Camden Military Academy
Camden, SC 29020 Volume 46

Colonel Eric Boland, Headmaster

Camden Military Academy is widely acknowledged as one of the leading military schools in the United States. The State Legislature has designated our school the Military Academy of South Carolina, and we strive constantly to uphold the high standards that our position implies. We seek young men of good character who want academic help, and we have been successful in attracting them. At the beginning of second semester, we are at full enrollment and have a waiting list. We could very well have been full at this term's opening, but we are highly selective in our admissions policies. Our academy continues to have a broad appeal among parents who want a military preparatory school education for their sons.

As a military institution, we have consistently maintained high standards. For over thirty years, our JROTC Unit has been designated "Honor Unit with Distinction." This year the Cadet Corps scored 98.5 on its annual inspection by the Department of the Army. Much credit is due to our commandant LTC C. H. Armstrong, his able staff of tactical officers, the cadet chain of command, and all our cadets who have worked diligently to achieve this recognition and high status.

I credit our new schedule of drill three times a week in the morning and physical training on the two alternate days with improvement in our military proficiency and overall physical conditioning. Cadets get to drill 100% of the time when there is no conflict with athletic practices and other activities. Moreover, classroom alertness, general health, and esprit de corps show significant improvement.

LTC Will Rice, our new athletic director, is continuing the proud athletic tradition of our academy. Under his direction and with the assistance of his outstanding coaching staff, we are experiencing winning seasons in all the major sports. Our academy always fields highly competitive teams known for their hard play and sportsmanship.

I am very pleased with our academic program and the progress we are making in that area. I can say with great assurance that we have an outstanding faculty, for I have visited many other military schools and have had the opportunity to compare our staff with theirs. We are continuing to add AP and honors sections. In addition, for the first time on our campus we are offering college courses to qualified students. Under the supervision of our new academic dean, LTC Don Parrotte, cadets are taking courses online or by correspondence from such schools as the Universities of North Carolina and Georgia. Another innovation is our Junior High Summer Camp, which will introduce young men to our academy and all it has to offer.

We consider maintaining our physical plant of great importance. We have airconditioned our dining hall and will soon begin renovating the library interior to make it more user friendly. We are repaving areas behind the dining hall and installing many new windows. In the near future, we hope to begin renovating both the dining hall and the Carlisle House.

Our cadets will always be our primary concern. Camden Military Academy is an institution that provides a quality education for young men of character, and we are justly proud of our academic, military, and athletic traditions. Our principal goal is to have all students make the right decisions in all situations, whether they want to or not.

Honor

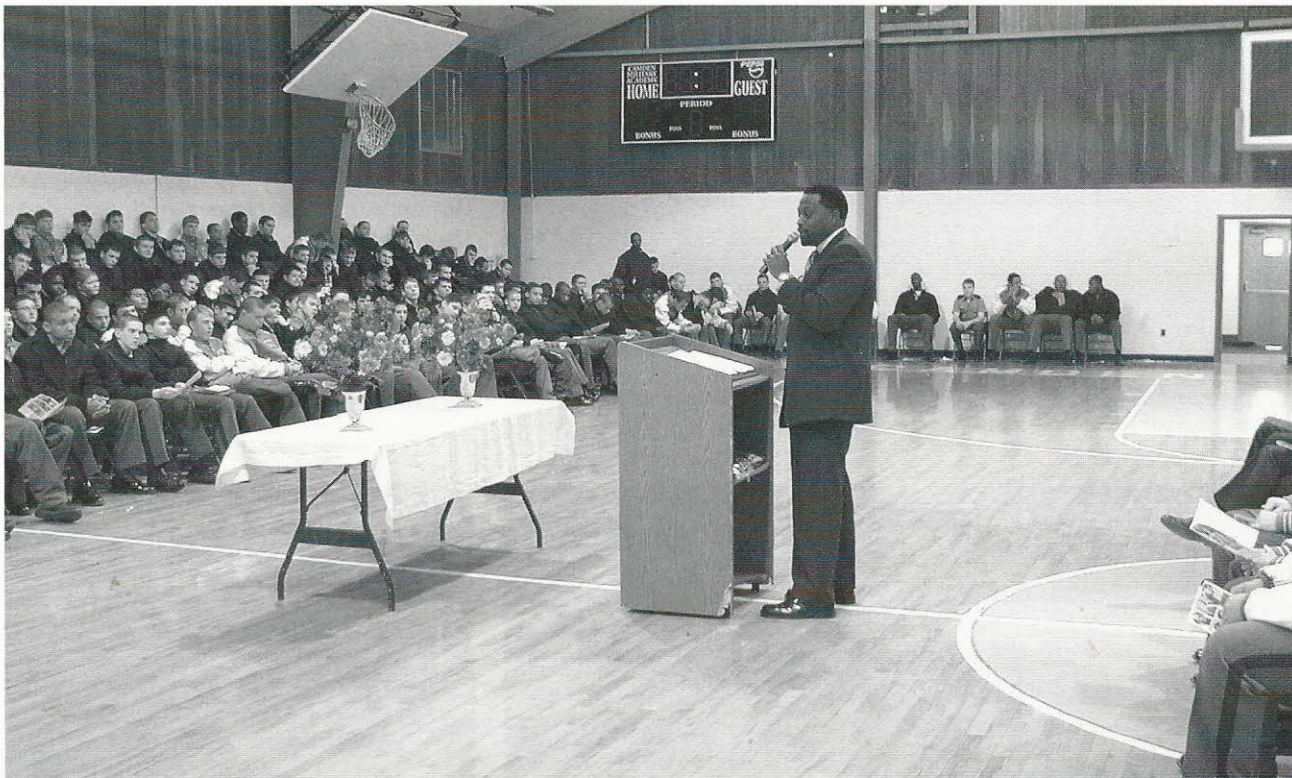

Proof that Camden Military Academy's Honor Code works is that infractions have decreased significantly since the system was installed. Honor, however, extends far beyond refraining from cheating in the classroom. It means keeping one's word and valuing the reputation one earns for doing so. It means preparing for class and being on time. It means leaving the property of others alone and returning lost property to its rightful owner. Most especially it means always acting in a way that will uphold the reputation of one's school, one's family and oneself. Honor pervades every aspect of a man's life. It defines who he is. Preserving that honor can bring rewards that last beyond a lifetime. Losing it can bring everlasting shame.

It's that time again, the beginning of a new school year. Second Lieutenant Nathaniel Adjei of C Company instructs new cadets in the rudiments of drill before entering the dining hall.

Cadets compliment Chaplain Westbury on his sermon at the Christmas Service on December 20. Carols were sung before and after the sermon; then everyone enjoyed refreshments.

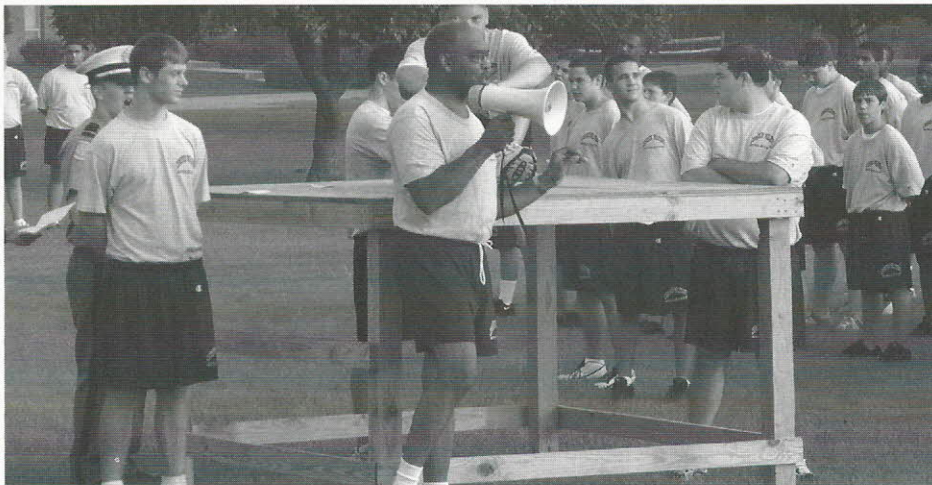

The keynote speaker for the Black History Month ceremony on February 5 was Dr. George Ashford II. He is a graduate of C. A. Johnson High School and received his bachelor of science degree in marketing from S. C. State University. He also holds a master of divinity degree from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta. He is presently senior pastor of Silver Hill Memorial United Methodist Church in Pickens, S. C. Dr. Ashford spoke of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s dream of a better world and urged cadets to aim high. He also invited them to join his ARA Club, which practices accountability, responsibility, and a proper attitude.

Ready for physical training, the battalion forms in front of the parade field before breakfast. 1LT Charles Hayes has Band and Staff Company at a modified position of attention.

CSM Martain explains the new physical training program and the initial exercises to the battalion. Members of the Battalion Staff stand by to assist.

CSM Martain has given the order to stand at ease and observe while 1LT Haley demonstrates the next exercise.

Physical Training

Something new is happening every Tuesday and Thursday morning at CMA. Cadets rise early and are on the parade ground by 0730 doing side straddle hops, deep knee bends, pushups, and other traditional military exercises. "This is a revival of something we used to do here a long time ago," explained CSM Rosvelt Martain. "We wanted to push the overall physical conditioning of the cadet corps to another level. We can already see improvement in self-esteem and esprit de corps, and we think that fewer cadets will show up at the infirmary in the long run. Also, the PT Program should have a positive effect on all sports. Cadets will be in much better shape than they would otherwise." Cadets end the morning sessions with a run.

The new schedule with classes beginning at 0930 accommodates both physical training and drill in the morning, leaving afternoons open for sports practices and intramural games. Teachers are unanimous in their assessment of of the PT Program's benefits. The vigorous exercises in the morning seem to make cadets more alert and attentive in the classroom. Also, they appear calmer and less likely to nod.

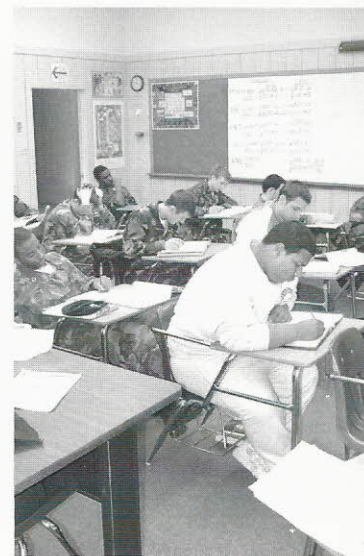

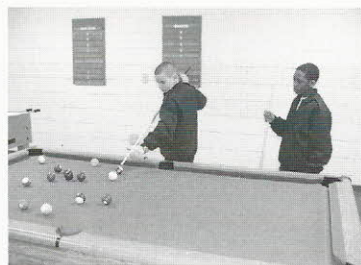

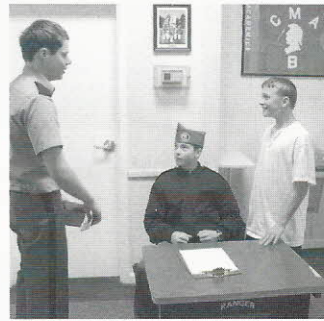

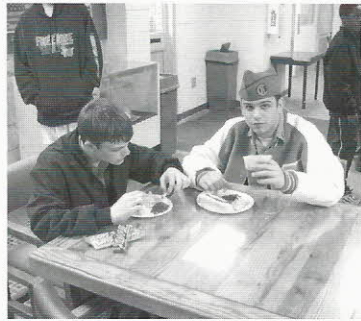

Like ducks in a row, Band and Staff cadets stretch their arms in unison, performing the turn and bounce exercise.

