hallmarks. With the insightful advice and able assistance of LTC Paul Cook, the cadet officers and NCO's are leading the company to another successful and memorable year.

B Company

Battlin' Bravo

Although Bravo Company has undergone some changes in command this year, its goals remain the same: to encourage academic excellence, to participate in extracurricular activities, and to excel in all aspects of the military program in order to create the true "Camden Military Experience."

In the words of CPT Jeff Key, company commander, "The company runs much more smoothly now, a condition for which we can thank the leadership of CSM Irtenkauf and the capable chain of command — Key, Manley, Moore, Latham, Essey, McGill, and Middleton. We are learning to pull together instead of against each other."

Bravo's Company's togetherness has produced some impressive results. The company has won three out of five inspections and has claimed victory in three dress parades. This year has signified positive changes in attitudes and accomplishments.

C Company

Honor and Pride

Being CMA Honor Company three years in a row creates pride in the ranks, and according to CPT Matt Judkins, CO, "We're in the running again. We take drill seriously. CMS Martain makes certain we do."

Pride extends to other areas too. 1LT Mike Paporone, XO, stresses the importance of grades: "We do extra things to keep grades up, such as assigning extra duties if a cadet skips tutorials or misbehaves in class."

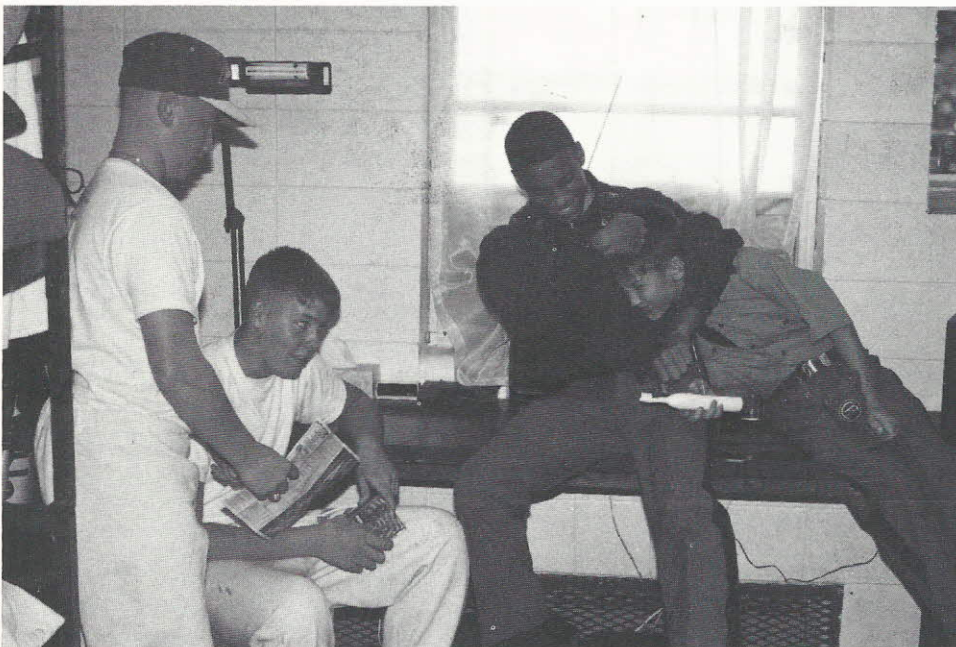

Cleanliness is another focus. "We keep everything clean," says 2LT Landon Simmons, "the hall, rooms, and the latrine. Pride and frequent inspections are the key."

2LT Sam Lisi cites the positive influence on younger cadets: "Most cadets in Charlie seem motivated to do well, and this creates a good environment for the large number of seventh and eighth graders that we have."

Honor and pride go a long way. C Company has already represented CMA in the Veterans Day Parade and looks forward to other events.

Band & Staff Company

A New Look

Band Company (as it was known formerly) has made a major change this year. Through an important organizational shift, the company is now known as Band and Staff. In the past, staff has been given little recognition; but under the leadership of CPT Benji Newberry, CO, 2LT Todd Masi, 2LT Andy Black, and 1SGT Ken Cloudt, staff is now getting the attention it deserves.

