Character and Quality

Camden Military Academy has become a very popular school. Our enrollment stands at 330, with a substantial number of applicants on our waiting list. We are selective in whom we invite into our midst. The character of our cadets is better than it has ever been, and academic performance has improved as well. Our SAT average is now higher than the average for the state of South Carolina.

For several years we have been involved in an intensive program to improve our physical plant, and that effort continues on schedule. We were very pleased to have B Company occupy the new barracks at the beginning of this school term. This attractive, spacious building conforms perfectly to our prevailing architectural style and immediately catches the eye of all who enter our main gate. Moreover, we will continue to improve and upgrade our older barracks.

The next new building on campus we desire is a gymnasium. Construction is slated to begin next year. The old field house will remain intact, with a covered walkway connecting it to the new gym. The new facility will provide seating for approximately 600 spectators. It will have a concession stand, a large, state-of-the-art weight room, and private locker space for every cadet.

Another structure we hope to build within three to four years is a multipurpose building that will fill several needs that we have: a place to worship, additional classrooms, and a true auditorium for formal gatherings and entertainment. The plans as presently conceived place the auditorium at the center of the building with classrooms surrounding it. The chapel is to the right of the main entrance. Seating in the auditorium will be approximately 500.

We continuously fine tune our academic program. Next year we plan to offer three levels of Latin, a move that will strengthen academics across the board. We will also offer a semester-long SAT preparation course, with six to eight cadets in each class, available every class period of the day. Starting second semester, cadets may be able to earn college credit in English, history, and mathematics. We will affiliate with a local college for this purpose.

Sports are an integral part of the educational process at Camden Military Academy. Our no-cut policy for athletic teams assures a high level of cadet participation. New this year was a junior high basketball team, which enjoyed immediate success. We will add a junior high baseball team next year. Another addition will be swimming as an interscholastic sport, with a regular schedule of meets. Scuba training will be offered next year as well.

Colonel William K. Orris, Headmaster

We are in an exciting period of growth and improvement at Camden Military Academy. We are committed to a course of action that will continue to develop our physical plant, attract competent and qualified faculty, expand our curriculum in academics and sports, and recruit young men of good character and solid academic potential.

Cadet Honor

Camden Military Academy has always had an Honor System, but this year it established a formal Honor Code, which states simply that "a cadet will not lie, cheat, or steal." The code is common sense morality that has existed in even the most primitive human cultures for thousands of years. Applied to cadets it means that they will not lie to anyone, cheat on tests or in their personal dealings with others, or steal from anyone. Honor, however, has a broader meaning that goes much beyond the code. It means accepting responsibility for all of one's actions. It means facing problems squarely at the outset before they grow bigger and get out of hand. It means observing the rules of common courtesy and helping others who need a hand without expecting anything in return. It also means appraising oneself honestly, admitting to shortcomings, and sincerely trying to correct them.

Under the direction of Band Director David Green, the Camden Military Academy Pep Band always adds to the spirit of excitement at football games.

Welcome to A Company! New cadet Mathew Marquard is greeted by the cadre. The welcoming committee consists of SFC Jesse Callaghan, 2LT Alvin Hardin, LTC Robert Thorp, and 1SG Joshua Wooten.

Chaplain Westbury

"I wanted the cadets to know that even in the midst of the worst of things, God is there to help, to give comfort. All we have to do is call on him. I also let them know that I would be available to talk to anyone at any time."

when the terrorists struck the World Trade Center. We were all involved, some more directly than others--shocked, saddened, angry--but resolved to defend and to retaliate.

"I am sure that for people alive during World War II the attack on Pearl Harbor was a defining moment in their lives. For me the September 11 attack is a defining moment. It has changed the way I view everything."

LTC Armstrong

"The President called for a day of prayer, so after breakfast on September 12 we prayed for the victims and their families, for the policemen and firefighters, for our service personnel, for our nation, and for ourselves."

Chaplain Westbury

"I found out later that my mom was in the hospital in shock. She still has problems dealing with it. My grandmother, two cousins, and many members of my church were in the Center, but got out. One of my uncles is a New York firefighter."

Drew Atkinson

Drew Atkinson

"My mom is a New York police officer. She was working overtime when her partner went into the Trade Center to get his pregnant wife. He got his wife out, but he was hit by a falling pole. The building collapsed before my mom could get to him. He was killed."

LTC Armstrong, Commandant

"After events had begun to unfold, we assembled the Cadet Corps in the gym to tell them the facts exactly as we knew them and to enable all those who might have family or friends involved to communicate with them."