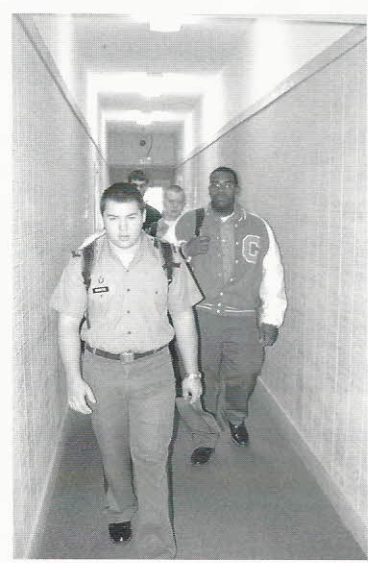

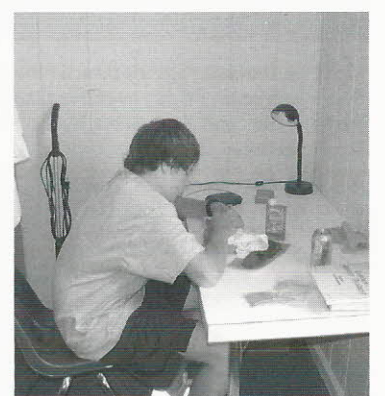

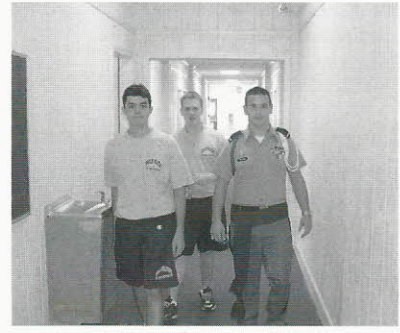

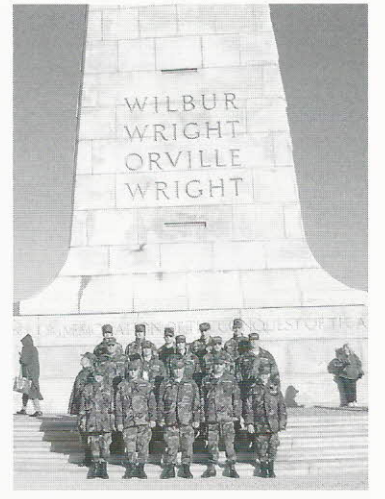

Up front are Cadets Desousa, Jordan, and Mchaffey as Delta Company does the bend and reach.

Bravo Company Tactical Officer CSM Irtenkauf leads the way as cadets complete the inaugural session of the physical training program with the morning run.

Homecoming

CSM Martain orchestrates the drill-down, a highlight of the day when Carlisle and Camden alumni test their skills and memory. The alumni always surprise cadets with such excellent showings so many years after military school.

2LT Lucas Parker leads Bravo Company Second Platoon by the reviewing stand during the parade honoring alumni and award winners.

Three generations are together at the alumni registration and reception at the Best Western on Friday evening: Cadet First Lieutenant Andrew Hempill, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hemphill, and his grandmother, Mrs. J. Banks Scarborough.

Registration continued at the Risher Administration Building on Saturday morning. Alumni were treated to refreshments before the parade.

Colonel Jim Braden, incoming Alumni Association president and a 1954 alumnus of Camden Military School, greeted alumni and visitors prior to the Awards Ceremony.

Among the award recipients was Lieutenant Colonel Charles Ray White, who received the Camden Military Academy Service Award. LTC White was honored for his service to CMA as commandant and assistant headmaster from 1968 to 1989.

In the reviewing stand are Colonel Eric Boland, headmaster, J. Banks Scarborough, chairman of the board, Colonel Lanning P. Risher, headmaster emeritus, Lieutenant Colonel Ray White, Charles E. Hughes, James S. duFief, Henry Moore, and Cam Walters Row 2: Lieutenant Colonel C. H. Armstrong, commandant, and Colonel Jim Bradin.

Colonel Eric Boland, headmaster, and outgoing Alumni Association President James duFief troop the line.

Camden Military Academy held its annual Homecoming on Friday and Saturday, October 31 and November 1, 2003. Friday featured golf in the morning and an alumni reception and registration in the evening at the Best Western in Lugoff. On Saturday there was another reception and continued registration in the Risher Administration Building, followed by a parade in honor of alumni and award recipients. The most important event of the weekend, the presentation of alumni awards, occurred in White Field House at noon. Charles E. Hughes, Jr., (CMA '61) and Walter K. Lunn (CMS '39) received the Alumni Achievement Award. Mr. Hughes is president and CEO of Florida Banks, Inc. A WWII veteran, Mr. Lunn has helped rehabilitate hundreds of alcoholics. Mr. duFief retired as a manager for the Washington, D. C., Gas and Light Company and served in the National Guard, retiring as a lieutenant colonel after 30 years. Lieutenant Colonel White was commandant and assistant headmaster of CMA from 1968 to 1989. Award presentations were followed by lunch at 1:00 P. M. and a football game at 2:00. The Spartans treated alumni to another homecoming victory.

After the parade the awards ceremony was held in White Field House.

The Spartan Football Team treated spectators to another exciting homecoming victory. Alumni thoroughly enjoyed themselves on an afternoon with perfect weather for football.

The post-game cookout attracted many alumni and family who stayed to watch Spartan football, a pleasant culmination of the weekend's activities.

People of Character

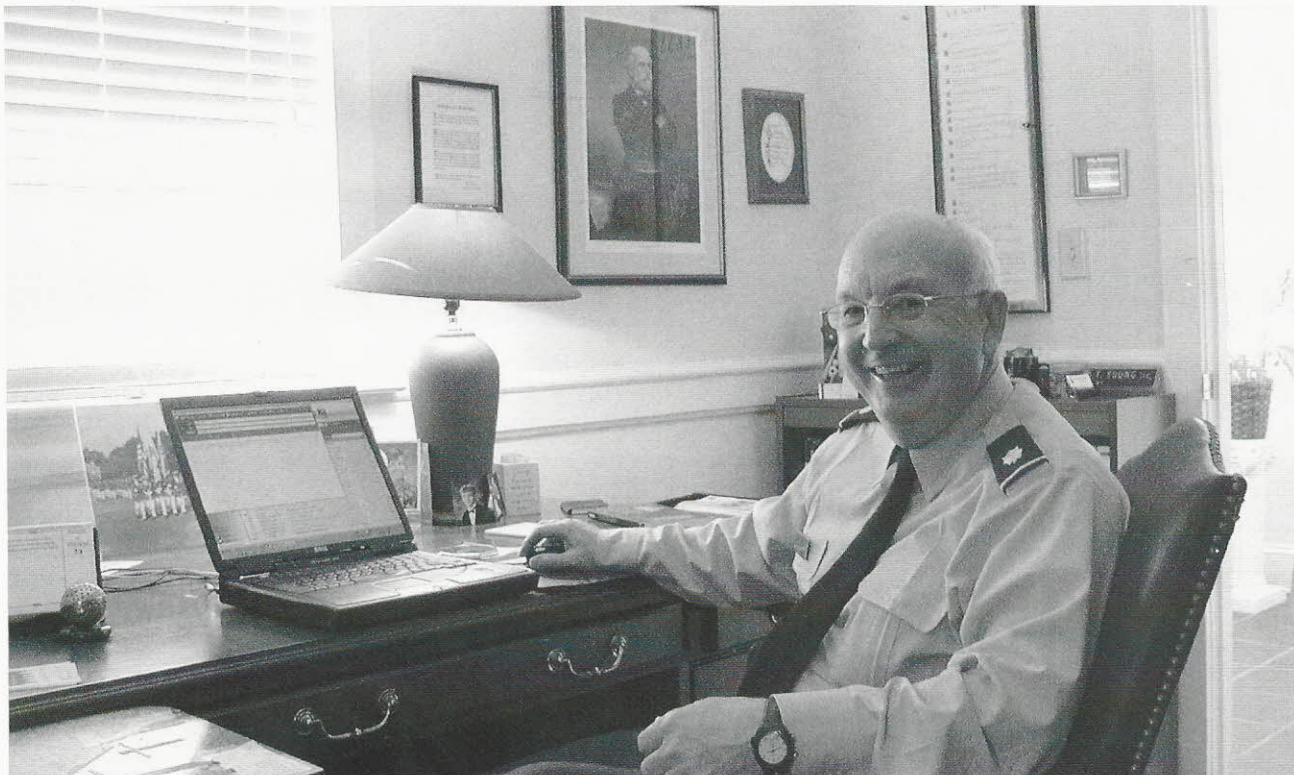

Camden Military Academy is blessed with a faculty and staff who are dedicated to their work, who truly care about the young men they serve. The Academy seems to attract men and women of character who are constantly aware of their positions as role models for the cadets they strive to prepare for life. Moreover, they do not shrink from these obligations; rather, they value them and take pride in their endeavors to build a better world for future generations.

Admissions Director Casey Robinson and his assistant Ed Black are the principal reasons for CMA's continued full enrollment. They are responsible for letting the public know the availability and benefits of the Academy. "We have begun directing our efforts into new territories: Lexington, Kentucky, Nashville, Tennessee, and Wilmington, North Carolina, for example," Mr. Robinson remarked. "We are also attending numerous school fairs in the Southeast, and plans for a summer camp are well under way."

LTC C. H. Armstrong, Commandant, is a West Point graduate and holds a master's degree from Pacific Lutheran University. The commandant is pleased with some current directions in leadership development among the cadet corps: "Cadets are much more involved in running the companies and the battalion. The PT Program has helped build cohesion and spirit. We are paying better attention to basic military school skills."

A VMI graduate, LTC Steve Young, Director of Development and Alumni Affairs, took his master's degree at the University of Missouri. He and his associate Diane Robinson reach out to our base of alumni, parents, and friends to provide them the opportunity to donate money and gifts of time or other products and items [gifts of kind] Camden can use. He clearly articulates the importance of philanthropic support and its role in a non-profit independent school and adds that all gifts are tax-deductible. Colonel Young noted: "We seek to increase our Annual Fund for scholarships each year and build endowment funds to help secure our future. Working together, we have great potential to make this happen--one gift at a time. He shared the way Emerson captured this feeling of helping others: "It is one of the most beautiful compensations of life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself."

Special Events

At the Flagpole: In an observance which has become a CMA tradition, CMA cadets gathered in prayer at the flagpole in September as an affirmation of their faith.

Patriot's Day: Led by Chaplain Westbury, we remembered the heroes of September 11 and prayed for those who died in New York, Washington, DC, and Pennsylvania.

Fall Sports Banquet: Fall sports athletes received well-deserved recognition for outstanding achievement. Varsity football players display their awards.

Ring Ceremony: Colonel Eric Boland, headmaster, congratulates Cadet Andrew Hemphill after he receives his ring in the November Ring Ceremony and joins a brotherhood extending back to 1892.

Christmas Service: The night before Christmas holidays began, Chaplain Westbury delivered a sermon on the humble birth of Jesus. Led by Mr. Ray Hazelwood, we sang carols. Later we enjoyed refreshments and fellowship.

Martin Luther King, Jr.'s, Birthday: The Reverend Grant Leverett describe Dr. King's dream of equality for all and urged cadets to use their freedom an opportunity to find out who they really are and to develop their abilities to the utmost.