“Much credit is due Major Ron ‘Stand by’ Horn, our new tac officer,” says CPT Newberry. “His new ideas and leadership have helped this company greatly.”

Company officers are confident that when the seniors leave this year, there will remain a core of strong leadership to keep Band and Staff headed in the right direction. “We have been through many positive changes this year,” CPT Newberry observes, “and people are proud to be in Band and Staff. The company has the potential to be even better next year.”

Staff: Guidon JL Zlata, 2LT AK Black, 2LT Todd Masi, MAJ Ronald P. Horn, CPT MB Newberry, 1SGT Ken Cloudt.

Honor in Sports

Sports celebrate the human body and temper the human spirit. The fight to the death in the woodland green has been taken to the playing field, where rules of honor prevail. We play hard, but we play fair. When we win, we do not gloat and strut, belittling our foe. We congratulate him for his hard play and sportsmanship. When we lose, we do not slink sullenly from the field. We salute our opponent for testing our strength, and we rise to fight again another day.

John Davis shows excellent form and concentration as he leaps high to launch his jump shot.

In addition to his All-Conference and All-State honors this season, Lynard Gardner received recognition as the Kershaw County Player of the Year.

With the opposing team in disarray, Sweatman, Branch, and Teasley celebrate a CMA goal. Branch made the score.

Varsity Football

"Starting ten seniors and one junior, we figured to have a good season this year," said Coach Boland, "and we did — it was our best ever." The Spartans won the CAA Conference title by going 8-1 in the regular season, losing only to Northside in a driving rain — a game they should have won. Their only other loss was to perennial power Ravenscroft in the state playoffs.

Directing a Spartan offensive attack that averaged 32 points an outing was three-year starting QB Josh Pressley, who completed over 50% of his attempts. The top gun was tailback Lynard Gardner with over 1,100 yards rushing. Fullback Jeff Key, an outstanding blocker, added 600. Flanker John Creech had 500 yards receiving; 300, rushing. Tight ends Clint Pressley and David Moore added offensive punch. Sparking the offensive line was pulling guard Mike Uehling.

A tough Spartan defense held their opponents to only 14 points an outing. Making the big plays were Clint Pressley, Mike Uehling, and Jimmy Pollard. Lone starting junior Chad Mackerson also made important contributions.

Post-season honors attest the caliber of the 1995 Spartans: All-State 1st Team — C Pressley; 2nd, Gardner, Uehling, Creech, J Pressley. All-Conference 1st Team — Gardner, Uehling, C Pressley, J Pressley, Creech; 2nd, Pollard, Key, Mackerson.

All-State defender Clint Pressley makes an impressive flying tackle.

MVP Lynard Gardner springs loose around left end. He gained over 3,000 yards in his CMA career.

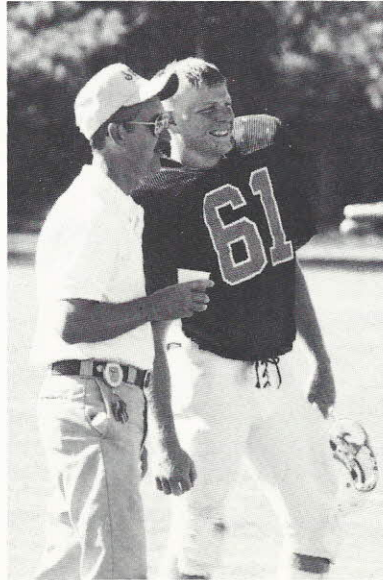

Flanker John Creech finds a hole, and Mike Uehling comes in to make certain he gets through.

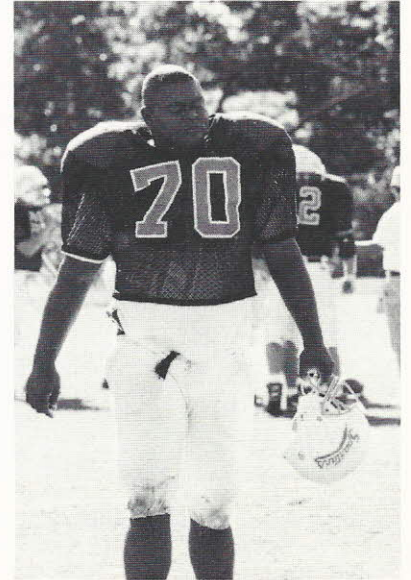

Quarterback Josh Pressley sets up to fling a long missile. Fullback Jeff Key protects.

