Progress in 1998

Greetings from Camden Military Academy. I am pleased to report that we have had an outstanding year. Our Corps of Cadets has performed in a magnificent manner and has exceeded all expectations.

Significantly, 83% of our old cadets rejoined us this year, a superlative accomplishment when the average return rate for schools of our type is 40% to 50%. A high level of retention is an important measure of CMA's programs. By February our enrollment had reached 236. Our cadets have high morale, perform well in the classroom, and adhere to good standards of behavior.

Thirty-nine seniors will graduate in May. All of them have made plans either for higher education or to enter the military service. At the end of second semester, 39 cadets had achieved Gold Stars for academic excellence by maintaining a 90 or above grade average. We have upgraded our computer facility with state of the art equipment, including 686 micro-processors with 2.0 GB hard drives. This equipment will enhance our new advanced programming offerings. We have also added several new faculty members this year in an effort to expand our academic offerings. We have increased our graduation requirements to 21 credits. This number will rise to 22 credits by 1999 and 24 by 2000. These measures will make us richer academically and will allow our graduates to remain competitive for college admission.

The renovation of our administration building, which we occupied in early December, has allowed us to consolidate all our administrative and cadet services in one location. Our recently completed swimming pool is a beauty. The bathroom facilities in Dallas Barracks have been renovated, and all cadet rooms in all barracks now have new padded chairs, as well as new mattresses and desks.

Our sports teams have continued to be highly competitive. Our young men have turned in outstanding performances this year. Bobby Dingee was selected as an All-State, All-Conference lineman. Lyn Chambers won honors as an All-State, All-County punter. James C. "Tee" Ferguson was named to the All-Conference basketball team. In wrestling, Brent Boyd set a school record for most wins in a career and Chris Austin for most wins in a season. Chris went on to become State Heavyweight Champion.

Militarily, for over twenty years our cadets have earned an Honor Unit with Distinction designation following our annual inspection. This designation is the highest honor a unit can achieve in the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps. Our drill team has continued to perform in an outstanding manner. Battalion Commander Kyle Hause has provided positive leadership and has served as a good role model for his fellow cadets.

We are improving and growing. Our program and facilities are steadily being upgraded; we are at full enrollment; and our reputation as an outstanding school continues to climb. The Corps of Cadets is the finest I have observed. We can all feel proud of their appearance, conduct, and efforts to do their best. We continue to attract good young men who want to be better. As an institution, we remain true to our belief in God and to our commitment to maintaining a quality faculty, insuring a safe environment for our cadets, and providing them a rigorous academic program that challenges each one of them to achieve his best.

Progressive Cadets

Challenges that are unique in this century face our young men as they move into the next millennium. How do we define and understand the meaning of honor in contemporary society? Has it ceased to mean loyalty, honesty, or devotion to principle? Do we have lower standards of conduct for people who hold high office than we do for ourselves or our neighbors? These are questions that CMA cadets must answer for themselves as they confront the hard choices that young men entering adulthood must make. Camden Military Academy will continue to teach that honesty, loyalty, courtesy, and charity are the most accurate measurements of manhood, tested principles by which we judge ourselves and others. Moral progress does not consist in abandoning high standards of conduct, but in living up to them.

As he did last year, the Reverend Brown inaugurated Black History Month. He emphasized America's debt to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and exhorted all cadets to use their God-given talents to the best of their abilities.

Over 150 Attend

The First Annual Homecoming of the Camden-Carlisle Alumni Association fulfilled optimistic expectations and promises to become a feature in the years ahead. Over one hundred and fifty alumni, cadet parents, and grandparents gathered for a day of renewed acquaintances, shared memories, and entertaining activities. Scheduled events included a morning golf game, a tour of the new administration building, a parade, a barbecue luncheon, and a football game. Alumni enjoyed seeing the changes that have occurred on the campus, sharing stories about the past, and talking with cadets about CMA life as it exists today. Bill Hamilton, new alumni president, told the assembly at lunch that his first goal in office is "to double attendance at next year's Homecoming."