Wayne Kenneth Blackburn

In Memoriam

October 3, 1986 - July 5, 2003

On July 5, 2003, we lost our friend Wayne Blackburn. He would have walked with us across the stage this May to receive his diploma, to share the joy of accomplishment and the excitement of beginning a new phase of our lives. This was not to be. God had another plan. He claimed Wayne as his own, and we are left with our cherished memories. Wayne will always be a part of our lives, a treasured thread in the fabric of our experience at Camden Military Academy.

Since last July we have all had time to ponder and to share our thoughts about Wayne. He was a young man who left a lasting impression upon nearly everyone he met.

Wayne was a loyal friend and brother. He kept his word when he gave it, and he was a staunch ally in defense of those he loved. He was also a mentor to younger cadets and sought to guide them on the right path.

Wayne had a quick smile and a ready wit that invariably cheered those around him. Many enjoyed his easy humor and the pleasure of his company. His pleasant and persuasive manner contributed strongly to his ability to lead.

Wayne was a born leader. He was a free spirit with a passionate heart, a magnet for followers. As a junior he was a first sergeant and a second lieutenant and would have returned this year as Captain Wayne K. Blackburn, Commanding Officer of Band and Staff Company.

As we go forward from this year and this place, we will often return in mind and heart. We will remember the good friend with the bright smile and the flash in his eyes, the bugler of our sophomore year, the first sergeant and lieutenant of our junior year, the one from whom taking orders was more of a pleasure than a duty. We will always remember Wayne Blackburn.

Goodbye

I remember that lonely July day
my heart started to cry
as I heard taps play

We held our salutes high just as soldiers do before their final goodbye

I could remember all the times together the fun and the memories shared in my mind will last forever

There is so much I might say of all the love and friendship
but for now you have gone away

I am left with memories and love in my heart and soul
and thoughts of you above

And I remember this is not the end
It's just a little wait until we meet again

-Joshua Bumgarner

The words and thoughts in this memorial were contributed by the members of Band and Staff Company of the Camden Military Academy Cadet Corps and the Class of 2004. All extend their deepest sympathy to Wayne's family and friends and through their prayers invoke the blessings, sustenance, and healing hand of God.

"The Lord watches over you-- the Lord is the shade at your right hand;
the sun will not harm you by day
nor the moon by night.
The Lord will keep you from all harm-- he will watch over your life;
the Lord will watch over your coming and going, both now and forevermore."

-Psalm 121

Senior

The Battalion Staff is appointed by the commandant with recommendations by his staff and input from the faculty. Together with the company commanders, these seniors are our cadet military leaders: LTC Jonathan Garrett, Battalion Commander; 1LT Andrew Hemphill, S-5; 1LT Charles Hayes, S-4; 1LT Tim Leftwich, S-3; 1LT Brandon Haley, S-2; and 1LT James Moore, S-1.

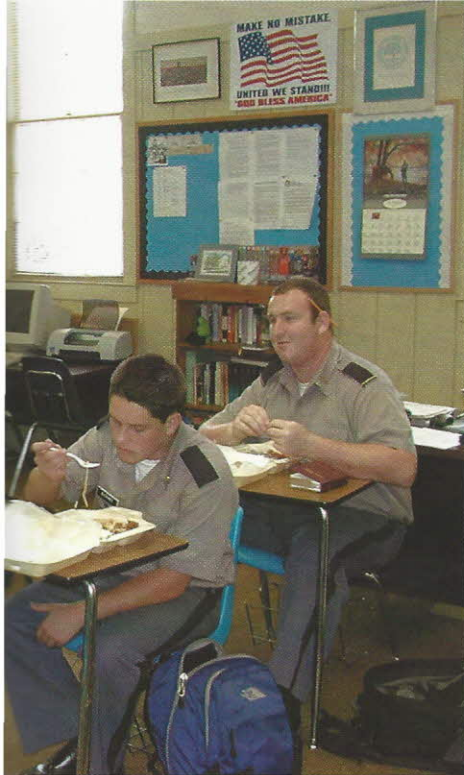

Jesus on Leadership teaches cadets to apply Christian principles in fulfilling their roles as cadet leaders. With Chaplain Westbury as their instructor, the group meets during lunch on designated days.

Junior Leadership is a county-wide, community-based organization that teaches leadership skills to high school students through formal training sessions and interaction with local business, industrial, and civic leaders. All this year's CMA members are seniors: Jonathan Garrett, Andrew Hemphill, James Moore, Ryan Hayden (not shown: Tim Leftwich).

Leadership

Delta Kappa Sigma, elected by the faculty, is the Camden Military Academy honor society. Its members are campus leaders and scholars: (L-R) Row 1: Ian Steigelman, Robert Adams Row 2: Jonathan Garrett, Brandon Haley, Wesley Osborne, Tim Leftwich Row 3: James Moore, Matt Miller, Logan Rostmeyer (jr.) Row 4: Ryan Hayden, Joseph Grubb, Joshua Bumgarner (soph.), MAJ Bob Whitmire, sponsor.

The Honor Council is composed of the battalion commander and all company commanders. They hear cases involving serious infractions of the Camden Military Academy Honor Code: CPT Eric Steigelman, A Company; LTC Jonathan Garrett, Battalion Commander, CPT Welsey Osborne, C Company; CPT Alessandro Pasut, B Company; CPT Ryan Hayden, Band and Staff Company (not shown: CPT Ernest Mungo, D Company).

Nurse Debbie Anderson discusses medical records with Cadet David Huff and his mother during registration at the beginning of the school term.

Strep throat? Nurse Denise Miles trains her practiced eyes on the tonsils of Cadet Mark Zamora. She and other medical staff do an outstanding job of caring for the cadet corps.

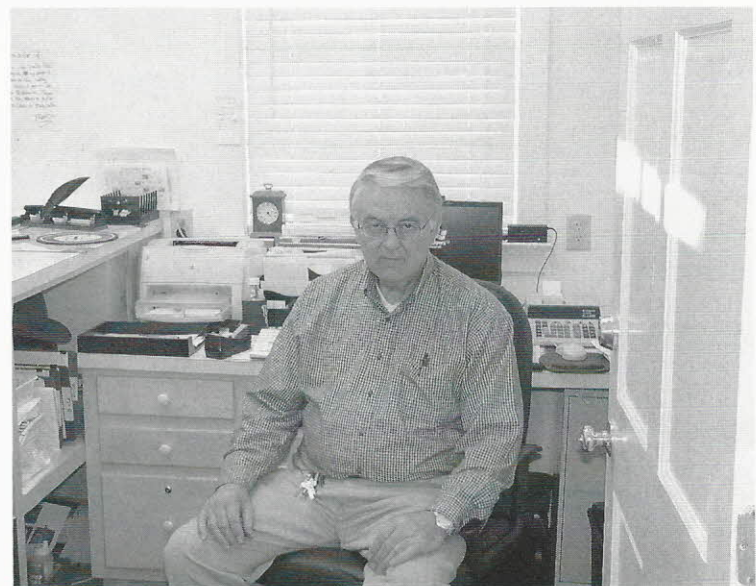

Diane Robinson, Annual Fund Coordinator, pins a corsage on Mrs. Walter Lunn, whose husband (right) received this year's Alumni Achievement Award. At the end are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, Jr. Mr Hughes was co-recipient of the award.

A welcome addition to the staff this year is Kathy Jo Bratton, athletic trainer. After six years at Camden High School, she has brought her skills to CMA, where she treats all sports injuries and works with coaches on prevention.

LTC Robert Thorp, Operations Officer, discusses daily affairs with Cadet Chris Desouza. LTC Thorp is also SAT preparations instructor and guidance counselor.

Jerry Baker, Cadet Corps Paymaster, is a man cadets always like to see. He dispenses allowances and keeps records of cadet accounts.

The Military Mission

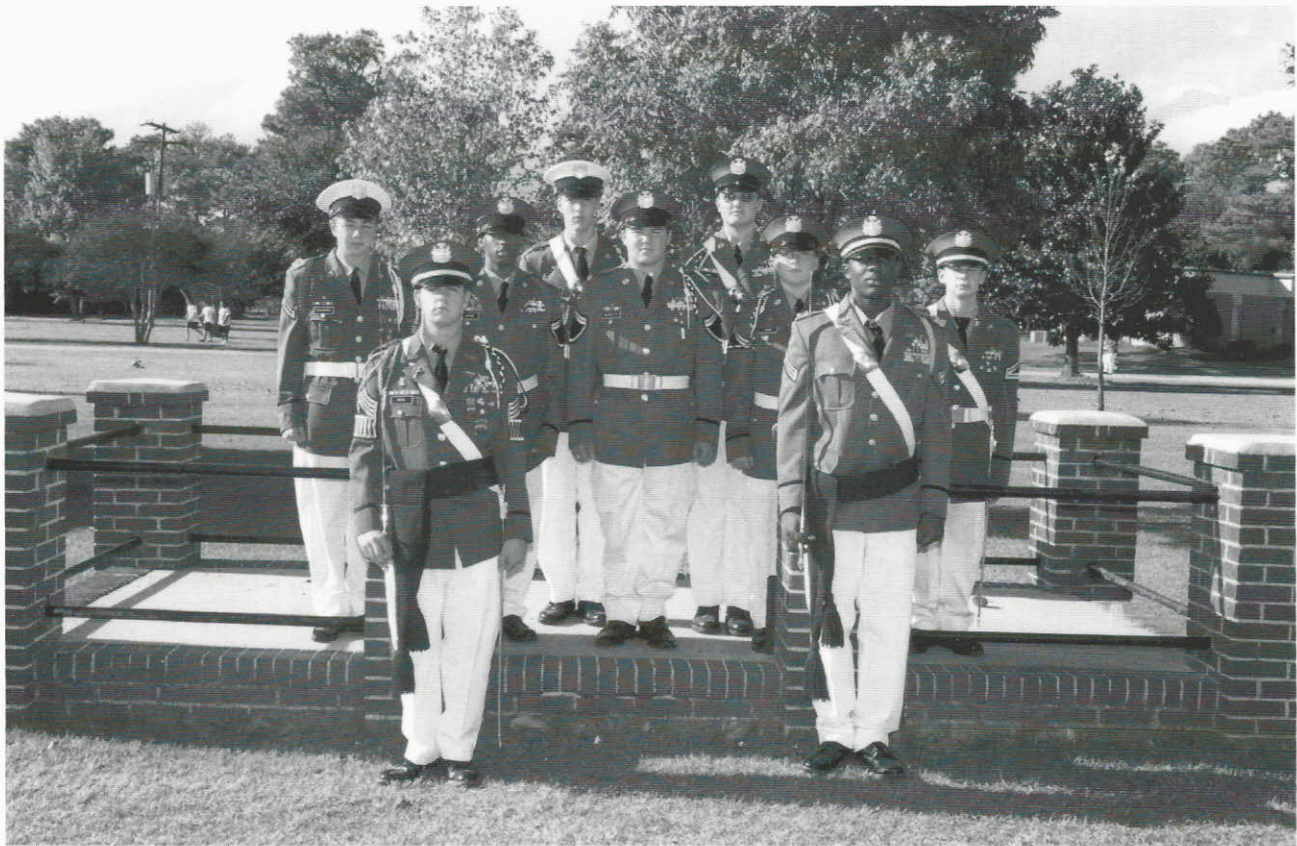

Two years ago the South Carolina State Legislature officially designated Camden Military Academy as the Military Academy of South Carolina. The State of South Carolina has a long military tradition extending back to early colonial days when it was divided into military districts, each headed by a captain, for defense against hostile Indians and Spanish incursions from the south. Military training and education have always been important in South Carolina. Continuing that proud tradition, Camden Military Academy has established itself as the leading secondary military school in the United States. Our reputation attracts students from all over the nation and many parts of the world. For over thirty years our JROTC Unit has been designated "Honor Unit with Distinction" by the United States Army. We graduate young men prepared to succeed in a highly competitive environment. Our alumni are leaders in every stratum of society. Military education is a valuable complement to the classroom, instilling discipline, order, teamwork, and self-respect. It completes the molding of the whole man.