Alvin Hardin

"My brother works in Manhattan. I was scared to death, tried to call, but couldn't get through. He later called our parents to say he was safe. I also have a cousin at the Pentagon. He was safe too. We were very lucky that day."

Matthew Amendola

"My uncle works directly across the street from the World Trade Center, a two minute walk. As he was sitting in his office, he saw the both planes fly past his office and into the Twin Towers."

Nathaniel Adjei

"My brother's close friend was on a floor near the top of one of the Twin Towers when the plane hit. She died trying to get down. We tried to call all that day, but we couldn't get through. We learned everything later."

Scarborough Barracks

Everyone watched the new barracks as it grew from foundation last year to completion and occupancy at the beginning of this school term. B Company cadets are the proud occupants of this attractive, spacious, comfortable structure that blends in perfectly with other campus architecture. At first, the building was known only as "The New Barracks." Then there was a growing acceptance of "B Company Barracks." On March 1, 2002, the Board of Trustees officially named the new structure in honor of Board Chairman Banks Scarborough. A Carlisle alumnus, Mr. Scarborough has for many years been a fervent supporter of Camden Military Academy. No one deserves this honor more. The most imposing interior feature of the building is the high, wide, well-lighted hall, which creates a sense of openness that banishes any trace of claustrophobia. CSM Rolf Irtenkauf, Tactical Officer, has tastefully decorated the public areas of the barracks. In the foyer stands a glass trophy case containing both military and sports awards, with Drill Team recognition predominating. Old and new photographs of B Company Platoons, as well as other inspirational pictures, align the walls of the hall. The computer room, like the living quarters occupied by cadets, is spacious and well lighted. All cadets appreciate the new utilities and privacy features in the bathrooms. CSM Irtenkauf and the chain of command under Company Commander Will Coltharp feel a particular sense of responsibility for maintaining the new structure. "CSM Irtenkauf rides us hard to keep this barracks in shape," said CPT Coltharp. The company has serious cleaning duties in the early morning and in the evening after dinner. They are determined to keep the new barracks new. B Company morale may well have benefited from the new environment. Beta won the Honor Company title first semester.

B Company forms on the parade field with the new barracks in the background.

CSM Rolf Irtenkauf discusses the Saturday Morning Inspection with CPT Will Coltharp, Company Commander, and SGT Stephen Burnette.

Cadets set the tone for a serious, quiet study hall by coming to attention outside their rooms and presenting their planners to the AOC for inspection.

Senior Mark Thompson controls his study environment by devising a seating arrangement that meets his comfort demands.

Brand new and ready for occupancy, the barracks awaits the coming of B Company cadets at the opening of the new school term.

Brothers Nathaniel Adjei and Danieve Harper are among the early arrivals in the new B Company quarters.

Cadets Andrew Perlick, Bobby Irvin, and Jamal Ferrell use the spacious and pleasantly decorated computer room during study hall.

Derek Spencer does not really need his lamp in his well-lighted living quarters. The air-conditioning units heat and cool.

Cadets Henry Jennings and Jason Martin discuss the many military and sports awards that fill the shelves of the trophy case.

Battalion Commander David Seigler and his inspection team visit B Company during the Saturday Morning Inspection.

High Standards

As Camden Military Academy continues to grow, it does so with careful planning and attention to the character of the people and the quality of the environment. Two new teachers have been hired this year, and they have already proved themselves to be highly competent. The Academy continues to admit only those students who possess the same good character that is typical of our present cadet corps. The new barracks is an attractive, spacious facility that is pleasing to the cadets and to all others who use it. As other buildings are added, they will be of the same high quality. Camden Military Academy is a Corps of Cadets with good character and great potential; a competent, caring faculty and staff to guide them; and a safe, attractive physical environment in which to study and recreate.

Gene McCaskill, Director of Admissions, and Casey Robinson, his assistant, are the principal reasons for Camden Military Academy's continuously full enrollment. Mr. McCaskill and Mr. Robinson have been highly successful in communicating the Academy's merits to prospective cadets and their parents.

Hired at the beginning of the school term, Captain Tariq Ghaffar, English instructor, earned his Bachelor of Arts in English from the University of South Carolina. He brings both knowledge and enthusiasm to his classes. Captain Ghaffar formerly taught with the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources. He is also a gifted tennis coach who was a high school state finalist at Spring Valley.