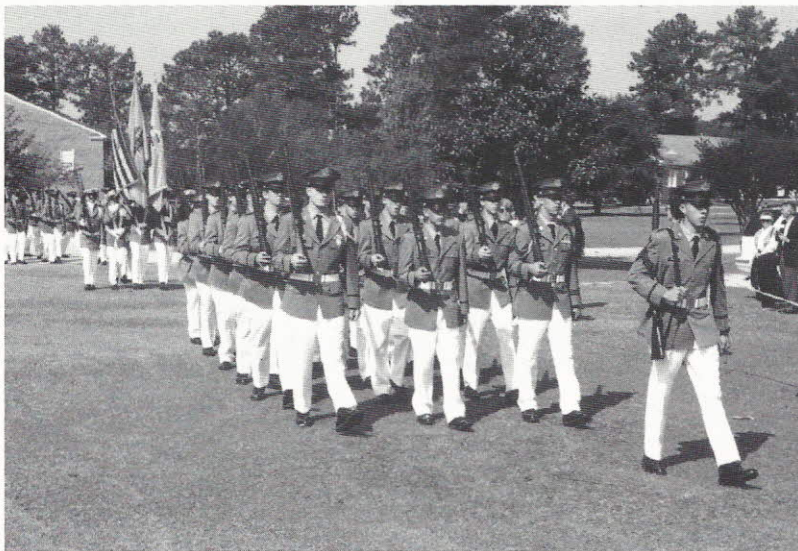

In the reviewing stand for the Homecoming Parade are Colonel William K. Orris, headmaster; Cam Walters, outgoing alumni president; Bill Hamilton, new alumni president; and LTC Thomas A. Austin, commandant.

LTC Kyle Hause, battalion commander, and staff officers 1LT Brandon Fox, and 1LT Rex Polanis lead the Cadet Corps onto the parade grounds.

Progressive People

On the Camden Military Academy faculty and staff in 1998, twenty-one members hold masters degrees, and two have doctorates. Early in the second semester, cadet enrollment equaled space available. We have an unusually large eighth grade class, and we look forward to having these young men with us until they graduate from high school. The character of the cadet corps has never been higher, and the dedication of the faculty and staff has never been greater. There is genuine good will and respect among teachers, staff, and students. The quality of the people at CMA creates the unique and rewarding experience that our institution offers.

A newcomer to the faculty is CPT Blake Hawkey, mathematics and computer science instructor. CPT Hawkey is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, West Point. In addition to his teaching duties, he coaches track.

... year on the social studies faculty is LTC John Moncure, a West Point alumnus who also holds MS and PhD degrees from Cornell University. An accomplished horseman, Moncure sponsors the CMA Equestrian Club.

... Perry, new science instructor, earned BS and EdD degrees from the University of South Carolina and MA and EdS degrees from Western Carolina University. CPT Perry sponsors the Science Club.

A Progressive Military

At the Camden Christmas Parade this year, several townspeople were heard to remark that the Camden Military Academy marching units had the edge over the public school participants. "Their line was straight," said one. Military training does make a difference. For over twenty-five years, our JROTC Unit has been designated "Honor Unit with Distinction." Moreover, military training is transferable to business, industry, and the professions, as many generations of successful Camden-Carlisle men attest. It will continue to be a valuable complement to the classroom, instilling discipline, order, teamwork, and self-respect. It is the ingredient that completes the molding of the whole man.

Led by Company Commander Joe Forgeng, A Company, Honor Company of 1997, marches past the reviewing stand during the First Annual Homecoming Parade.

The Military Mission

The mission of CMA's Department of Tactics is to develop within the Corps those qualities and attributes of leadership with emphasis on duty, integrity, morality, and self-discipline. Through the use of a strict military regimen, cadets develop a deep sense of duty and obligation that motivates them and teaches them the responsibility necessary to meet future challenges. The process of developing a sense of duty comes from creating an environment that makes it clear to cadets what is expected of them, fosters progressive growth and maturity, and exposes them to role models who demonstrate exemplary and mature commitment. Our goal is to build better Americans and in the process create a nurturing environment in which all cadets can grow and develop into outstanding young men.

In the reviewing stand on Visitor's Day are Colonel William K. Orris, headmaster, and LTC Thomas A. Austin, IV, commandant.

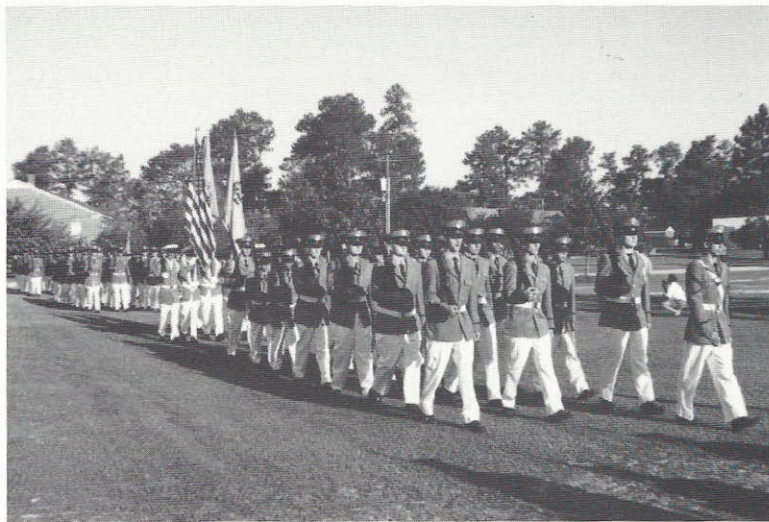

On November 9, 1997, Camden Military Academy held its second Visitor's Day of the school term. After lunch, instructors were in their classrooms to confer with parents on the students' academic progress. Following the conferences, a parade was held in honor of the parents. The parade gave parents the opportunity to witness the military skills their sons had mastered. It was a proud occasion for everyone. Once again, the Cadet Corps turned in an impressive performance. The day concluded with a reception in the dining hall.