The mission of CMA's Department of Tactics is to develop in the Cadet Corps qualities of leadership with emphasis on duty, integrity, morality, and self-discipline. Following a strict military regimen, cadets develop a deep sense of duty and obligation that motivates them and teaches them the responsibility necessary to meet future challenges. The process of developing a sense of duty comes from creating an environment that makes clear to cadets what is expected of them, fosters progressive growth and maturity, and exposes them to role models who demonstrate exemplary and mature commitment. Our goal is to build better Americans and in the process create a nurturing environment in which all cadets can grow and develop into outstanding young men.

The CMA Color Guard is under the command of 2LT Robert Erikson.

Continuing a tradition of many years, the CMA Cadet Corps was the featured military marching unit in the annual Camden Christmas Parade on December 20. The cold, slightly overcast morning provided an appropriate setting for the event. LTC Jonathan Garrett, battalion commander, 1LT Joshua Davidian, 1LT Brandon Haley, 1LT Timothy Leftwich, and 1LT Andrew Hemphill lead the corps down Broad Street.

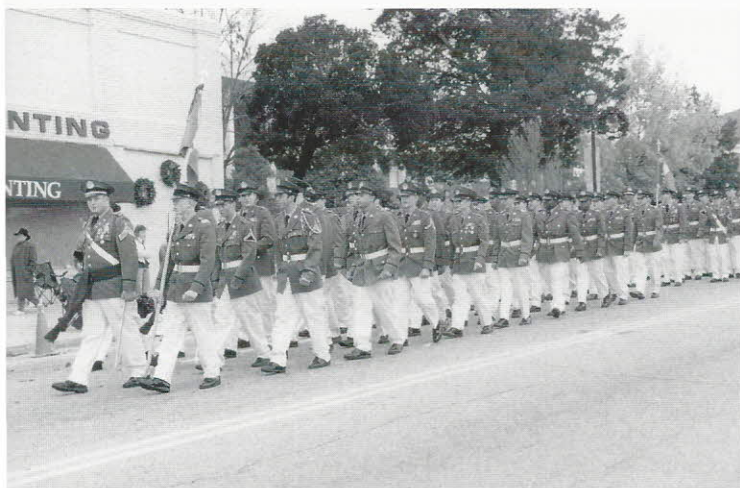

Waiting for the column to get moving are MH Malave, MC Joyce Row 2: AL Celerio, JC Deckard, TM Latham, and JC Ferguson.

CPT Earnest Mungo and Guidon Guy Jones lead the way for Delta Company.

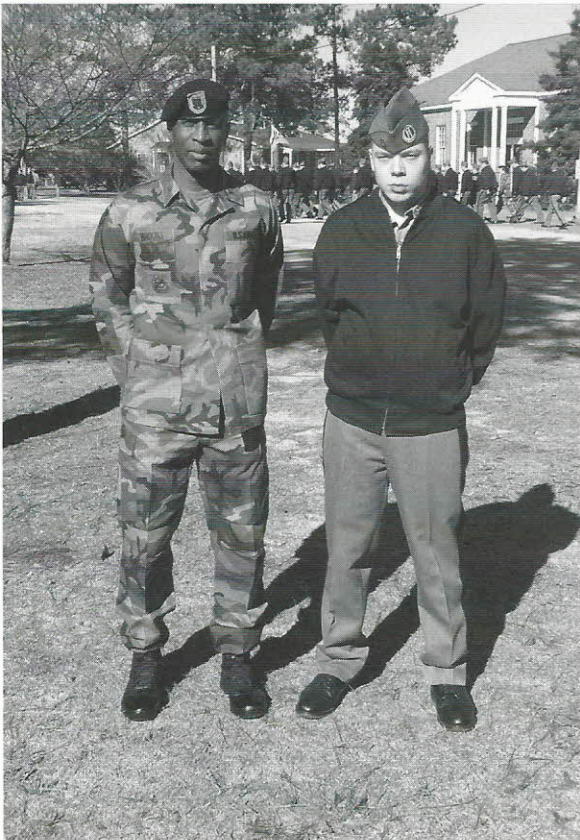

A Company

Discipline, Dedication, and Determination

The main goal of Alpha is to show the other companies who the best really is. "We are disciplined, dedicated, and determined to demonstrate our superior performance, not that we are better individuals, but we are a united family, keeping it thorough," said Company Commander Ian Steigleman. CSM Brooks, tactical officer, believes that improvement is a gradual process: "We improve on things a little at a time and keep getting better." In Alpha everybody helps one another. The older cadets help the younger ones, and everyone tries to learn from mistakes. Other Alpha goals continue to be excellent grades, high study hall ratings, keeping the barracks clean, winning military competitions, and participating in athletics. By excelling in all areas, A Company strives to retain the Honor Company Title.

In the third year of use Scarborough Barracks is still kept Spartan clean and looking like new. The high standards of CSM Irtenkauf, tactical officer, and CPT Rocky Pasut, company commander keep Bravo Company living quarters in top condition, and the standards extend to all other areas as well. "Of course we want to win Honor Company," said CPT Pasut, "but as long as our boys participate, try hard, and stay certified, that satisfies me. Honors will come if we stay focused." Several positive trends stand out in Bravo this year. Much more respect is given. The NCOs listen well and carry out orders promptly. "This year has been much better than the past few," CPT Pasut continued. The chain of command is performing well. Bravo is destined to have a great year."

We are striving to be Honor Company," said Charlie Company Commander Wesley Osborne, "and we have come a long way since the beginning of the year. But we really focus on all aspects of the cadet experience. If we are good all around, then we will be Honor Company." Charlie Company cadets are a well-rounded group. They have a high overall GPA, and they are good athletes. Leadership is also a strong asset in Charlie. "We have a competent and effective chain of command, and CSM Stokes is an outstanding tac officer who backs us to the hilt as long as we are right," observed CPT Osborne. Charlie also emphasizes self-respect and respect for others. The company's focus on developing the whole man is a sure path toward securing the Honor Company title.

The First and Best

In its fourth year of existence, Delta Company has earned a respected place for itself in the battalion. No longer the newcomer, Delta was Honor Company both semesters last year and is the company to beat in 2004. "We are going to continue to build on the esprit de corps, morale, and discipline that we have become known for," observed CSM Samuel Colter, tactical officer. Delta rates high in SMIs, GPAs, and athletic participation. Company Commander Jay Mungo expressed the competitive spirit of Delta: "We are the best there is, the best there was, and the best there ever will be." The company's main goals for the remainder of the year are to retain the Honor Company title and achieve outstanding academics.

Band & Staff Company

To Be the Best

To become Honor Company is Band and Staff Company's major goal, but they focus on the whole picture. They try to be the best in drill, academics, athletic participation, and on the parade field. The company has a large number of younger cadets; therefore, they emphasize developing good study habits, learning courtesy and respect, understanding the give and take of military life, and participating in athletics to build strong bodies and maintain overall good health. Band and Staff cadets attribute most of the success of the company to SGM Greene, their tactical officer. "He is an asset to our company; he helps out the chain of command and teaches us valuable qualities for the future," said CPT Ryan Hayden, company commander. Band and Staff cadets set positive goals and accomplish them.

Athletic Director Will Rice

A 1989 alumnus of Camden Military Academy, new Athletic Director Will Rice received his B. A. degree from the University of North Carolina. He returned to CMA in the summer of 1994 and has risen steadily in his profession. At the beginning of this school term, Lieutenant Colonel Rice was named Athletic Director and Head Football Coach. A social studies teacher in the classroom, on the athletic fields he coached defensive backs on the varsity football team for seven years, served as defensive coordinator for two years, and was head coach of the Junior High Football Team for four years. In his first season as head varsity football coach, he guided the Spartans to a winning season and has seen a similar measure of success in all other CMA sports. "We have a thriving program, and I want to continue the tradition, keep what Coach Boland started and build upon it," Coach Rice commented. He believes also that he has a highly qualified staff to help him accomplish his goals: "All of our coaches do an outstanding job. We have the best coaches around, on and off the field." LTC Rice envisions a bright future for CMA athletics.

Varsity Football

"I'm very proud of this team," said Coach Rice. "They worked hard, improved throughout the season, and finished very strong against West Brunswick, proving how far we had come." Ending with a 6-3 record, the Spartans opened 38-0 against Crossroads, then lost two hard-fought contests against West Brunswick and Charlotte Country Day. They bounced back against Elloree, losing only a 42-38 squeaker against Weddington down the stretch. "The key to our success toward the end of the season," Coach Rice observed, "was our offensive line. They really came together."

Omar Kilgore amassed over 1,500 yards running in only seven games. Joe Miller, Michael Lamb, and Arkell Dennis were solid on defense. Xavier Littleberry played well at tight end, and Zack Anderson was a hard-hitting linebacker. Making few mistakes, Charles Harrington was reliable at quarterback. He had three touchdown passes of over fifty yards. All Spartan players made important contributions and share credit for the winning season.

Small in numbers but large in heart, the JV Football Team was a hardworking, dedicated handful of players who met the coaches' challenge of committing themselves to the season. Over 50 cadets tried out, but in the end only 18 faced the difficult schedule. To the coaches the season highlights were watching the players' enjoyment in playing football and their improvement from game to game. Bowling

In the Young American Bowlers Alliance CMA bowlers must complete 21 practice games to qualify for league and state competition. They play at the local lanes every Wednesday polishing their skills and hope to be in the state tournament this year. "We have a fine group of players this season," observed Coach Ferjani. "They work hard and have a good time. It is an enjoyable experience for everyone involved." High scorers on the team are Chris Wetmore, Brian Czech (captain), Kyle Gilman, and Logan Rostmeyer.

Cross-country

"We Run through the Woods"

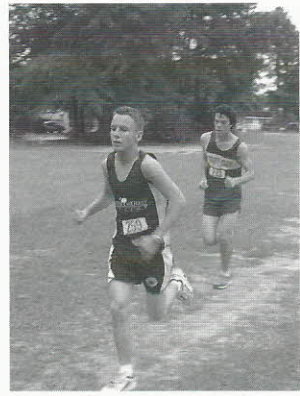

Coach Heflin and his runners took the cross-country team to new heights this year. They raised the bar with wins over such 4A programs as Hartsville and 3A Lugoff-Elgin and Eau Claire. The Spartans opened with a 3rd place finish at SCISA champion Ben Lippen. After victories over Hartsville, L-E, and Lakewood, the team went to Wilson Hall. "We always look forward to that meet," Coach Heflin said. "Our theme this year was, 'We run through the woods.' Wilson Hall runs its meets on a farm and is a very tough course." Cole Kenworthy, Chad Henry, and Carter Langlo led the Spartans. Josh Davidian, Jonathan Garrett, Michael Wooditch and Craig Phillips, often a top three finisher, came through several times, providing crucial points. Brian Czech was always dependable, with first-time runners Bobby Bellows, Sam Geigler, Brian Wood, Andrew Smith, Nate Phillips, Adam Lazaras, and Craig Barker all contributing to team success. "We have built a solid foundation," said the coach. "When teams go up against CMA next year, they will know that they will really have to run through the woods."