Coaches Boland, Rice, Roberts, and Mobley shout encouragement from the sidelines.

Coach Mobley talks matters over with Most Valuable Offensive Lineman, Mike Uehling.

Brian Oglesby was an enormous presence on both offense and defense this season.

Averting a certain touchdown, John Creech makes a perfect open-field tackle.

Casey Tart, Best Mid-Fielder, has his shot on the way.

Coaches Ferjani and Young survey the action on the field. The resting players are Judkins, Simmons, Horton, Sniffen, Tart, and Wood.

Despite a 4-11 record, the Spartans gained valuable experience in their second CAA season. Injuries to key players — co-captain Gordon Small and MVP Kyle Wood — helped to shape the outcome. The high point was handing the #1 ranked NC team, Southside Christian, its only defeat. Top scorers were Kyle Wood, 11 goals; Landon Simmons, 7; and Mike Uehling, 6. Awards went to Kyle Wood, MVP; goalkeeper Benji Newberry, Best Defensive Player; Justin Wilson, Coach's Award; Casey Tart, Best Mid-Fielder; and Ben Sweatman, MIP. Mike Uehling was named to the All-Conference 1st Team; Kyle Wood, the 2nd. Seniors Casey Tart and Gordon Small served as co-captains.

JV Football

The 1995 JV Football Team started off the season on a winning note by defeating Heathwood Hall 16-0. This turned out to be the lone victory as the junior Spartans ended up the season with a 1 and 5 record.

The individual effort of each player was outstanding, and the team played hard in every game with several of the losses coming in the closing minutes.

Special award winners for the JV Spartans this season were James Wasgatt, Coach's Award; Delano Draine, Most Valuable Offensive Player; and Mike Valdez, Most Valuable Defensive Player.

JR HI Football

The Junior High Football Team learned quickly and gained valuable experience this season, finishing with a 2-2 record. Leading rusher Matt Thompson had several 100 yard games, featuring a 188 yard romp against Cardinal Newman. He also ran back two kickoffs for touchdowns. Mike Unser provided great leadership at QB, and Laniye Edwards made key receptions. Bauer, Blumer, and Crawford added offensive punch. Leading the defense was linebacker and #1 tackler DB Taylor. Workman, Richardson, Burr, and Lubich turned in strong performances on the defensive line. Special teams standouts included Salley, Jackson, MacGregor, C Edwards, Frank, I Williams, TJ Smith, and Bucher.

Cross-country

Harry Bohlander shows his winning form. He was this year's MVP and made the All-Conference second team.

Coach's Award winner, Jason Klinowski, was a steady performer this season.

In 1995 the Cross-country team turned in its best performance in many years. The Spartans competed in six meets and finished fourth in the CAA Conference among a field of seventeen. Building on his success in 1994, Harry Bohlander ranked among the top ten runners in the CAA in 1995 and was named to the All-Conference second team. The season ended on a strong note with a victory over Chesterfield High. Winning honors this season were Harry Bohlander, MVP; Adger Brown, MIP; Brad Blazec and Jason Klinowski, Coach's Award.

Adger Brown's hard work this year earned him the Most Improved designation.

Co-winner of the Coach's Award, Brad Blazec helped his team to its best finish in many years.

Varsity Basketball

The varsity basketball team opened the season with a 72-55 win over Buford High School in the Great Falls Invitational. After that opening win, the Spartans struggled a bit and managed a 3-3 record at the Christmas break. After the break the team started to gel, and they posted a string of victories in January and February to finish with a 15-2 conference record and a 20-5 overall tally. The Spartans won the regular season conference title once again, and then they ran off three consecutive victories in the conference tournament to take the CAA Tournament Championship.