Drum Major Jake Isbill leads the Camden Military Academy Band onto the parade field.

Continuing to be the Best

Early morning music is still in the Alpha Company tradition. If Company Commander Joe Forgeng is not playing the National Anthem on the guitar to wake up late sleepers, LTC Cook provides "Airbourne Airs." The goals of Alpha are to keep up the high standards: spotless barracks, high study hall ratings, excellent grades, winning military competitions, and participation in athletics. "Our standards have to be high," says CO Joe Forgeng, "LTC Cook insists on that." Athletic participation seems to be almost one hundred percent this year. "All the officers play varsity sports," says Forgeng, "and about everybody else is involved in some way."

Alpha is proud of being Honor Company this year and has every intention of repeating the accomplishment. They have room inspections every day and still strive to be "the best drilled, the best disciplined, and the best educated." The company is leading in study hall points and has no intention of letting its guard down.

Battlin' Bravo

Bravo Company continues to pride itself upon pulling together to get things done. Company Commander Brent Boyd gives CSM Irtenkauf, tac officer, much of the credit for B Company's spirit of togetherness: "We think he's the best tac officer at CMA. He treats us like human beings--with respect. He treats us as he would his own sons. He's got a great personality."

Bravo still pursues the goals of academic excellence, participation in extracurricular activities, and excelling in all aspects of the military program. Grades are continuing to improve, and there is a high percentage of participation in sports.

One goal that has eluded B Company in recent years is that of being Honor Company. "We really want that distinction," says CO Boyd. "We have been rated best in drill for most of the year, and right now we think we've got the edge."

Getting It Back

Chargin' Charlie is not used to being in its present position. It was Honor Company for four years running and would like to attain that status again. "We are not used to being out of the limelight, and are determined to get there again," says CPT Eddy Bohlander, company commander. Charlie Company has a long tradition of pride and accomplishment to build on. The company conducts long, drawn out inspections and pays meticulous attention to the niceties of drill. First Sergeant Matt Anderson gets Charlie up early every morning and off to a fast start.

"We are equally concerned with higher grades and training leaders," CPT Bohlander observes. He notes that LTC Kennedy, tactical officer, spends long hours tutoring, counselling, and performing many other services for cadets, such as writing letters of recommendation to colleges. "He supports us totally," says Bohlander.

Although C Company is not Honor Company for the first time in many years, they are taking all the necessary measures to get back on track. Do not count Charlie out. They will be heard from again.

Changes

Although Band and Staff has undergone some external changes this year, they have remained the same at the core. Under the leadership of Tactical Officer MAJ Ronald P. Horn, CO CPT Webb McCall, XO 1LT Dale Gray, 2LT Richard Holmes, 2LT Gray Curry and 1SGT TC Martindale, they will still give the other companies a run for Honor Company. B/S cadets have sought to do their best in everything they do, from academics to military events. CPT McCall cites experience as the key to success. "I think we have the upper hand on the rest of the companies. Experience is the only way to get things done, and in Band and Staff we have plenty of it."

The seniors are confident that they are leaving Band and Staff in a good position to excel next year. "I am confident," says CPT McCall, "that the future of the company is going to be a good one. Band and Staff will be in good hands next year as far as leadership is concerned."

Progress in Sports

With a new state-of-the-art track facility, a luxurious new swimming pool, a first-rate weightroom, and improvements to the gymnasium, Camden Military Academy possesses enviable accommodations for competitive sports. Moreover, the teams that CMA fields are worthy of the facilities that house them. During the last ten years, the Spartan football team has won seven conference titles; the basketball team. We field highly competitive teams in baseball, soccer, golf, tennis, track, cross-country, and wrestling--and swimming is in the future. CMA teams play with pride and intensity. That is our heritage.

Outstanding forward Tee Ferguson drives in hard for a lay-up.

Quarterback Lyn Chambers led the Spartan offense this season and also garnered honors as an All-State punter.

BJ Edgar, CMA's leading midfielder, wins this battle for the ball.

Varsity Football

By CMA's high standards, 1998 was not a banner year: the Spartans won only once. Ironically, this was a team loaded with talent. Cap Carter and Desi Melvin were explosive out of the backfield with All-State Offensive Lineman Bobby Dingee leading the charge. All-State Punter Lyn Chambers was a potent kicker. On defense, Brent Boyd and Rick Lewis led the way. But inexperience was the Spartans' strongest opponent this season, and it showed on both sides of the line. "We're really looking forward to next year," said Coach Boland, "when talent combined with experience will pay off."

High points in the action were the victory over Westminster-Catawba, a tough 25-13 contest with Oakridge, and a disappointing 15-14 loss to Christ School in the final minutes. The Spartans always played hard, but grit and determination could not overcome lack of experience.