Basketball

The Spartan basketball season recorded yet another winning season in 2004. "We played well," said Coach Johnson. "We were not a great team, but we were very competitive; we had the will to win. We were a very good defensive team when we put our minds to it and worked hard." A strength of the Spartans this season seemed to be tournament play. They successfully defended their title in the North Central Invitational Tournament with wins over Darlington High, Lugoff-Elgin, and Fairfield Central. They also won the Augusta Christian Invitational Tournament in Augusta, Georgia. Tournament success has showcased CMA basketball and the talents of the players. The theme of this year's team was "One Heart Beat." Over the past four years coaches have encouraged a "put God first" attitude, instilling moral values, building character, and emphasizing to players that there is life beyond basketball. One conspicuous result of the program has been that during this time period 11 CMA players have earned college basketball scholarships.

JV Basketball

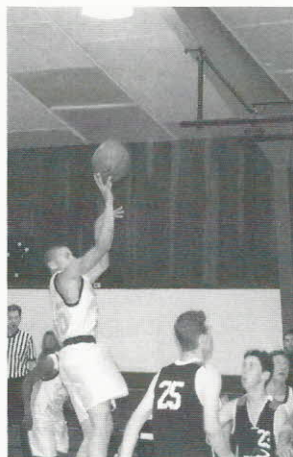

Playing one of its most difficult schedules ever, the JV Spartans completed their fifth winning season in a row. Their forte was strong pressure defense, which helped earn them quality wins over Marlboro County, Laurens Charter, and the Australian Touring Team. As in past years, Coach Horn's goal for the season was for the players to learn fundamental team concepts while conducting themselves with character both on and off the court. Key contributors were Lance Jordan, Thomas Tannenbaum, Logan Rostmeyer, Trevor Babcock, and Morgan Johnson at guards with Travis Isaacs, Isaiah Campbell, Jahmal Holmes and Taylor McClure playing "big" in the front court. Chris Desouza, Xavier Valentin, and Joseph Satterfield provided strong support off the bench.

JR HI Basketball

The Junior High Basketball Team opened their season 2-0 then faced tough going before coming together at the end of the season. "This is my first season coaching," said Coach Jason Drakeford. "It has been a learning experience for both me and them, and an enjoyable one. These young men are working hard, having fun on the court, and learning valuable skills that will prepare them for the next level." The Spartans fast paced offense was led by point guard Emmanuel Nsien, an accomplished ball handler and shooter, with able support from starters Clement, Forcier, Malave, and Rodgers. Wrestling

"Going into our final match, we were 18-6, the most wins ever by the Varsity Wrestling Team," said Coach Hewitt. "We won all of our matches against 4A schools, certainly a highlight of the season." Unbeaten were Chris Wetmore (27-0) and Clint Degain (19-0). Ryan Hayden followed impressively at 25-2. Seniors Jason Deckard, Tim Leftwich, and Josh Davidian also compiled outstanding records. Winning over half their matches were young wrestlers Nick Leftwich, Andy Smith, and Armando Celorio. William Stypick showed a winning spirit on the mat as well. The Spartans won trophies in two tournaments. Hayden, Wetmore, and Degain scored firsts in the Christ Church Tournament while Tim and Nick Leftwich took second. In the JV Tournament Andy Smith, Nick Leftwich, and William Stypick took first place medals. CMA closed the season with 25 wrestlers on the team, the most ever.

Participation

At Camden Military Academy every cadet participates in activities outside the classroom. Physical training and drill are required of all cadets. Moreover, our no-cut policy assures a place on the athletic teams of his choice for every cadet who wishes to participate. In addition, intramural sports during activity periods provide opportunities for cadets at all skill levels. Choices include flag football, frisbee, pushball, basketball, weightlifting, bowling, soccer, martial arts, lacrosse, and swimming. The yearbook and newspaper staffs provide outlets for those cadets with journalistic inclinations. Delta Kappa Sigma, the CMA honor society, and Junior Leadership recognize campus leaders, shaping and using their abilities in effective ways. The Academy continues its relationship with the Kershaw County Fine Arts Center, which includes programs at the center and on campus. Numerous off-campus trips are both educational and entertaining. Flexible and innovative, the CMA Activities Program provides recreational opportunities for all cadets. These activities afford a constructive diversion from the classroom and at the same time open new avenues for learning and for exploring new areas of interest.

Preparation for Life

The overall goal of CMA is to produce students who can succeed in college studies, in other post-secondary pursuits, and in meeting the usual challenges in life. To accomplish this goal, we mix the latest technology with proven traditional methods: small classes, highly qualified teachers, and monitored study halls. We continuously evaluate our curriculum and methods to determine the most effective ways to help our young men learn.

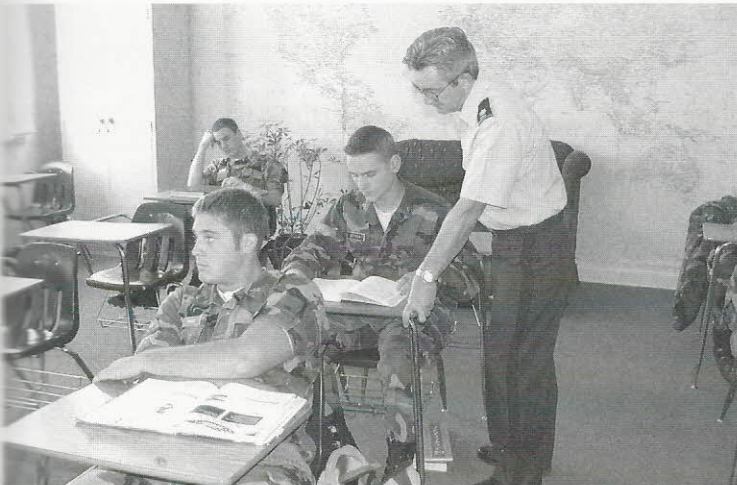

Lieutenant Colonel Don Parrotte

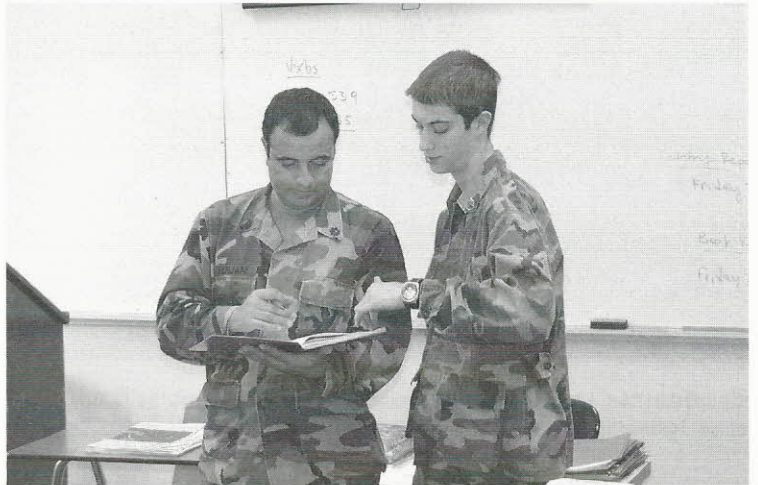

New Academic Dean Don Parrotte comes to CMA from Oak Ridge Military Academy, where he served as dean for eight years. He received his B. A. degree in English from Alliance College, his M. A. in English from the University of Alabama, and his ABD from Auburn University, where he was head of the Conferences and Special Courses Department for 17 years. Dean Parrotte has also served as headmaster of two private schools, at which he coached football, basketball, and baseball in addition to his administrative duties.

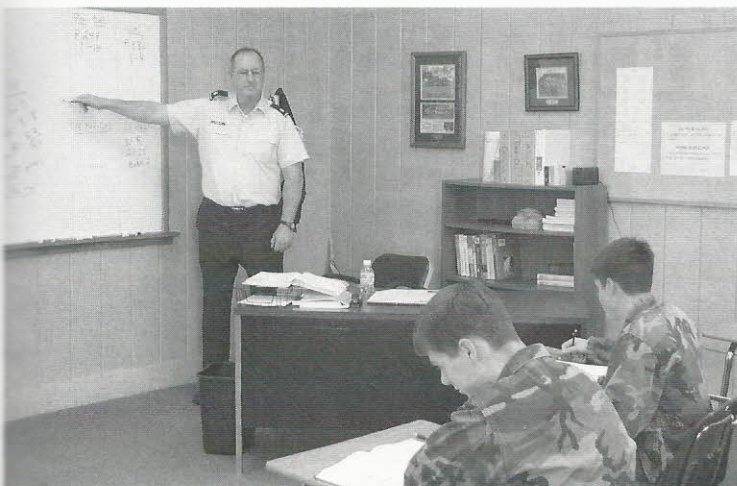

Major Dave LePage injects some humor while counseling students regarding second semester registration. MAJ LePage is a science instructor, head of the Science Department, and assistant academic dean. In addition he controls the computerized grading system, inputting and accessing all data.

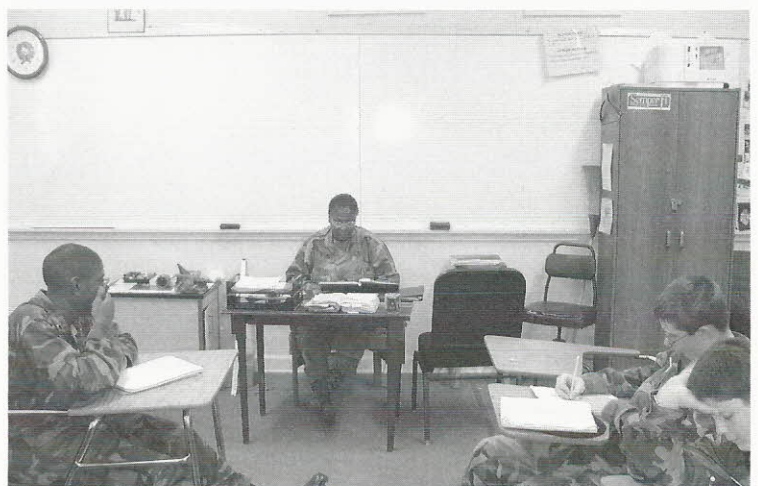

LTC W. C. Mobley heads the Social Studies Department and teaches history. He also coaches varsity football and the golf team.

Head of the Foreign Language Department, LTC Mohsen Ferjani is a popular French instructor. He also coaches bowling and sponsors both the International Club and the Dance Committee.

LTC Dave Roberts is a mathematics instructor and head of the Mathematics Department. In addition to his classroom duties, he coaches varsity football and baseball.

MAJ Deborah Hartley teaches English and heads the Effective Learning Program. She is always available to cadets who seek her out. Known for her understanding manner, she can be very firm in matters of character and responsibility.

The Teacher's Task

At Camden Military Academy we believe that education should represent the complete integration of academic, social, cultural, and athletic experiences in an atmosphere free from the fear of failure, undue pressures, or recrimination from fellow students. In that atmosphere it is the province of the institution to establish both a program with challenging, yet attainable, goals for each student and a set of standards of ethical conduct which must be employed while the cadet strives to compete. The task of each instructor is then to seek out and employ the most appropriate means to teach each individual while maintaining the integrity of the program. Such a "juggling act" necessitates that the instructor becomes an advocate and mentor for students, that each instructor becomes a member of the student's extended "family," and yet, that each instructor maintains the objectivity necessary to make candid, professional decisions concerning the student's progress.