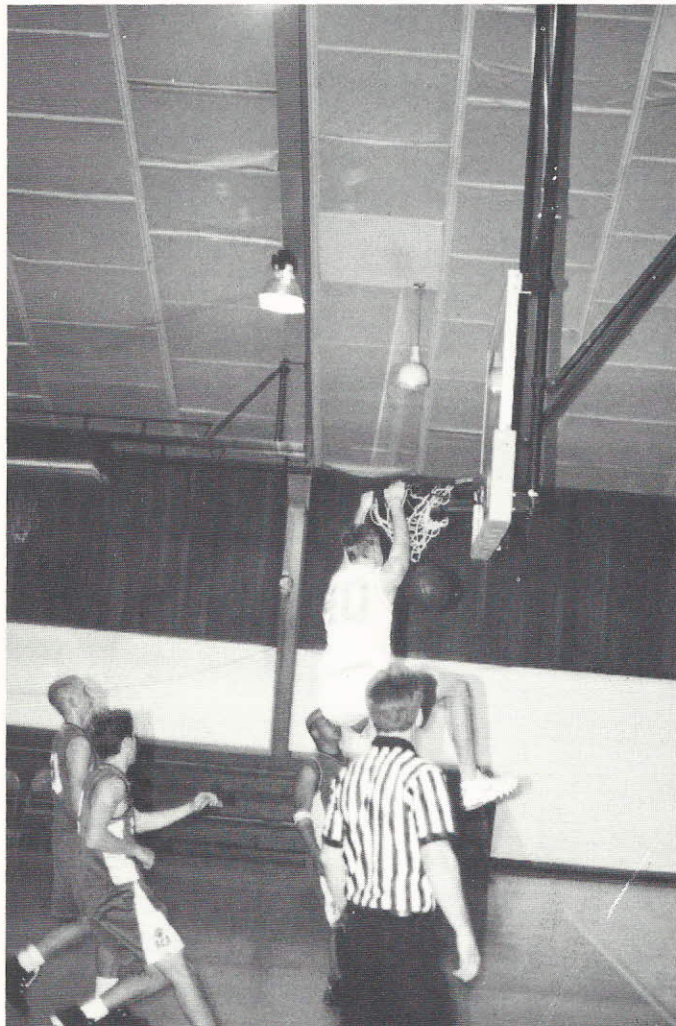

When reflecting on the past season, Coach Boland had these comments: "We started slow due to a lot of factors — the football team being in the state play-offs, a bout with the flu, and our new players getting used to each other. But as the season progressed we got better and better. The championship game in the tournament was probably our best game of the season. I said all along that to be a champion you have to play well in February, not December. We worked hard and improved as the season went along."

Three members of the Spartan team earned All-Conference honors: John Davis, Brooks Manley, and Mari Boyce. Brandon Garrett, Jimmy Pollard, and Kyle Wood also played big parts in helping the Spartans to the conference championship title.

Jimmy Pollard launches a perimeter jump shot over the opposing player.

Brandon Garrett grabs the rim for balance after slamming through one of his many dunks this season.

Leaping high, John Davis puts up a jumper from three-point range.

Mari Boyce skies to guide his shot over the rim.

Streaking guard Brooks Manley fires off a layup in full stride.

Kyle Wood lofts a soft jumper from close in.

JV Basketball

In battling to a 50/50 season in '96, the Spartan JV Basketball Team lost some heartbreakers, two games by 1 point and two others by 2. But they finished strong, winning four out of their last five outings. "Coach Boulware came on board after our first game loss," said Coach Mark Sims. "His experience really helped. We put our ideas together and brought some balance to the team."

An effective mix of individual assets brought late season success to the Spartans: Gibson on offense, Chambers and Draine on defense, and Anderson with his rebounding, shotblocking, and inside game. Phillips, Williams, Bauer, and all the other players also made important contributions.

Coaches Sims and Boulware salute the team for their strong effort, sportsmanship, respect, and hard work in making the '96 season a great experience for all.

Wrestling

Lynn applies a cradle, preparing to roll his man over.

Boyd employs nearly perfect technique to pin his opponent.