Winning honors this season were Bobby Dingee, All-State, All-Conference, Most Valuable Offensive Lineman; Lyn Chambers, All-State, All-County Punter, Most Valuable Player; Shaun O'Connor, Most Valuable Offensive Back; Brent Boyd, Most Valuable Defensive Lineman; Rick Lewis, Most Valuable Defensive Back; Josh Barna, Most Improved Player; Bryan and Whit Johnson, Coach's Award.

Outstanding on defense this season, Gray Curry bears down on the quarterback as Austin, Watson, and Pavy come in to assist.

Bobby Dingee leads the way as fleet running back Desi Melvin breaks through for a long scamper toward the goal line.

Most Valuable Defensive Back Rick Lewis, Pittman, Pavy, and Carter move in swiftly to intercept the runner.

Eric Watson tackles hard and smart, stripping the ball away.

The going is tough, but Cody Glasscho picks his way through for a long gain.

All-State Punter Lyn Chambers gets off a high kick with good hang time.

1998 Spartans were a young team that gave their all every time they went to the field, but their inexperience kept them out of the win column this season. Although they won only one game, they lost others by a margin of two or three points. The hard road they traveled should serve them well in next campaign. Award winners were BJ Edgar, Most Valuable Player; JT Forgens, Most Improved; JM Lowdermilk, Best Defensive Player; R Phillips-Kow, Midfielder; and MA Robinson, Coach's Award.

Headed for the goal, senior captain BJ Edgar advances the ball downfield. BJ was named Most Valuable Player in 1998.

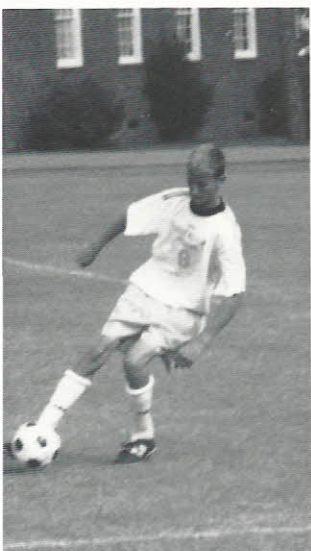

Joe Lowdermilk gets up high to make another of the many saves he made this season. He was voted Best Defensive Player.

Adger Brown strips the ball from an ACA player before sending it downfield.

WD Johnson eats dust but makes an outstanding defensive play.

Taylor skillfully handles the ball as he gets it into play.

Stuart Hamilton gains control of the ball and prepares to pass.

Senior co-captain Matt Robinson traps the ball as he prepares to clear it downfield. Matt was this year's Coach's Award winner.

J V Football

The 1998 JV football season was successful because many young men gained valuable experience in tough competition. The Spartans stopped Christ School six times inside the ten yard line and lost in double overtime to Charlotte Latin, a much bigger school. Offensive leaders were Robert Johnson, JC Bellamy, and Mark Sims. Sparking the defense were Greg Lloyd, John Henson, Anthony Heger, and Calvin Brantley. Award winners were Tim Ross, Most Valuable Defensive Player; Jason Gethers, Most Valuable Offensive Player; and Zack Barber, Most Improved Player. The Jayvees gave total effort every time they took to the field.

Coaches Mitchell and Craft confer as Cader, Rowe, Halpin, and other Spartans watch the action on the field.

Brantley, Ross, and Hinson gang up on Christ School quarterback and slam him on turf.

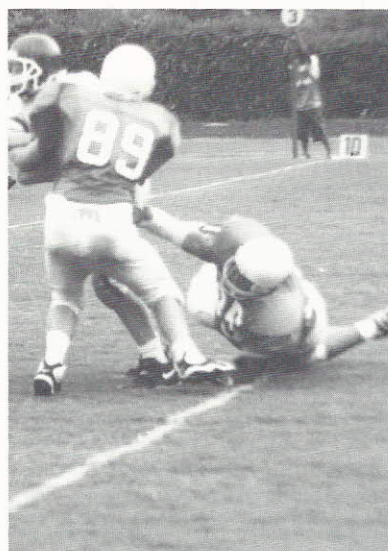

Vaughn Gibbs pulls in an interception while Zack Barber gets ready to move in to assist.

Chant and Murray lead the Spartans in the old "Green Bay" sweep.

Mark Sims takes off on a long kick return with several Spartans running interference.

Hogan and Cader team up to stop the runner for no gain.

Tim Ross and Jason Gethers converge to trap the opposing back before he can break outside.

Showing his superior speed, Jason Gethers eludes all tacklers and breaks loose on a long run toward the goal line.