LTC Don Parrotte
Academic Dean

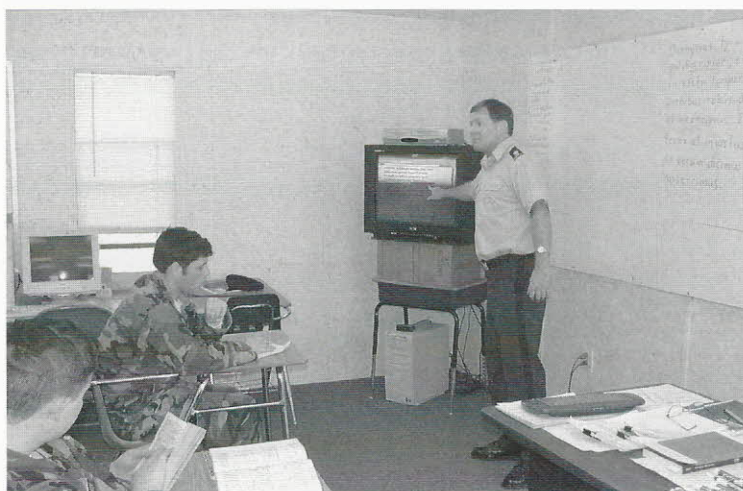

LTC Greg Simonson, biology instructor, brings to his classes both enthusiasm and a thorough knowledge of his subject. His other duties include the B Scouts and after-school activities.

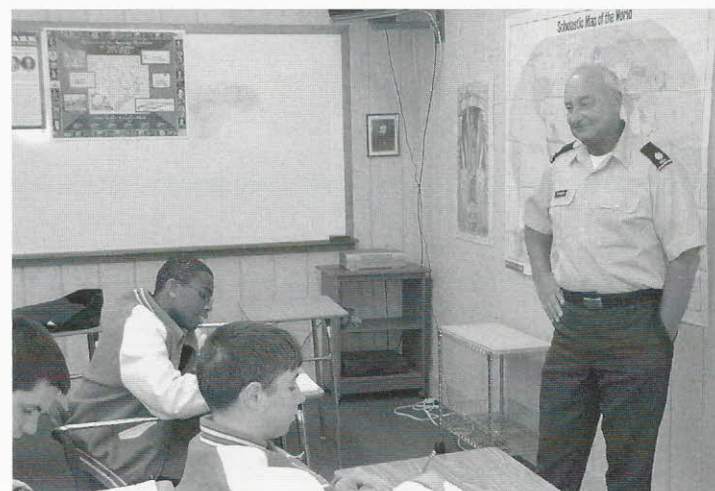

Chaplain (Major) Ed Westbury helps cadets in several roles, as pastor, counselor, history teacher, and head cheerleader at all athletic contests.

Known for his long assignments and rigorous tests, CPT Samuel Cerezo sponsors the International Club and coordinates intramural sports.

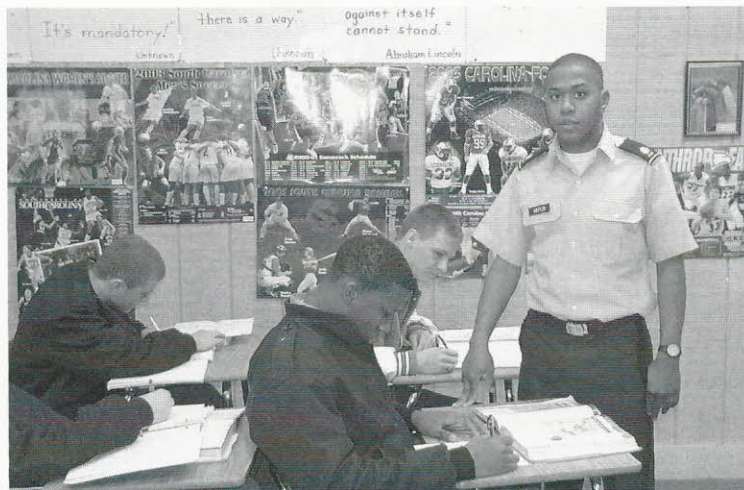

Nearing completion of his Ph. D. in ancient history, Major James Fitzpatrick is well schooled to teach Latin and literature. He also conducts CMA's Learning Laboratory.

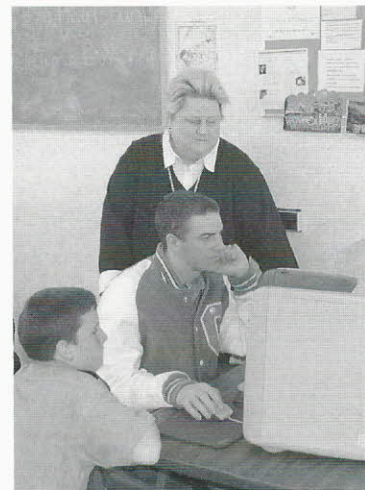

Lieutenant Colonel Kelly Schrader brings extensive knowledge and thorough preparation to his classes in United States history and psychology. In addition, he coaches speech and debate.

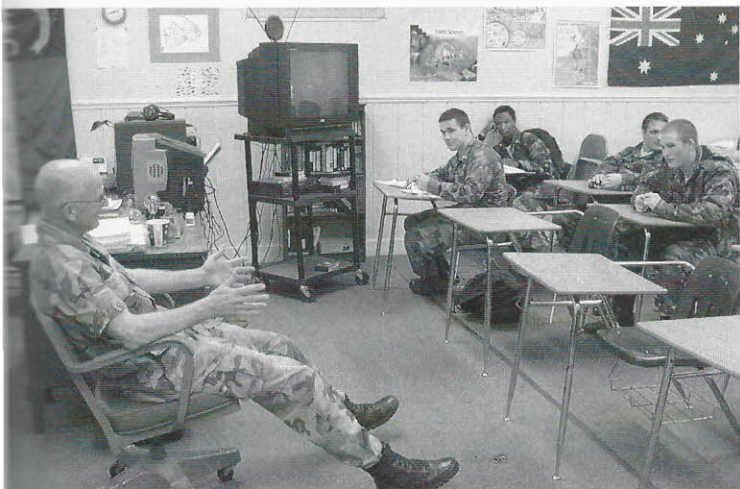

CDR Marsden, English instructor, holds a bachelor's degree from Mercer and has just completed his second master's. He coaches track and field.

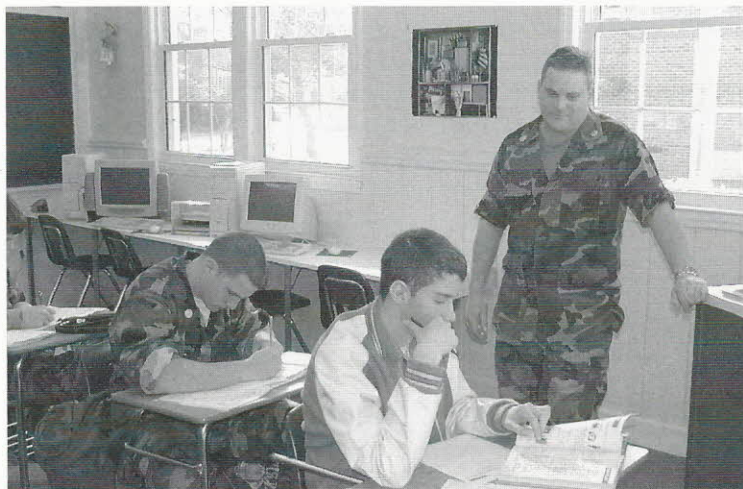

MAJ John Heflin, social studies instructor, coaches basketball and cross-country. He also has the most interesting and tastefully decorated classroom on campus.

Mrs. Sharon Schrader, reading instructor, teaches CMA's highly effective computer based reading courses.

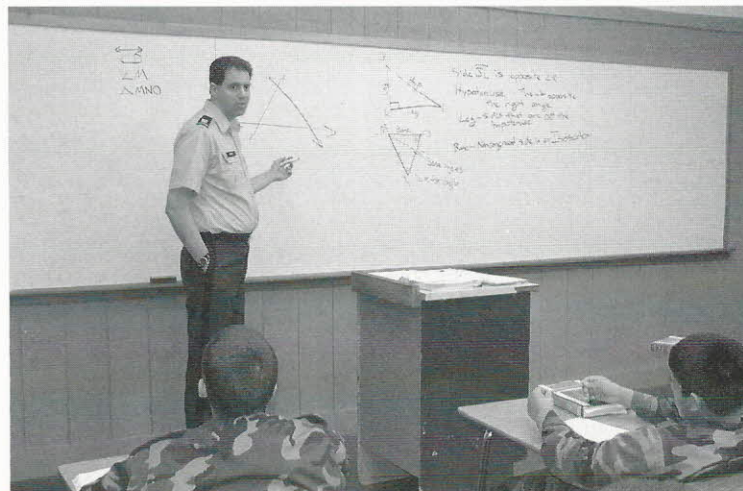

A versatile and stimulating science teacher, MSG Tom Hewitt also coaches the highly successful CMA wrestling and soccer teams.

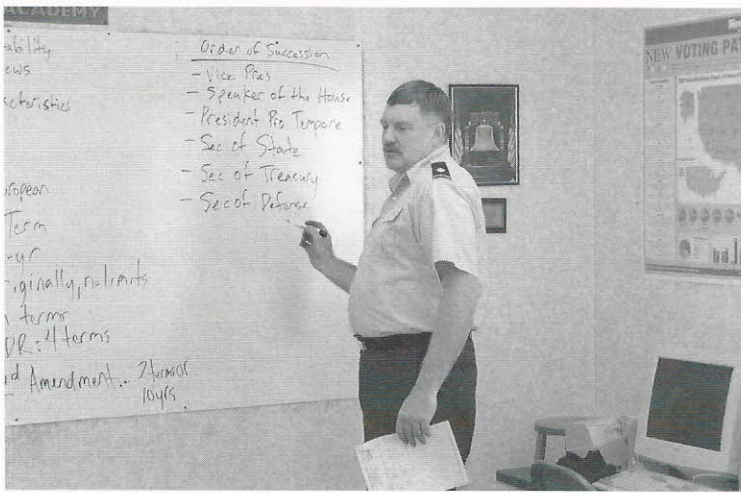

Major Bob Whitmire, a College of Charleston graduate and CMA alumnus, coaches football and golf in addition to his duties as Spanish instructor.

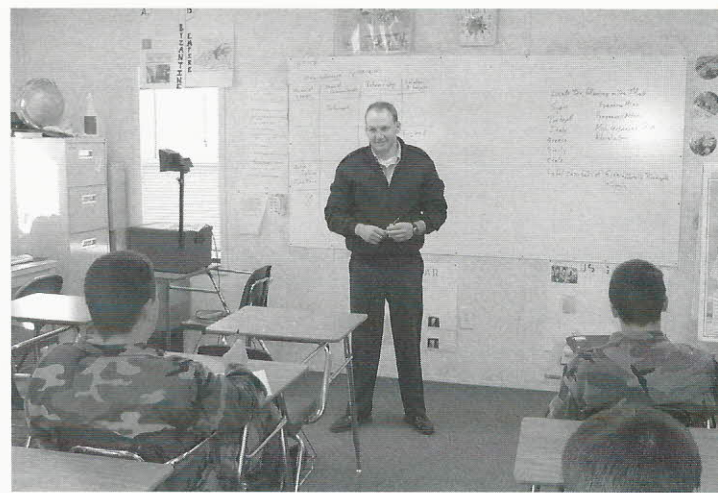

Mrs. Irene LePage, computer science instructor, employs a disciplined approach to teaching computer skills and emphasizes keyboarding, which is often neglected in today's computer studies.