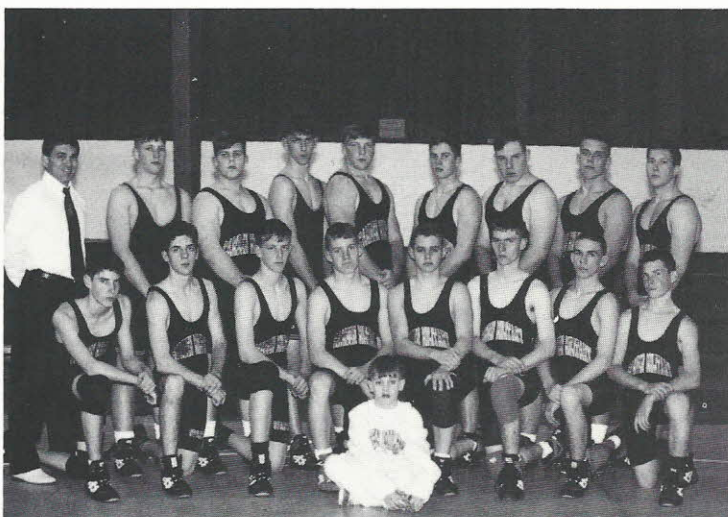

Uehling uses hip pressure to control his man. Mike was State Champion in 1994 at 189 pounds and repeated this year at 215.

All 17 members of this year's Spartan Wrestling Team made solid contributions. Highlights included home wins against Hammond, Charlotte Christian, and a respectable 4th place finish at the Carolina Showdown Tournament in Greenville, SC. John Creech and Mike Uehling were champions and posted undefeated season records. John also placed 4th at this year's state tournament, and Mike was state champion at 215 pounds.

Entering the showdown with a 4-2 record, the young squad — 9 of the 13 members were first year wrestlers — beat out such teams as Asheville School, Christ Church, Landrum, and Charlotte Christian.

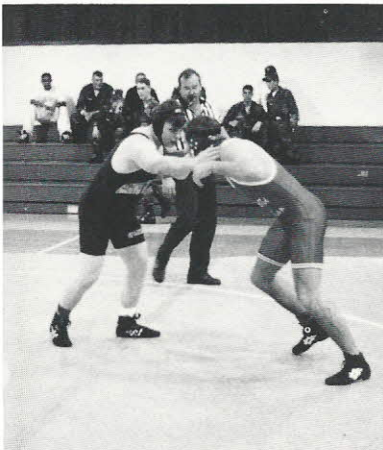

We were proud of the many positive comments made by other team's wrestlers and their parents regarding the sportsmanship and gentlemanly demeanor of our wrestlers.

Next year we hope to build on this year's experience and hard effort, striving toward a state championship.

Academic Honor

A young man's necessary and designated role in society is to be a student. He must be armed with knowledge to succeed in a competitive world. If he performs this role with honor, he strives to do his best—learning study skills, adopting productive study habits, and applying himself assiduously. Moreover, he values honesty and truth in his academic pursuits. He presents to his teachers only work that is truly his and gives proper credit to those whose ideas and information he uses. He looks contemptuously upon cheaters. For his honorable effort he enjoys the favor, plaudits, and social advancement that academic achievement brings.

LTC Kelly R. Schrader has served at CMA for sixteen years. For the last ten years, he has been Academic Dean. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of South Carolina.

CPT Walker, Latin and English instructor, has much to keep him busy long after the final class bell has sounded.

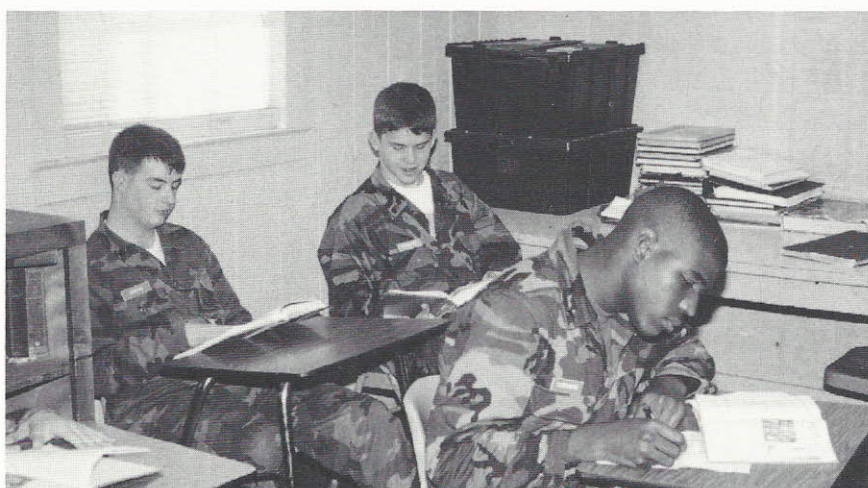

CL Edwards, JD Glover, MV Thompson, BS Fisk, and WD Gray spend a productive afternoon in he computer lab after classes.