Joining the faculty second semester, Captain Scott Dack, science instructor, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska and a master's from George Mason University. A highly competent teacher, he formerly taught in Baltimore, Maryland, and in Sandhills Academy, Columbia, South Carolina. He will assist with track and field this spring.

The Military Tradition

With the addition of Delta Company last year, battalion strength now stands at five companies. B Company occupied the new barracks at the beginning of the school term. The growth of the Academy is a measure of its appeal to parents as an institution in whose care they can place their sons. The Academy has established itself as one of the leading military schools in the United States. Our reputation attracts students from around the world, and we are justly proud of our military tradition. For over thirty years our JROTC Unit has been designated "Honor Unit with Distinction." We graduate young men prepared to fend for themselves in a highly competitive environment. Our alumni are leaders in every stratum of society, at home and in other parts of the world. Military education is a valuable complement to the classroom, instilling discipline, order, teamwork, and self-respect. It completes the molding of the whole man.

The mission of CMA's Department of tactics is to develop in the Cadet Corps qualities of leadership with emphasis on duty, integrity, morality, and self-discipline. Following a strict military regimen, cadets develop a deep sense of duty and obligation that motivates them and teaches them the responsibility necessary to meet future challenges. The process of developing a sense of duty comes from creating an environment that makes clear to cadets what is expected of them, fosters progressive growth and maturity, and exposes them to role models who demonstrate exemplary and mature commitment. Our goal is to build better Americans and in the process create a nurturing environment in which all cadets can grow and develop into outstanding young men.

Regaining the Title

Rising bright and early each day to the sounds of "Duck Calls," one of LTC Cook's favorite CD's, A Company focuses on regaining the Honor Company title after a disappointing finish last year. The goals of Alpha continue to be excellent grades, high study hall ratings, a spotless barracks, winning military competitions, and participation in athletics. All cadre members and most of the rank and file get involved in some kind of sport. Company Commander Josh Wooten voiced the company's sense of direction: "The company as a whole would really like to regain the Honor Company title, and we are committed to working as hard as necessary to achieve that goal." He further observed that the chain of command works very closely with LTC Cook, tactical officer, to keep the company running smoothly. 2LT Alvin Hardin added, "Alpha values discipline and military courtesy. We hope that these attitudes will lead us to the Honor Company title."

What's New?

B Company began the year in style by moving into the new barracks. "The barracks is bright and spacious," said Company Commander William Coltharp, "and of course everything is new. That boosts morale." But there is a price. CSM Irtenkauf insists on keeping the premises spotless. The company falls out every morning and every evening after dinner for cleanup. The military is still high on Beta's list. They were Honor Company second semester last year and repeated during first semester this year. "CSM Irtenkauf has high standards," observed CPT Coltharp. "We have frequent company drills." As always, B Company emphasizes academics. Study halls begin with all cadets standing at attention outside their rooms with their planners open for inspection. This ritual sets the tone for quiet, serious study time. Cadets with academic deficiencies are restricted to campus on weekends. Beta's location has changed, but its high standards remain the same.

In Pursuit of Honor

"We want to earn CSM Terrell's first Honor Company title for him," said Company Commander Andrew Zapf, "and we're doing what it takes to get there." Three early morning formations beginning at 5:55 A. M. keep everyone on track. "We have briefings, check on rooms and uniforms, and go over the day's schedule," explained XO Neil Hartzel. Charlie also marches back to the barracks from every meal to keep cadets out of trouble. One impressive practice in C Company is a tutoring system aimed at all subjects. One NCO and one commissioned officer head up the program. As in the past, Charlie continues to have a high participation in sports. C Company considers its tac officer and a committed chain of command to be its strongest assets at this point. "Every officer does his job, and we're always accessible to the cadets," observed CPT Zapf. "We all support one another."

D Company

Big Delta

D Company is still the newest at CMA, but it has grown from 27 cadets last year to its full complement of 64 in 2002. Delta's trademark remains its spirited cadence counts. They sing everywhere they go. With the infusion of many new cadets at the beginning of the school term, the company experienced some growing pains. However, under the able leadership of First Sergeant Mike Irvin, tactical officer, and the cadet chain of command, Delta has settled into an orderly routine. "We are quite happy where we are," said Company Commander Brian Post. "This company can do anything it sets its mind to. Cadets can talk to the chain of command at any time. We call this our open-door policy. We want to stop problems before they get complicated and make cadets feel that they are part of a family, not just a school." Delta has a long, bright future ahead.