R HI Football

JR HI players this year had not played football before, but they improved week and put it all together in the latter part of the season against Charlotte-Mecklenburg on Friday Day. The coaches challenged the defense to get the ball back. On the play they intercepted the ball to give an 8-7 victory with 21 seconds left on offense Adamson was the catalyst for the team. He had two 100 yard games. On defense Berstler was the best hitter; Wallace led the defense; Callaghan had the most interceptions; Scrudato was a hardnosed player and Abbate was reliable every week. Awards went to James Adamson, Most Valuable Offensive Player; Adamson, Most Valuable Defensive Player; Adamson Scrudato and James Wallace, Defensive Award; and Jesse Callaghan, Most Improved Player. JR HI players have valuable experience that they can take to higher levels in the years to come.

Running with great power, James Adamson drags defenders as he bulls ahead.

Cross-country

A Spartan cross-country runner this year required not only great stamina and determination, but also a huge measure of self-discipline. Since the Spartans had only three members, they did not qualify to compete officially in conference meets. However, they did. They ran just as hard as they would have if they had official conference standing. They ran out of shape and measured themselves against the winners in the conference. Even though the Spartans did not receive any official recognition this year, Coach LePage still considers the season successful: "Our runners showed character and improvement throughout the season." Award winners were Eddy Bohlander, MVP; Brad Blazek, Coach's Award; and Justin Scholl, Most Improved.

Spartans: Brad Blazek, Coach LePage, Justin Scholl, Eddy Bohlander

Coach LePage times the cross-country Spartans as they get in shape for long runs over rough terrain.

MVP Eddy Bohlander easily traverses the fence in a practice run.

Brad Blazek, Coach's Award winner, will anchor the team next year.

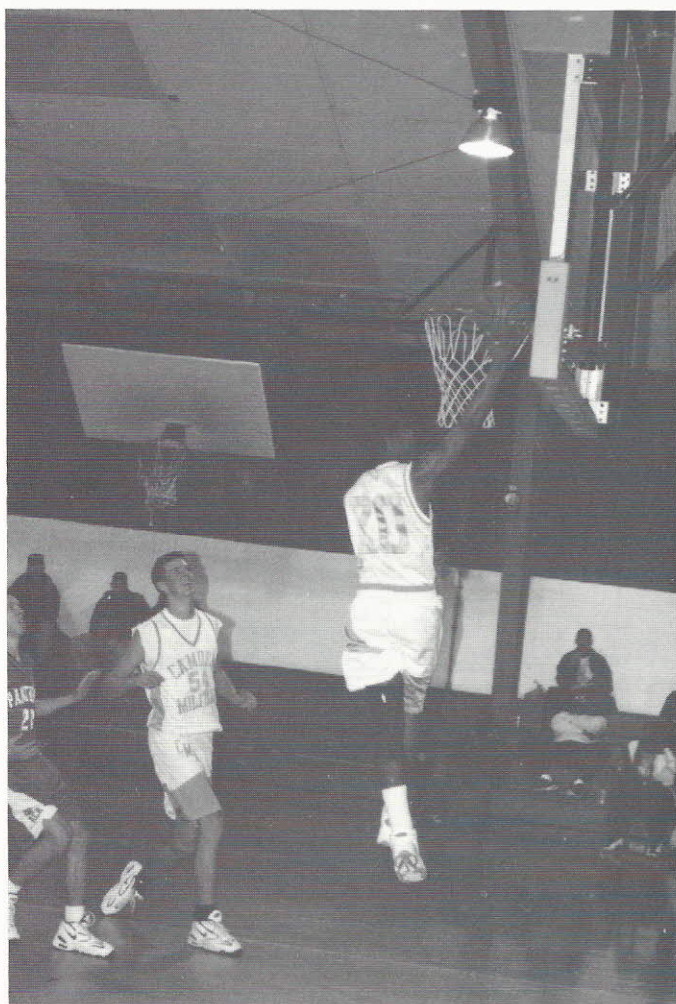

MIP Justin Scholl is a promising runner who will add strength to the Spartan roster.

Varsity Basketball

“We had a young team this year, “ said Coach Boland, “and it was a pleasure to watch them grow.” At the beginning of the season, the coaching staff had a goal for the Spartans to finish in the top half of the CAA Conference. By finishing in third place, they achieved that goal. The team showed improvement all year and really got rolling in late January and early February, when they had a five game winning streak. The outstanding offensive players this season were Tee Ferguson and Jason Gethers. Ferguson was named to the All-Conference Team. The leading defensive players were Dan Cook and Jason Gethers.

Jason Gethers launches a jump shot from three point territory.

Craig Lloyd lays the ball up as Shaun O'Connor trails to tip or rebound.

All the Spartans listen intently as Coach Boland and Assistant Coach Craft spell out the strategy.

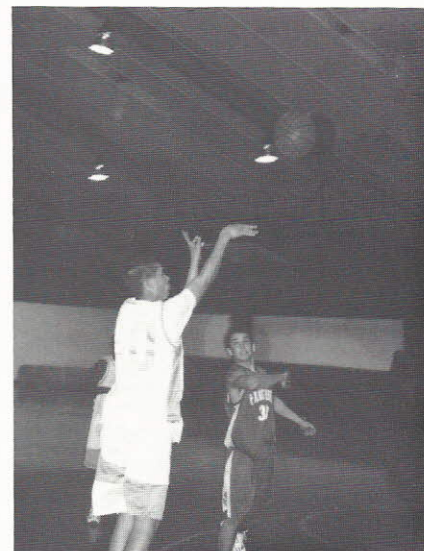

Quick guard Lyn Chambers fires a jumper from way out.