LTC Watson, history, and MAJ Sloan, English, assist David Frank and his father with fall term enrollment.

Focus on Academics

MAJ LePage gives pre-launch instructions to Hersch, Uehling, Gardner, Tart, and other seniors at the annual rocket firing.

Juniors Blackmore, Engler, and Crawford ponder the intricacies of English grammar.

At Halloween, chemistry students Blalock and Oglesby demonstrate that natural phenomena can be just as interesting as goblins.

At Christmas, physics student Casey Tart shows the effect of torque to Dingee, Blackmon, and others present in the AV Room.

Mrs. Greene, English instructor, conducts a lesson in vocabulary.

Cadet WD Gray won an award for poetry in the Camden Poets Society competition.

Past,

Present,

and Future

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow are concerns for us all. As adults we learn from our experience; we do our best each day; and we look forward to tomorrow as an opportunity.

Every cadet who has come to CMA has had his own unique past experiences, which have shaped his preparation for school. Cadets live in the present, expecting each day to be full and worthwhile. Every cadet has a vision of what the future holds for him.

The fresh start afforded many incoming cadets and the focus of studies and barracks life on preparation for the future are the shared strength of the cadets and faculty. Education is much more than schooling; it is the total of yesterday, today, and tomorrow. The shared experiences of faculty and cadets provide an extraordinary educational setting which we all grow to appreciate as we look back.

On Educational Opportunity Day, Horner, Lisi, Moore, Yovanovic, and Klinowski make the rounds to get information on various colleges.

CMA Cadets Visit Governor of Georgia

Invitations from state governors do not usually happen by chance, nor did this one. CMA Cadet Justin Miller is the grandson of Georgia's Governor Zell Miller, who graciously invited Justin and his seventh grade classmates for an overnight stay in the Governor's Mansion on December 12.

The visit began with a tour of the Georgia Capitol, where the cadets met Governor Miller in his office. Next, they went to the World of Coke, where they joined Mrs. Shirley Miller, Georgia's First Lady, for a look into the past, present, and future of Coca Cola.

Following a pizza supper at the mansion that evening, the Governor's bodyguards drove Mrs. Miller and the cadets to a movie theater. They soon realized that they were the only patrons present. The entire facility had been reserved exclusively for them. After watching Ace Ventura: Nature Calls, they returned to the mansion and retired for the evening.

The next morning, the cadets awoke to a delicious breakfast. Then Mrs. Miller showed them around the mansion and its grounds. They completed their Georgia experience when Mrs. Miller accompanied them to the Atlanta Zoo, where they were given a personal tour by the zoo director and his assistant.

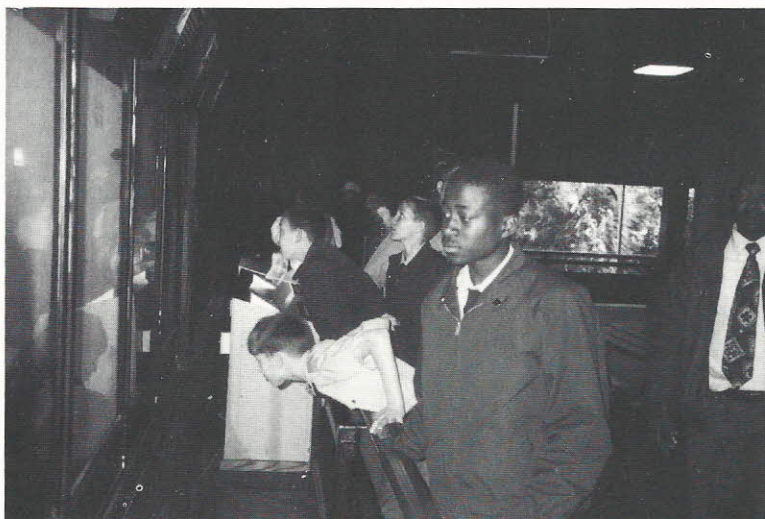

Before returning to CMA, MAJ Mobley, Mr. Sims (chaperones), and the cadets thanked their gracious hosts for a very enjoyable and educational experience that everyone will long remember.