Band and Staff Company

Always Ahead

Band and Staff Company is always visibly ahead of the corps in drill and parades. Therefore, they need to be at their best at all times. "Our goal this year was not only to receive the Honor Company Award, but to earn it with flying colors," said CPT Michael Exum, company commander. "We are, overall, a better company than we have ever been in the past." The Band and Staff chain of command is strongly committed to advancing the well-being of all the cadets. "Credit SGM Greene for much of our success," 1SG Karl Kakadelis observed. Academics still come first in the company. The chain of command maintains a quiet environment to promote study and solid work ethics. Sports are important, too. Most Band and Staff cadets participate in one or more sports. CPT Exum is also the captain of the CMA Golf Team. "We want to do our best in everything we undertake," he commented.

S P O R T S

Lieutenant Colonel Eric Boland, Athletic Director, has been with Camden Military Academy for 20 years. At the start of his career, he coached the big three: football, basketball, and for one year, baseball. Last year, he ceded full-time coaching responsibilities for basketball to his former player, Ricardo Priester, who starred in college. Today, LTC Boland coaches only football, owing to a broad array of responsibilities. During his coaching career, he has compiled records in both football and basketball that can be matched by few: 15 out of 20 conference titles in basketball and 12 out of 20 in football. He reached 200 basketball victories in 1990, after only 11 years of coaching. Moreover, he has led CMA in and out of conference affiliations, according to the needs of the school. He favors our present independent status. It allows broader scheduling, control over traveling, and greater latitude in the number of sports or games. LTC Boland became Athletic Director in 1983, and his duties have increased as the school has grown. Not only does he do the scheduling for all sports, but he also schedules most student activities, on and off campus. Beyond his coaching accomplishments and his many responsibilities, Coach Boland has been a role model that hundreds of young men could emulate with confidence. He has earned the respect of his players by treating them with respect. His greatest reward has been the success of his players: "I have been fortunate to coach many good athletes who have gone on to play sports in college, then have come back to tell me about the impact I have had on them."

The Spartan Football Team runs onto the playing field with the enthusiastic support of the Cadet Corps. The Spartans played to another winning season under the direction of Coach Boland and his able staff.

Larry Blair Arches a free throw toward the basket. The Spartan's leading scorer, Larry helped Coach Priester's team finish as a winner in 2002.

"We had an excellent season," said Coach Boland. "We were within two plays of going undefeated. As it stands, we went 5-2 and won the regional championship. That's a good year." The goal at the beginning of the season was to win the regional title. That mission was accomplished with wins over Christ School, Asheville School, Forsyth Country Day, and Northside. Highlights of the season were 40-point-plus wins over Asheville and Christ School and playing basically even with Wiliston-Elko, the number 4 rated 1-A public school in the state. All players contributed importantly to the successful season. Several seniors led the way. Quarterback Frank Hill ran the ball well and hit his passes when he needed to. Vincent Yates amassed over 1,000 yards in 7 games. B.J. Carney played well both ways and had a school record 99-yard punt return for a touchdown. James Pope anchored both the offensive and the defensive lines. Big leads in several games gave plenty of playing time to younger players. This experience will pay off for the Spartans next year. Winning awards were Vincent Yates, MVP; B. J. Carney, MVOP; Frank Hill, MVOB; Dwayne Kinney, MVOL; James Pope, MVDL; Vance Caraway, MIP; David Brown, MVDB; and Kenneth Harrington and Kris Thapoung, Coach's Award.

Most Valuable Player Vincent Yates rushed for over 1,000 yards in just seven games. He had a yard touchdown run from scrimmage this season.

Dwayne Kinney, Most Valuable Offensive Lineman, comes within a hair's breadth of blocking the kick.

Soccer-style kicker Kris Thapoung may be the best all around kicker that CMA has ever had. He won the Coach's Award this season.

B. J. Carney, Most Valuable Offensive Player, bolts around left end for another long gain had a 99-yard kick-off return for a touchdown this year.

A running and passing threat, quarterback Frank Hill sails in for the score after his charge around the right end.

Number 80 is getting that "deer in the headlights" look as James Pope drives in for the kill. Pope was Most Valuable Defensive Lineman this season.

Wide receiver Vance Caraway leaves the world behind as he breaks free and heads for the end zone. He was named Most Improved Player this year.

David Brown, Most Valuable Defensive Back, snares a fumble. Brown was somehow involved in most defensive plays for the Spartans.