Getting up high, Capp Carter slams in the lay-up.

Outstanding on offense this season, Tee Ferguson beats the defenders to the basket.

Daniel Cook gets off an arching jumper from outside the three-point circle.

J V Basketball

A very inexperienced Spartan team improved greatly as the season progressed. "When we won, we won big," said Coach Craft, "by an average of 22 points." An example of improvement was the second Camden game, when the Spartans put up a really good fight after being embarrassed in the first outing. Another strong game was Shannon Forest at home, when Peter Rooney hit four three-pointers. Leading on offense this season were Singleton, Rooney, Weatherford, and Gibbs, with a different top scorer each game. Lowdermilk, Gibbs, and Singleton led the defense. Each had several steals and blocked shots. Weatherford sparked the full court press that destroyed Shannon Forest twice at season's end. Brantley did a nice job rebounding and gave good minutes off the bench as did Arend and Johnson. "Without guys like Brantley, Johnson, Kennedy Berstler, and Taylor, who stuck with us even though they did not play as much as they would have liked," observed Coach Craft, "we would not have improved as much as we did." Award winners were Vaughn Gibbs, MVP (team vote); Peter Rooney, Most Improved; and Robert Johnson, Coach's Award. Jason Singleton was team captain for the year. The Spartans compiled a 4-8 record overall. They were 4-4 in conference play.

Joe Lowdermilk lofts a three-pointer against Carolina Day.

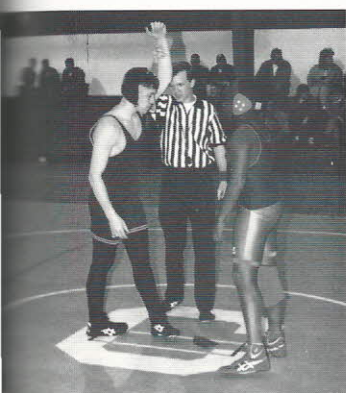

Soaring above the rim, Jason Singleton sinks a short jumper over Carolina Day defenders.

Showing his breakaway speed, Peter Rooney gets by a Camden High guard.

Wrestling

Referee raises Chad Morris's hand, celebrating his victory over his Hammond adversary.

Using a headlock, Justin Taylor quickly subdues his man.

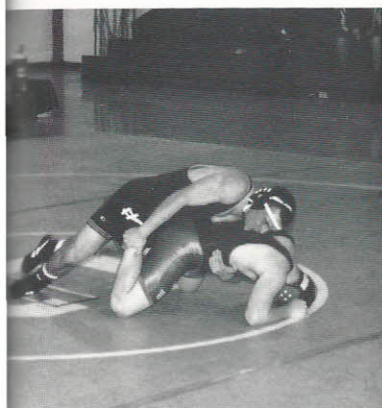

Chris Austin, CMA record holder for most wins in a season, adds this Blackville opponent to his long list of victories. Chris went on to become State Heavyweight Champion.

The Spartan Wrestling Team made this past season one of the best in school history. The squad broke the school record for team wins by taking 12 of their 19 matches. And three of their seven losses came by a match or less difference. Wrestling a schedule featuring three AAA public schools and defending state champion Charlotte Latin, the Spartans won 8 of their last 11 matches to set the record. In the process, CMA won 5 of their 7 home matches. The 5 wins came at an average of 37 points, thanks to the vocal support of the Corps Cadets. Under the guidance of Coach Mitchell and Coach Dority, the Spartans have laid the groundwork for a strong wrestling tradition. Among the individual highlights were Brent Boyd's school record for most wins in a career and Chris Austin's record for most wins in a season.

Progress in Activities

Camden Military Academy continuously evaluates its activities program to make certain that it fits the needs of all cadets. In addition to the numerous clubs and organizations for which there is a need or a demand, CMA offers intramural opportunities in virtually every popular sport. Among this year's new activities are the equestrian and martial arts clubs. Moreover, CMA continues its association with the Kershaw County Fine Arts Center. A number of cadets participate in chorus and other artistic activities. The CMA activities program will always remain flexible and innovative.

Academic Progress

A new computer-facilitated reading program and a course in astronomy lead the additions to the Camden Military Academy curriculum in 1998. New titles in the library, particularly in the reference section, have increased student research capability. More computers and computer applications become part of the curriculum-methodology mix each year. Along with the new, that which has served us well in the past forms the core of our approach--small classes, highly qualified teachers, and monitored study halls. We will continuously evaluate our curriculum and methods to determine effective ways to help our young men learn.