Over the years, Georgia's chief executive has been housed in several locations. Shown here is a wing of the present mansion, which was built in 1975.

On the winding stairway in the mansion are TJ Smith, WR Jordan, S Benjamin, CL Edwards, JA Irtenkauf, RH Salley, AJ MacGregor, and CG Young.

Even at a young age, you wanted to be a Citadel cadet.

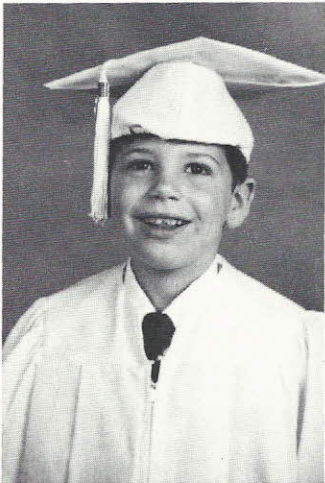

"Pleaseee . . . Mr. Coach, put me in the goal. I know I can do it — I know I can do it — I know I can do it. Mr. Coach, pleaseee, pleasee!"

Ben, remembering the first day we visited Camden and a young cadet gave us a tour of the campus, I kept thinking, maybe this could be my son one day. Ben, you have become that and much, much more. We are so proud of you and what you have accomplished. You are a young man with goals and visions for your life. Hold on to those dreams — they are yours — they will become a reality — you can make it happen. You are a real "joy" to have as a son. We look forward to your years ahead at The Citadel.

CADET CPT. CHARLES MATTHEW AMODEO Battalion Executive Officer

Son, Hank and I realize that you were born with a personality of your own. That a progression was set in motion for your development as a separate individual, so that almost from the beginning we made preparation and plans for you to grow apart from us and become your own person. The problem was, we didn't prepare ourselves to let you go. We had to realize that we are never really alone or separated in our thoughts from you. We are forever connected to you and to all those who touch our lives. We had to know that you have a right to suffer, and that only through this process could you possibly become all you can be.

We have watched you grow, probably more than you know. We have seen the anguish and torment you experienced during times when you made hard choices between doing the "popular thing" and upholding the tradition of the Academy. We have grieved for you as you suffered disappointments when some of your friends and peers didn't share your beliefs and strong commitments. Yes, we have seen you love your friends, peers, and all the cadets. You loved them enough to stand tall, being ever faithful to yourself and your unwavering belief in what the cadets could accomplish and who they could be. Son, only great men and leaders have this strength. They call it courage, leadership, character, and integrity!

During the same period of time we have watched you make mistakes, stumble, fall and get back up again. We are thankful for the support, strength and true friendship of the Cadets, who embrace the Academy Code of Honor, that were always there to lift your spirits and help stay your direction.

We bask in the joys, good times, and successes you and our adopted Corp. of Cadets have experienced. Being equally proud of each. The emotions you have experienced will strengthen and fortify you in a way that will enable you to face life's tougher trials and tribulations, giving you the ability to make the right decisions.

Son, you have mastered being the best "you" you can be, and we are immensely proud of you! The blunders made you wiser, the falters made you more stable, and the floundering helped you find purpose.

The almost despair, sorrow, and anguish you suffered at times, combined with the joys, pleasures, and satisfactions you experienced, resulted in the self-confident, well-rounded young man we proudly call our son.

Love, Mom and Hank

Thank You Camden Military Academy!

I would like to share with you a few of my thoughts about my personal experiences at Camden Military Academy. To be honest, in the beginning it was hard to think of being away from home and in a different environment with people I didn't know. The idea of such a different routine and lifestyle was scary!

My parents allowed me the freedom to catch the train and visit the campus on my own the first time. Mr. McCaskill met me at the station and gave me a tour of the campus, where I met several of the staff and quite a few of the cadets. They welcomed me and made me feel comfortable and by day's end, most of my concerns had diminished.

After enrolling I found the schedule was full time, the rules were strict - but fair, and the staff eager to help whenever necessary. With the help of the staff and other cadets, the adjustments I had to make became easier.