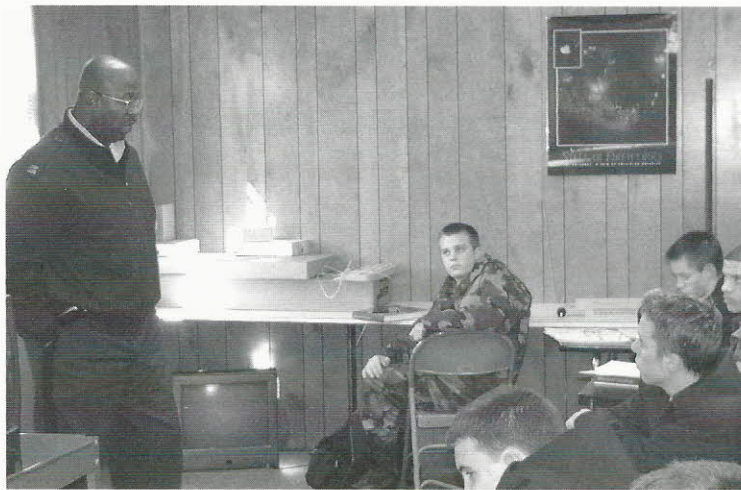

CPT Scott Dack, mathematics instructor, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska and a master's from George Mason University. He coaches track and field in addition to his teaching duties.

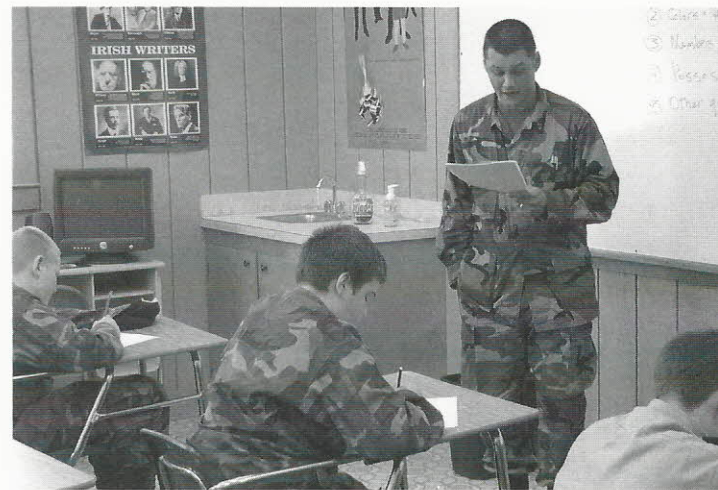

Major Ron Horn, mathematics and social studies instructor, brings both knowledge and discipline to his classes. In addition, he coaches junior varsity football and basketball.

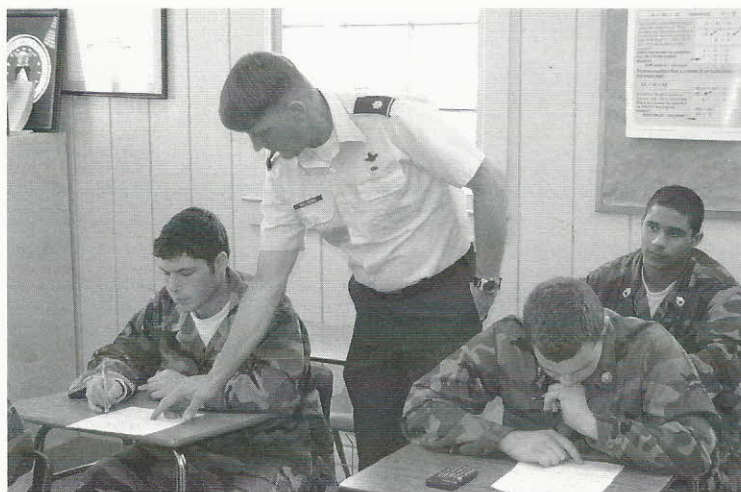

A highly effective teacher of world history and government, Major Thomas Maness is also head baseball coach who devotes many hours after school to coaching duties.

In addition to his duties as a physical science instructor, CPT William Johnson is head varsity basketball coach and assists with varsity football and track. His coaching skills are highly regarded throughout the state.

CPT Tariq Ghaffar, English instructor, earned his bachelor's degree from the University of South Carolina. A state finalist in tennis at Spring Valley High School, he is in his third year as the CMA tennis coach.

A dedicated teacher who often tutors students after school, LTC Glenn Melberg, mathematics instructor, earned his bachelor's degree from the United States International University. In addition to his teaching duties, he sponsors the CMA Civil Air Patrol chapter.

SFC David Green, Band Director, is a talented musician who plays in the South Carolina National Guard Band. He adds jazz pieces to the CMA Band repertoire to enhance students' musical versatility.

ACADEMICS IN ACTION

SFC Green's sixth period band class swings into action: KD Benoit, AM Peterson Row 2: CR Saxton, AB Nye, JK Warnygora, ER Woodruff, CM Barker, NP Phillips, B Janney Row 3: ST Miller, CA Smith, BB Knieff, JS Cole, TA Babcock, MP Riles

Mrs. Melinda Kane, CMA librarian, helps out seniors Chris Wetmore, Chase Jones, and Josh Davidian. Mrs. Kane has totally reorganized the library using computer technology. Research capability now extends far beyond the number of volumes on the shelves.

Standing in front of the Eiffel Tower in Paris are William Scott, Robert Erikson, and LTC Ferjani, head of the French Department, who immersed eight CMA students in French culture over the Christmas holidays.

The fragrance of formaldehyde wafting down the halls signals that it is cat-cutting time again in the biology lab. Students learn anatomy by dissecting the felines. Left: Burnette, Jonas, Wilson, Steigelman End: Hendrix Right: Banks, Gregory, Dillard, and Haley

Under the supervision of Dean Parrotte, many CMA students are now taking college courses on campus through the Internet or correspondence. Tim Leftwich is taking college algebra in the University of Georgia; Josh Davidian is enrolled in a history course in the University of North Carolina; and Ryan Hayden in doing independent study in computer science.

Lucky stars shine above you,
Sunshine on your way,
Many friends to love you,
Joy in work and play--
Laughter to outweigh each care,
In your heart a song--
And gladness waiting every-

What are you doing here? Tell me why you are here. If you are not here to win a national championship, you're in the wrong place. You boys are special. I don't want my players to be like other students. I want special people. You can learn a lot on the football field that isn't taught in the home, the church, or the classroom. There are going to be days when you think you've got no more to give and then you're going to give plenty more. You are going to have pride and class. You are going to be very special. You are going to win the national championship.

(Paul "Bear" Bryant's first meeting with his first team at Alabama in 1958)

Zach, you are very special...you are going to win the national championship in life.

Michael Traynam Martin "Tray"

You have grown into a young man any parents would be proud to claim as their own. Your many accomplishments and achievements at CMA should make you proud. As your Dad and Mom we are especially proud of your high moral standards, your common sense, your sense of duty, honor, and fair play. You have no idea how many people care about you and how many lives you've touched. Looking to the future, if you stay on the path you are on, the world is yours to conquer.

You are over six feet tall and 18 years old, but just remember, you will always be my "itty bitty baby boy."

Love,
Mom & Dad

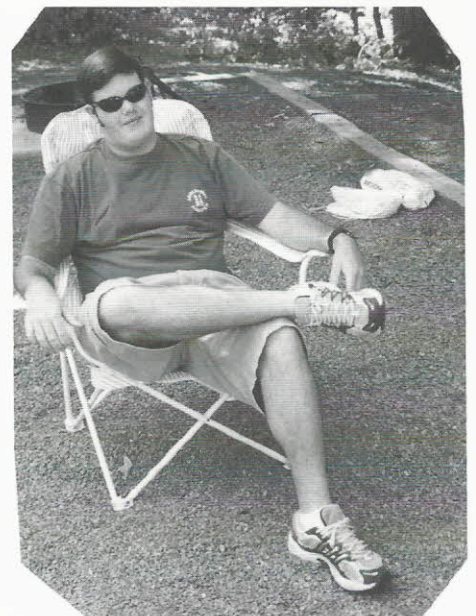

Andrew Scott Hemphill

We remember so well four years ago that August day we first brought you to CMA, a boy. Well, that time has gone by quickly, and now you are a man. We are so proud of what you have accomplished and the man you have become. Congratulations on your graduation, and we are looking forward to college and the future.

We love you,

The measure of a man is not found in the things he owns, or what he has saved or even his accomplishments. The true measure of a man is found in his faith and his heart. It is found in the friends who stand by him, the strength he displays under pressure, the sensitivity he unashamedly expresses, and his willingness to reveal vulnerability, even at the risk of being hurt.

Always keep your confidence; it will allow you to take risks and not be afraid of failure. Always keep your sensitivity; it will help you to understand and do something about injustices in the world as you continue to grow in your own unique, wonderful way. Always remember that we are proud of you and that we will always love you.

To our son:
 Through all our trials and tribulations we've always known that you had your heart in the right place. We pray to our Lord that He may continue to give you guidance for your spirit and soul. We also ask of Him to preserve your innocence, to give you the strength you need to become a great success, to realize your dream. In this jubilant moment reflect on your life. This will serve you as a compass. Don't let anything or anyone stand in the way of your success, because you understand the sacrifice. Our love for you is infinite like the stars above. You're our shining star, God's gift to us. Serve Him well and you'll be surprised by your success. May He keep saying of you, "Our son, our shining star." Congratulations on your graduation.

Love always and forever,

To my son Ricky:

Sometimes it takes all the courage we possess to make a decision that could change our lives. No one can deny that putting off action is a lot easier than diving in. But I know you, and I know that you're capable of doing anything you set your mind to. You have strength and good judgement, and you can do this! Go for it, and never forget, not for a single minute, that I'm right there behind you, rooting for you every step of the way. "Everything is possible with God." (Mark 10:27)

Love, Mommy

To my grandson Ricky:

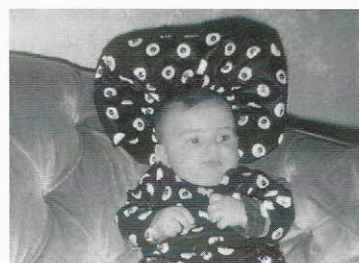

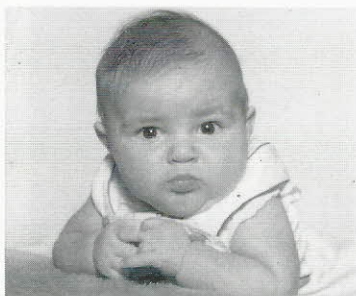

I just want to tell you I love you, not for anything specific that you've done, not for any particular reason, but just because I like what you're doing with your life. I'm proud of the choices you've made along the way, and I love the wonderful person you've grown to be.

Grandma

Dear Ricky,

No matter how much we fight, misunderstand, and tell on each other, you're my brother. I love you more than the number of stars in the sky. I'm proud to be your sister and I'm glad to have you to look up to. May God bless you. Your sister who will miss you you have a wonderful time building your table/future.