The Spartan JV Football Team accomplished all of its goals this season: to learn the fundamentals, minimize mental mistakes, develop personal and team discipline, and have fun. High points of the season were two great wins over arch rival Christ School. Brandell McGill scored four touchdowns in one game and Chris Gilliam, two. McGill scored nine touchdowns in six games while playing both offense and defense. Leading the tough Spartan defense were Will Hardy, Brett Landers, and Chris Gilliam; but all players were important contributors. Award winners were Brandell McGill, MVOP; Will Hardy, MVDP; Anwar Townes, MIP; and Damien Prince, Coach's Award.

JR HI Football

Learning fundamentals and teamwork, the Junior High Spartans laid a solid foundation for next season. Most players will return in 2003. The team got off to a good start, playing well on both sides of the ball and controlling the game. All players contributed to a successful campaign, but some deserve special mention. At quarterback, Kyle Strickland led the team well and was a consistent player. Curtis Rogers did an outstanding job at running back. He is fast, ran the ball well, and scored a lot of touchdowns. At the linebacker position, Amos Curry was a hard hitter and made his presence known in every game. Playing defensive end, seventh grader Travis Isaacs surprised many a runner who came his way. "It was a real pleasure to watch these young men learn the game and gain confidence this season," said Coach Watson. Winning awards this year were Kyle Strickland, Coach's Award; Curtis Rogers, MVP, Offense; Amos Curry, MVP, Defense; and Travis Isaacs, Most Improved Player.

Spartan bowlers appear to be headed for the state tournament again. "With experienced bowlers Root, Ellisor, Pritchett, and five new, eager players, we stand a good chance of qualifying again for the state tournament and winning some awards," observed Coach Ferjani. Three-year veteran and team captain Brian Root will be going for his second state championship this year. David Pritchett is coming into his own and is eager to be captain next season. Cameron Ellisor has recovered from an injury and has really contributed to the team. Anthony Johnnican has been a welcome surprise. Rickey Carothers is doing really well, and Brian Post can hold his own in the lanes. Eighth grader Justin Smith is working hard and developing his potential. # Varsity Basketball

The CMA Varsity Basketball Team played to an 11-7 record in 2002. Some of the losses came against nationally ranked teams. However, the Spartans had success against ranked teams, also. They beat nationally ranked Laurenburg Institute 94-82. Another flash point of the season was playing in the high-powered Shores Christian Academy Tournament in Ocala, Florida, January 11-12. The experience against top caliber competition helped the Spartans to finish the season strong. Led by Larry Blair, who scored 436 points in 18 games this year, the Spartans held their own against many tough opponents. Intense practices with emphasis on wind sprints and laps helped prepare the team physically and mentally. "Our goal was to play together and to play with heart. We truly wanted to be 'one heart beat' on and off the court," said Coach Priester. Winning awards this season were Larry Blair, Most Valuable Player; Vance Caraway and Danieve Harper, Coach's Award; and Timmy Sturdivant, Most Improved Player.

JV Basketball

This year's Spartan JV Team was the most successful in recent history. Playing to a 13-1 record, they even beat two varsity teams in hard-fought games, but suffered a two-point setback to Ben Lippen right after Christmas Break. Using multiple defenses, presses, and two motion/continuity offenses, the Spartans frustrated opponents night after night. Point guard Brandell McGill was adept at penetrating to the basket. Versatile Fitz Lewis could play inside or outside equally well. Freddie Manning, "the world's oldest JV player," was a good outside shot. Ron Hargette was a consistent scorer inside or outside. Butler was an effective three-point shooter. Joseph McIntosh was a steadying influence underneath. "The thing I am most proud of this season," said Coach Horn, "is the fact that even though we were down in several games, sometimes in double figures, the players never quit and came back to win close games." The Spartans showed will and determination in living up to their motto: "Our Game!" Winning awards were Fitz Lewis, MVP; Freddie Manning, Coach's award; and Landon McCall, MIP.

Coach's Award winner Jamie Cuppia gets his time as he crosses the line.

"We hated to see our season come to an end," said Coach John Heflin. "We had great fun going up against public and private schools." Inexperience was one obstacle to overcome. Several team members had never run cross-country before. Coach Heflin added that Assistant Coach Charles Jones figured prominently in the team's success. Award winners were Erich Weber, MVP; Andy Skach, Hustle Award; Will Coltharp, MIP; and Jamie Cuppia and Matt Gankosky, Coach's Award.

Senior Francis Aull usually finished among the top four CMA runners.

Eighth grader Nick Sochko is getting valuable experience for the years ahead.