I've learned a lot these past four years: how to study and make good use of my time, how to respect others, and how to follow orders and accept responsibility.

My Camden Military Academy experience has brought order and purpose to my life. I'm confident I have a good basic education; well prepared to enter the college of my choice.

The Academy Code of Honor has joined me in a very special bond with the Cadets I've served with. I will treasure my friendships and memories of each of them and the Academy as long as I live.

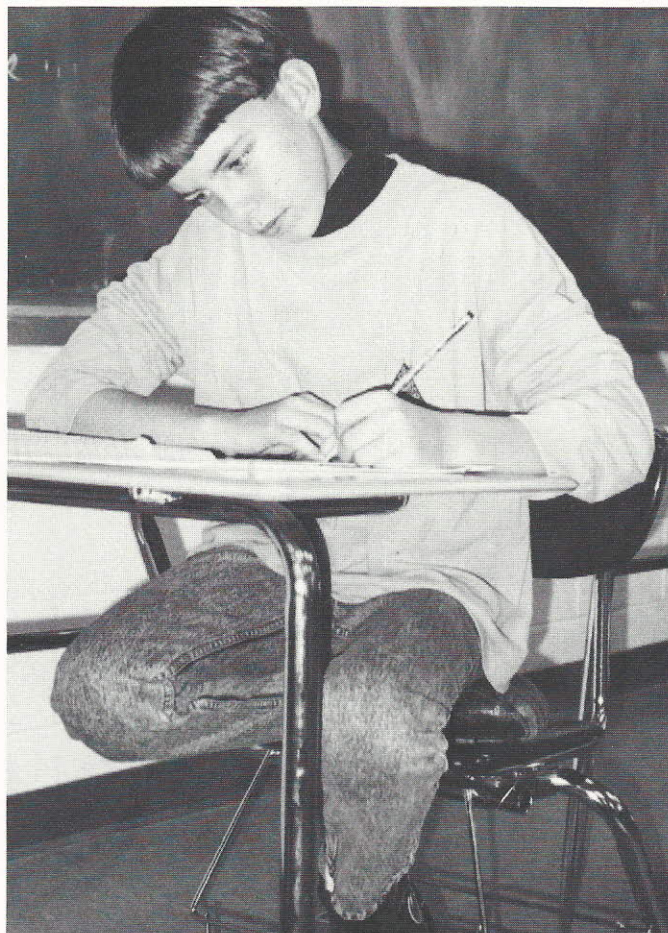

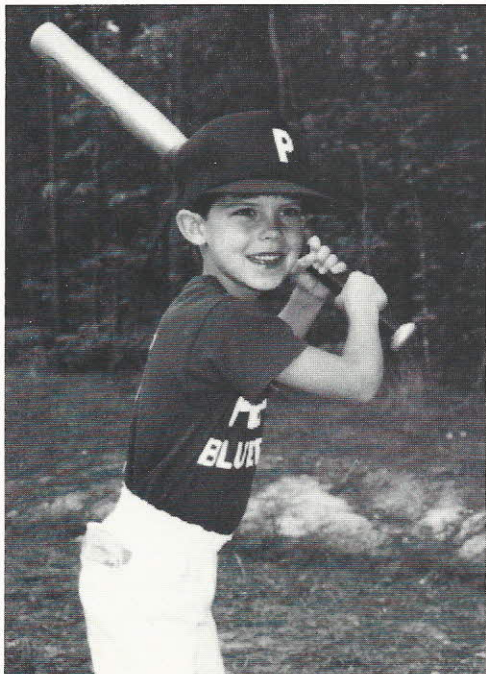

I'm thankful to all of those at the Academy who have helped me; especially, LTC and Mrs. Austin, Major LePage, C SM Martain, LTC Cook, LTC Crossfield, Major Horne, LTC Mowe, LTC Halliday, LTC Schrader, Major Gale, LTC Watson, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Crane, Mr. Sims, Gene McCaskill, LTC Orris, and Colonel and Mrs. Risher for making my Camden Military Academy experience more meaningful.

I will be forever grateful to my parents who have encouraged and supported me every step of the way.

I strongly recommend Camden Military Academy to anyone that wants to learn and prepare themselves to become a worthwhile young man - a gentleman.