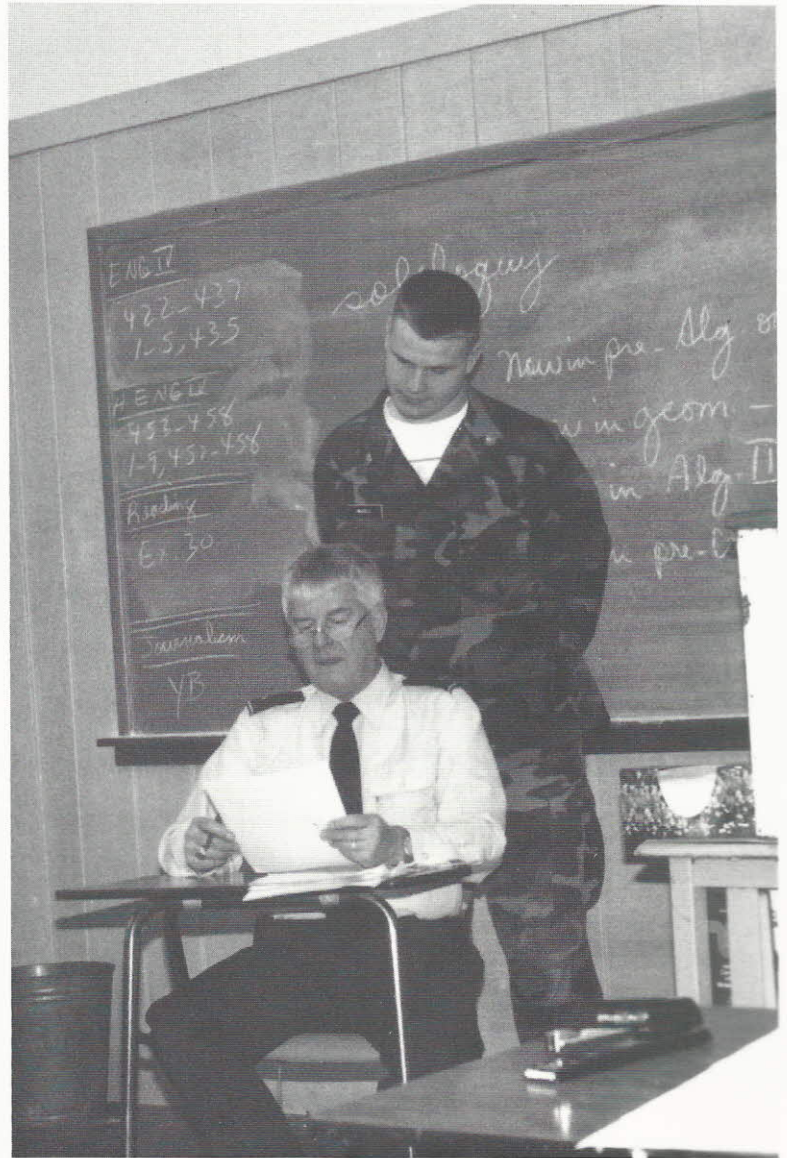

LTC Kelly R. Schrader has served at CMA for eighteen years. For the last twelve years, he has been Academic Dean. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of South Carolina.

CPT Will Mitchell, English Instructor teaches the essentials of grammar to his tenth grade class. CPT Mitchell also coaches football and wrestling.

Deborah Hartley, director of the Effective Learning Program, watches Cadet Lewis at work. Glenn Murray and Levi Marolf observe also.

MAJ Sonny Brown, English instructor and head of the Language Arts Department, discusses an essay with senior John McGill.

Focus on Education

Major W. C. Mobley, social studies instructor and head of the Social Studies Department, makes certain that his students keep abreast of current events.

CPT Calvin Craft teaches both Latin and English and has many of the same students in both classes.

Although Mrs. Kane, CMA librarian, has a very busy schedule, she somehow finds time to administer computerized reading tests.

During the annual Halloween chemistry class presentation, Erik Bolenbough demonstrates the effects of static electricity to David Brown and other members of the seventh and eighth grade classes.