Kyle Markey picks up the pace at the end. He showed great improvement over the season.

An experienced runner, Billy Orris has been a mainstay for the Spartans for several years.

Seventh grader David Lynch crosses the finish line.

Wrestling

The Spartan Wrestling Team started out strong with interest really high, until key injuries created holes in the line-up that younger wrestlers filled. "Since wrestling is probably the most difficult and arduous high school sport, pressure was on younger and inexperienced wrestlers to perform," said Coach Dority, "and they came through." CMA went up against some very strong teams, and several of the Spartans rose to the occasion. Coach Hewitt noted the contributions of the younger wrestlers: "The younger guys like Tim and Nick Leftwich, Damien Prince, Mark Krueger, and even some of the seventh and eighth graders got to see a lot of action and worked hard to improve their skills." Beating strong Indianland and North Central teams were the high points of the season. John Kohlhepp, Jorge Rosa, Matt Gankosky, and Brandon Yountz had outstanding seasons, winning most of their matches. Karl Kakadelis went 14-0 for a perfect record in 2002.

Flexible and Innovative

At Camden Military Academy an activity exists for virtually every taste or inclination. Our no-cut policy assures every cadet who wishes to participate a place on the athletic teams of his choice. Moreover, intramural sports during activity period provide opportunities for cadets of all skill levels. Choices include flag football, frisbee, pushball, basketball, weightlifting, bowling, soccer, martial arts, lacrosse, and swimming. The yearbook and newspaper staffs provide outlets for those cadets with literary inclinations. Delta Kappa Sigma, the CMA Honor Society, and Junior Leadership recognize campus leaders, shaping and using their abilities in effective ways. The Academy continues its relationship with the Kershaw County Fine Arts Center, which includes programs at the center and on campus. Numerous off campus trips are both educational and entertaining. Flexible and innovative, the CMA Activities Program provides recreational opportunities for all cadets. These activities afford a constructive diversion from the classroom and at the same time open new avenues for learning and for exploring new areas of interest.

Proven Ingredients

Producing students who can succeed in college level studies, in other post-secondary career pursuits, and in meeting the usual challenges of life is the overall academic goal of Camden Military Academy. In achieving that goal, the Academy uses approaches that have proven efficacious in the past and introduces new elements when they have a perceived high level of reliability. For example, the teaching of Latin has for centuries bolstered the study of the English language and, indeed, the study of all the Romance languages, as well as world and western history. Next year the Academy will offer three levels of Latin, two more than it currently provides. Each year sees more computers and computer applications in the curriculum-methodology mix. Also in the offing second semester next year are college-credit courses in English, history and mathematics. Small classes, highly qualified, teachers, and monitored study halls, all proven ingredients, will remain at the core of the Academy academic system; but we will continuously evaluate our curriculum and methods to determine the most effective ways to help our young men learn.

Having served as academic dean for sixteen years, LTC Kelly R. Schrader brings to that position the insight of an overall twenty-two years of experience at Camden Military Academy. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of South Carolina.

Major Dave LePage explains a chemistry problem to seniors Al Hardin, Bryan Hancock and Ken Harrington. MAJ LePage is a science instructor, head of the Science Department, and assistant academic dean. In addition, he controls the CMA computerized grading system, inputting and accessing all data.

LTC W. C. Mobley heads the Social Studies Department and teaches history. He also coaches varsity football and accompanies cadets on trips to historic locales, where he provides them with insights into our nation's history.

Head of the Foreign Language Department, LTC Mohsen Ferjani is a popular instructor of French. He also coaches bowling and sponsors both the International Club and the Dance Committee.

Mathematics instructor and head of the Mathematics Department, LTC Dave Roberts coaches varsity football and baseball in addition to his classroom duties.

MAJ Deborah Hartley teaches English and heads the Effective Learning Program, and she is always available to any cadets who seek her out. Known for her understanding manner, she can be very firm in matters of character and responsibility.

Individual Importance

Everyone is significant to the whole academic program. As we have grown as a school, we have made the continued individualization of the academic experience paramount. Whether there are 200 or 300 cadets, each one is important and deserving of our best efforts and attention. It is the goal of every instructor, TAC, support person, and administrator to insure that we continue to provide opportunity for the best educational experience and, upon graduation, to present all possible options for lifetime success. As the class of 2002 joins the ranks of Camden alumni, we wish each one of them the best in everything.

LTC Kelly R. Schrader
Academic Dean

LTC Greg Simonson, longtime biology instructor, brings enthusiasm and a thorough knowledge of his subject to his classes. His other duties include directing student activities after school.

A CMA alumnus and UNC graduate, Major Will Rice teaches social studies. In addition, he coaches football and baseball.

CPT Samuel Cerezo, Spanish instructor, is known for his long assignments and rigorous tests. He also sponsors the International Club and coordinates intramural sports.

MAJ Ron Horn, social studies instructor, brings both knowledge and discipline to his classes. In addition, he coached the JV Basketball Team to its best season in many years.

Nearing completion of his Ph.D. in ancient history, CPT James Fitzpatrick is thoroughly prepared to teach Latin and AP History. He will be teaching three levels of Latin next year, two more than presently offered.

Chaplain (Major) Ed Westbury helps cadets in several roles: as pastor, counselor, and history instructor.

LTC Tom Austin maintains firm discipline in his mathematics classes, but it is accompanied by sound knowledge, thorough preparation, and genuine concern for his students. He also coaches football.

LCDR Doug Marsden, English instructor, holds a bachelor's degree from Mercer and a master's from the Naval Postgraduate School.

A talented musician and bandmaster, SFC David Green brings many years of experience to his position. He encourages interest in a variety of music, jazz as well as the stricter disciplines.

A highly effective teacher of world history and government, CPT Thane Maness is also an outstanding baseball coach.

LTC Robert Thorp, computer science instructor, directs the computer laboratory, performs his duties as school counselor, and runs the CMA Merit System, all in an excellent manner.

A versatile and stimulating science teacher, MSG Tom Hewitt also coaches the highly successful CMA wrestling and soccer teams.

Mrs. Melinda Kane, CMA librarian, checks out books to Cadets Ernest Mungo and Robert Bellows. In recent years Mrs. Kane has totally reorganized the library utilizing the latest computer technology.

A College of Charleston graduate, CPT Bob Whitmire is also a CMA alumnus. In addition to his duties as a Spanish instructor, CPT Whitmire coaches football and golf.

Captain Ed Porter, an experienced mathematics teacher, also provides many years of acquired expertise to the varsity football program.

CPT Ricardo Priester, mathematics and science instructor, played basketball at Wingate University. A CMA alumnus, he is in his second year as head coach of the varsity basketball team.

A former manager of the University of South Carolina Basketball Team, CPT John Heflin, social studies instructor, also coaches basketball and cross-country.

A University of South Carolina graduate, CPT Chris Watson teaches mathematics and coaches football. He is a 1984 CMA alumnus.

Academics in Action

Danieve Harper, Hans Birnrich, and BJ Carney put the finishing touches on their rockets in the chemistry lab.

He descended from the sky and made a perfect landing on the football field. Science teacher, coach, skydiver, and snakehandler, MSG Tom Hewitt is truly a man for all seasons.

At a certain time of year the unmistakable odor of formaldehyde fills the halls of the Academic Building. Senior scientists learn anatomy by cutting up cats. On the left: Woodard, Eyoum-diedo, Thompson, Ardoline. On the right: Aull, Rooney, Dagley, Kohnke, Paris

Mrs. Sharon Schrader, reading instructor, teaches students from the seventh to the twelfth grade. The reading program, which involves computer testing, reaches all CMA students at one time or another and has been highly effective in increasing interest in reading and in improving reading skills.

To right the unrightable wrong;

To be better by far than you are,
To try when your arms are too weary,
To reach the unreachable star.

Michael,

Your sincerity, wisdom, and kind-heartedness surpass that of some individuals whose lives are almost over; yet yours is just beginning. Be mindful of these wonderful attributes as you begin the next segment of a journey that, no doubt, will positively impact not only your life but the lives of others. The pride we feel for you comes not from natural instinct but from the things you have accomplished in your life thus far and the way you have always conducted yourself. Continue on this path that exemplifies dignity, truth, and honor knowing our love and support will forever be.

Mom, Dad, and Meredith

*Matt,
 To a son that a mother and father can be very proud of! You have come a long way and can do anything you put your mind to. Always keep that unselfish attitude and childlike humor. May God Bless you and watch over you.*

Love Mom and Dad

Dan,

We hope you know how proud we are of you. Your senior year at CMA has provided you an opportunity to be successful. Your willingness to uproot yourself from family and friends was a difficult decision, but an admirable one. You are to be commended for paving the way toward a bright future. We knew you had the potential, but you alone made it happen.

The future will continue to offer you a variety of opportunities . . . choose them wisely. You are an impressive, bright, young man; you've enlightened our lives more than you could know.