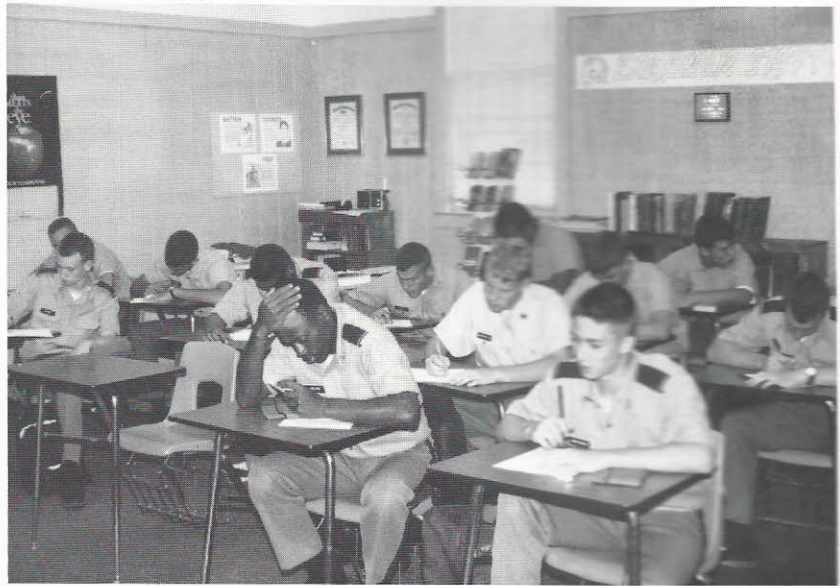

Cadet Concepcion is smiling at the moment, but he will not be amused when test time comes around. CPT Cerezo, Spanish instructor, is known for his challenging tests.

Jason McGoldrick, Desi Melvin, Matt Anderson and other seniors are engrossed in an English IV writing assignment.

Molding the Whole Man

The journey of education should be a lifelong pursuit, but the beginning of education is schooling. At CMA we seek to provide our cadets the schooling necessary to succeed in college and in life. Our institution provides one of the best school programs in the country, and at the same time, an opportunity for education in the broader sense. The “whole man” concept is central to the success of our program: academic, physical, and moral development make the CMA graduate ready for the world.

LTC Kelly R. Schrader
Academic Dean

Panel Fletcher, mathematics instructor, helps Brandon Johnson with a problem in pre-algebra, Cadets Bryant, Ravenel, Parkman, and Plunkett absorb the information.

Work

Biology: MAJ Simonson's biology students are engaged in the annual cat dissection. Martindale saws into a cat's head to expose the brain as MAJ Simonson, Cole, Walston, and other class members observe. Students also explore the abdominal and chest cavities to identify organs.

Computer Science: CPT Blake Hawkey helps Cadet Weatherford with an assignment as Glenn Murray benefits by listening. Students learn word processing, including spreadsheet layout and copy. They complete projects that have real-life applications.

French: Major Ferjani uses CMA's state-of-the-art language laboratory while instructing cadets Barber, Meraz, Martin, and Farmer. He can transmit, record, and communicate with students individually or collectively.

Physics: Cadets learn the laws of physics through the preparation of rockets that carry eggs aloft to be returned to earth by parachute, without breaking, of course. Gray Curry readies his creation as Major LePage stands by to fire it off.

Matthew J. Anderson

You took the road less traveled - but you got there!

I have watched you grow from a little boy into a young man. You are so special to us all. Now

YOU will choose the way to go.
Choose wisely and with God's help.

J. Adger Brown III

Dear Adger,

For all of your life we have watched you grow and develop into the fine young man you are today. As you grow into adulthood, remember that while you will take on more responsibilities, you will never be alone. Rely on your faith in God, the aid of your friends, and the comfort of your family along your journey. Be a giver and not a taker. Be mindful that with all the joy and happiness we wish for you to experience, your best work will be to make the world a little better place to be.

With all our love,
Mom and Dad

To our successful and beloved son Rex we say: imitate Christ. Pilate said to him, "So then you are a king." Jesus replied, "It is you who say I am a king. The reason I was born, the reason I came into the world is to testify to the truth. Listen, King Rex. Congratulations and love,

BJ Edgar

BJ,

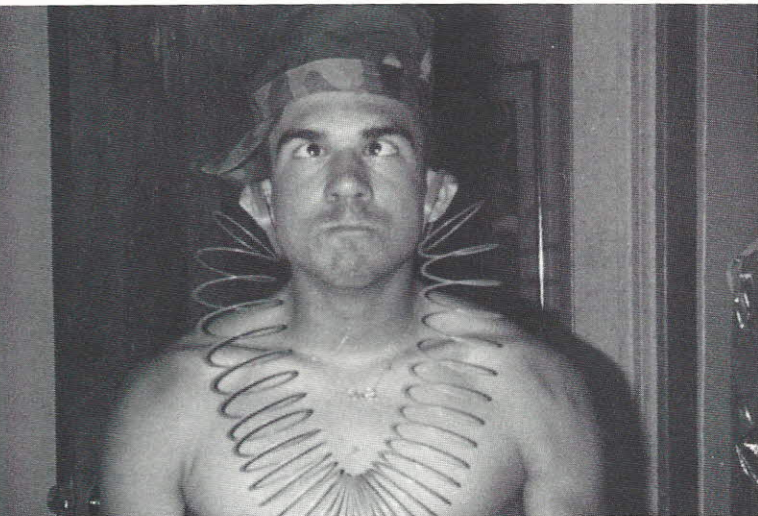

John 10:10 states that Jesus came that we may have life and have it abundantly. As we looked through the picture albums, we were reminded that you have had an abundant life thus far. Follow Colossians 3:17, and we are sure your life will continue to be abundant.

We are pleased with you, son, and we love you abundantly.