We love you very much,
Mom & Dad

Neil Gareth Hartze

Neil, on the day that you were born and the nurses placed you in my arms, I loved you and realized just how perfect and special you were. I realize just how difficult the past four years have been for you. I am so very proud of you and all that you have accomplished at CMA. Continue to work hard and apply yourself. Dream, plan, and set goals, for you and you alone hold the ticket to your future. May all your hopes and dreams come true. I only wish you much love, happiness, and success in the coming years. I love you, Neil, with all my heart.

My love forever,
Mummy

We are proud of the choices you have made and wish you the best as you begin your next adventure. Love, Michelle & Dan Josh, Congratulations, my son! I'm so proud of you and of your accomplishments on your journey towards adulthood. As you follow your dreams into new and unfamiliar territories, I wish you the courage to question and the wisdom to always seek God's guidance first. I love you always, Mom.

Congratulations, Josh! You've taken impressive steps towards manhood, towards discovering God's plan for your life, towards finding out who you really are. Carpe Diem! You have! I'm very proud to be your grandmother. Love, Granny

Coming soon to a town near you...

"The Pope!"

James,

You have the ability to attain whatever you seek;
within you is every potential you can imagine.
Always aim higher than you believe you can reach.
So often, you'll discover that when your talents are set free by your imagination, you can achieve any goal.
If people offer their help or wisdom as you go through life, accept it gratefully.

You can learn much from those who have gone before you.
Never be afraid or hesitant to step off the accepted path and head in your own direction if your heart tells you that it's the right way for you.

Always believe that you will ultimately succeed at whatever you do, and never forget the value of persistence, discipline, and determination.

You are meant to be whatever you dream of becoming.

With Love, Your Family

- Edmund O'Neill

Clint "Clyde Claude" Clemens,
We are so proud of you! You have just reached a major goal. Now what? Set your goals, make your plans, and then watch all of your dreams come true.
These are our wishes for you!
Love and Hugs,
Dad and Bev.

We can but imagine all it took to get it done.

The sacrifice you made until the prize, at last, was won.

We share the joy that you must feel at having seen it through.

Now share just one more thing...
how very proud
we are of you.

The road to success is not straight.
 There is a curve called failure,
 A loop called confusion,
 Speed bumps called friends,
 Red lights called enemies,
 Caution lights called family.
 You will have flats called jobs.
 But if you have a spare called determination,
 An engine called perseverance,
 Insurance called faith,
 A driver called Jesus,
 You will make it to a place called success!

Colby,
 It seems like yesterday you were just a baby. Time has passed so quickly, and now you are graduating. You have given us many memories we will cherish forever. Your life is just beginning, and you have so many opportunities ahead. As you take the next step in life, always be true to yourself and others; hold your head up high; and live a life of honesty and integrity. Whatever you do and wherever you go, always look to God for guidance. Remember that we will always love you and will always be here for you, and we are very proud of you.

Stephen,
My, how you have grown since that first day we laid eyes on you. We had no idea 18 years ago what was ahead of us, and now you face that same thing. Your life is before you, and it holds so many possibilities. We know you are capable of accomplishing so much and being everything you want to be. As you go from graduation day and move to the next phase of life, our love and support go with you. Always rely on God for guidance; for in Him you will find the answers for your life, and never forget the value of your family's love. We are very proud of you.

Dear Stephen,
 It seems like yesterday that I was finally getting my very own little brother. You were my pride and joy. I wanted to spend every minute with you, showing you off to all my friends. I am so thankful that God blessed me with such a loving brother. Jason and I have enjoyed watching you grow up, and we look forward to standing by you as you begin your future. Always remember that with God as your guide and with your family by your side, you can accomplish anything. I love you with all of my heart.

Dear Colby,
 It seems like only yesterday I was anxiously awaiting my new little brother. You were the most precious little baby boy, and as you have grown, your sense of humor and your adorable personality have added so much to our family. Jason and I have enjoyed watching you mature into a wonderful young man, and we know that you will continue on a path that will truly make you successful. Always remember to look to God first and follow Him in all that you do. We love and we are very proud of you.

“Refuse to allow yourself to have low expectations about what you are capable of creating. As Michaelangelo suggested, the greatest danger is not that your hopes are too high and you will fail to reach them; but that they are too low and you do. Have within you an imaginary candle flame that burns brightly, regardless of what goes before you. Let this inner flame represent for you the idea that you are capable of manifesting miracles in your life.”