Your uncle Eddie

With much love,
Your uncle Mario

To my nephew Ricky:

Remember how to build a beautiful table: first make sure you have a plan, then make sure you have acquired all the right tools and remember to take your time and stay focused so you won't make any mistakes that can be costly or regretful. Take criticism gracefully and do not blame the tools or others for any mistakes you may make. Instead, learn from them and most importantly do not take shortcuts or accept advice from anyone who has never built a table before. I love you and hope

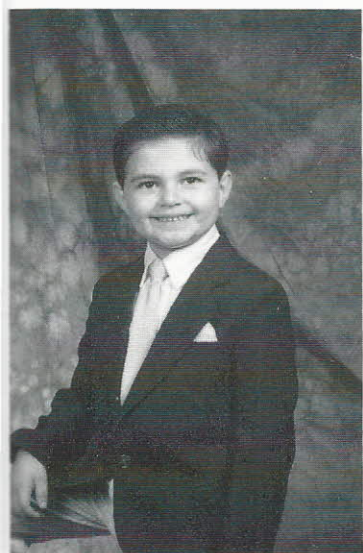

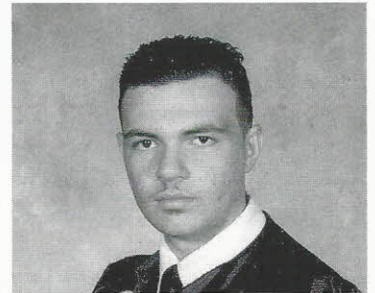

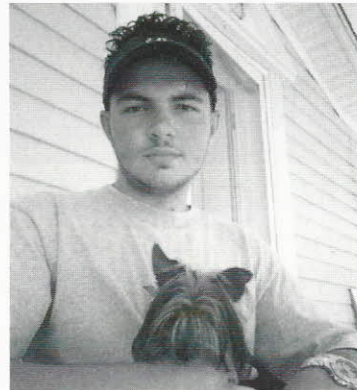

Ricky,

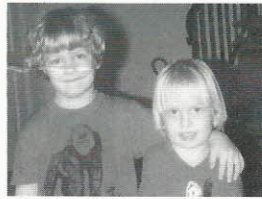

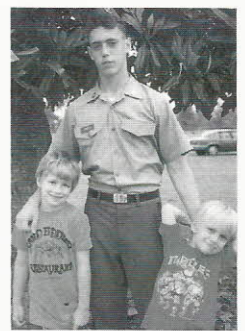

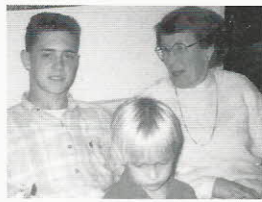

There are many things that you will learn in life, but as for me I have always found this saying to push me to be the best every day, even on the bad ones:

"Life is full of steps. Some are small and some are huge. May all the ones you decide to take lead you to eternal success and happiness."

I love you,

You are wise beyond your years and have taught us to experience the magic and beauty of the world with opened arms. We are so proud of you, Chase. May you always reach for the stars and follow your dreams.

When we sent you to CMA, we were not sure how it would be: no mother to cook and clean for you and no father to help with your daily trials. Now, three years later, we beam with pride over the boy we sent there and the man who is leaving. We have always known how special you are, and we are so happy with the way you have represented yourself and your family. Thank you for doing such an outstanding job! Please do not be sad if you see a few tears as you leave CMA, for they are precious tears of pride and joy as we close one door and open another. You are one heck of a success story in every way. Excalibur Supplement 2004

The Reverend Dr. Garry White, pastor of St. Timothy's Lutheran Church, delivered the commencement sermon. He advised cadets to take responsibility, get help from others, and do the necessary work to get the job done. Moreover, the love of God is revealed through the love of human beings for one another. Seated behind Dr. White are Chaplain (MAJ) Ed Westbury, LTC Don Parrotte, academic dean, and LTC C. H. Armstrong, commandant.

On May 16, 2004, Camden Military Academy presented diplomas to fifty-seven cadets. Most graduates will continue their education in institutions of higher learning all over the nation. Some will enter military service. Assisted by Colonel Eric Boland, headmaster, Board Chairman J. Banks Scarborough presents a diploma to his grandson, Cadet First Lieutenant Andrew Hemphill. Members of this year's graduating class earned scholarships valued in excess of $1,000,000.

Cadet First Lieutenant Brandon N. Haley from San Diego, California, received a scholarship valued at $250,000 from the United States Coast Guard Academy.

LTC C. H. Armstrong congratulates CPT Ryan Hayden and Band and Staff Company for winning the Best Drilled Award. Alpha Company won designations as Honor Company, Best in Academics, and Best in Athletics. Delta Company received the Spirit Award.

Spring Events

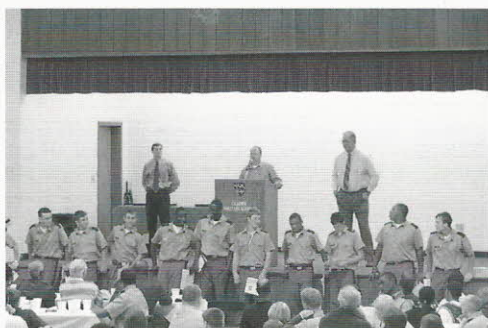

Gold Star Parade: Assisted by Cadet Joshua Burnette and Colonel Eric Boland, headmaster, LTC Don Parrotte, academic dean, awards Gold Stars to first semester achievers.

Excalibur Banquet: At the annual dinner in March for CMA's key supporters, Cadets Hemphill, Daniel, Gilman, Stokes, Thomas, Leftwich, and Osborne parked cars and served as ushers.

Reunion '59-'75: Addressing the assembly was Mr. Stan Mabry, CMA '74, who has generously renovated Cline Library and reframed all pictures in the dining hall.

Spring Sports Banquet: Coach Maness presents baseball awards assisted by Coach Roberts and LTC Will Rice, athletic director.

Senior Dinner: Enjoying steaks at the annual senior banquet are Ryan Hayden, Josh Davidian, Case Jones, and in the rear, Chris Lord-Cook.

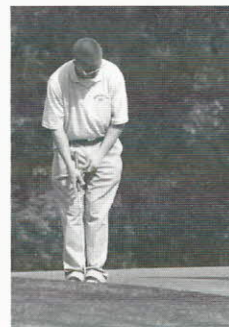

Commencement Dance: CMA Secretary Kathy Sherril leads the pack as cadets, parents, and guests enjoy dancing the night before graduation.

Golf

"Having only one senior this year, I wanted to build a base for the future," said Coach Mobley. The Spartans shot some high scores in the beginning but worked hard and did not give up. Their dedication paid off in the last two matches, when they shot 30 strokes below their seasonal average. They should be very competitive next year.

Spartans: Coach Mobley, Trevor Babcock, Josh Davidian, Ryan Lee, Zachary McClure, Nathan Allen, Michael Wooditch.

Coach's Award winner Josh Davidian lines up the putt.

MVP Nathan Allen lofts his second shot onto the green.

Most Improved Player Trevor Babcock follows through.

Zachary McClure putts out.

Babcock hits the ball long off the tee.

JV Team: Lucas Parker, Alex Coleman, Coach Whitmire, Avery McKinney, Julian Hirshberg, Joseph Satterfield.

Davidian shows perfect form from the number one tee at White Pines.

Baseball

The goals for the baseball Spartans this season were to learn the game and win tournaments. "We got off to a ragged start," said Coach Maness, "but by the end of the year we had learned how to play." The team finished strong, playing for the championship of the Ben Lippen Tournament and winning 12 of the last 17 games.

Spartans: Andy Murdock, Lance Jordan, TJ Owens, Adam Richardson, David Huff, Andrew Peterson Row 2: Coach Maness, Craig Barker, Warren McAfee, Charles Harrington, Bobby Johnson, Josh Cummings, Buddy Taber, Hogan David, Coach Roberts

Coach's Award winner TJ Owens beats the throw at second base. He hit .320 and had 14 stolen bases.

Triple letterman Charlie Harrington hit .248 this season with 22 runs batted in.

Consistent at the plate, senior Hogan David posted a .308 batting average and drove in 12 runs.

Willam Taber rips a fast ball past the center fielder and races to third for the triple.

Coaches Maness and Roberts get the players on track for the next inning.

Most Improved Player Andy Murdock rounds third base and heads home for the score.

Lance Jordan fields the ball and makes the throw to second base.

Not only was MVP Josh Cummings an outstanding pitcher with a 6-2 record, he also led the team with .447 hitting and 25 runs batted in.

Adam "Squirrel" Richardson was steady behind the plate all season

Leading the team in home runs this season was reliable pitcher Bobby Richardson, who could run the bases as well. He won The E. Haines Gregg Award.

Track & Field

Danny Bishop, Michael Chergosky, and Rodney Groves finish 1,2,3 in the 100 m dash.

Isiah Campbell takes first place in the 100m dash.

Frank Wallace shows excellent form in the 110 m high hurdles.

Josh Burnette gets off a long toss in the discus competition.

With an inexperienced team and two-thirds of the usual number coming out for track, the 2004 Spartan trackmen concentrated on coming together as a team and building for the future. Over 85% of the team were participating in track for the first time. Moreover, the addition of new spring sports drew down the number of usual participants. In spite of these obstacles, the Spartans showed heart and a willingness to learn and improve. Overall, they won one meet outright, placed third in one meet, and placed fourth in two meets. Winning awards were Josh Burnette, Coach's Award; Ed Meise, Most Improved; and Michael Chergosky, Most Valuable Player.

Josh Killen crosses the finish line in the 100 m dash.

Most Valuable Player Michael Chergosky gets up and over in the high jump.

Adam Lazarus passes go in the 800 m run.

Tyler Derr presses on in the 800 m event.

Jacobs, Green Groves, Wallace, Smith, Isaacs, Killen, and Riles socialize after the last meet.

Banks Baker passes the baton to Erynd Simmons in the 4 x 800 m relay.

John Clement crosses the finish line in the 800 m relay.

Emanuel Nsein and Wayne Greene press forward in the 800 m run.

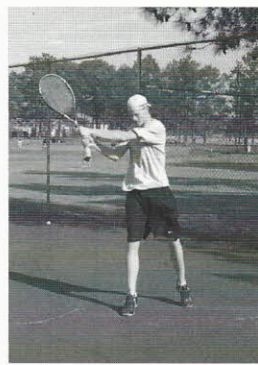

Henry Meise, Michael Smith, and David Wright run tandem in the 800 meter competition.

Tennis

In every way but the won-loss record, 2004 was a true success for the Spartans. "It was a very positive learning experience," observed Coach Ghaffar. "The team represented the school very well." The Governor's School coach said that the CMA was the most athletic team they had played all year. The Northwestern coach named CMA the most sportsman-like team they had played. Typical of the season was Michael Wilson's comeback against Ben Lippen's # 5 player to tie the set and then to win the tie-breaker. Winning awards were Kenneth Owens, Most Valuable Player; Joe Grubb, Coach's Award; and Henley Gu, Most Improved Player.

Spartans: Craig Saxton, Henley Gu, Michael Wilson Row 2: Coach Ghaffar, Bryan Vukov, John Bergman, Joe Grubb, Kenneth Owens

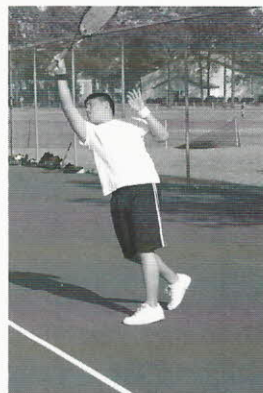

Joe Grubb demonstrates his backhand stroke.

Kenneth Owens returns the ball sharply.

Kenneth Bergman fires a volley.

Henly Gu gets all his force behind the ball.

Michael Wilson patrols the baseline.

Bryan Vukov stretches to make the return.

Craig Saxton powers the ball over the net.

Lacrosse

The 2004 Spartans won the first game ever in the four-year history of CMA lacrosse. "My goal for the team," said Coach Dack, "was to emphasize basic stick skills so that the team could take to the field and actually look like a lacrosse team and not a bunch of guys in pads with sticks. We accomplished this so well that not only did we receive compliments from other coaches and teams on our improvement, we also won two games this year." All the Spartans played well this season. The defense stepped up and became the most consistent part of the team. Winning awards were Fitz Lewis, MVP; Tray Martin, MIP; and John Hough, Coach's Award.

Spartans: CA McFarlin, RJ McDonald, CM Hayes, JS Cole, JT Hough, ER Woodruff Row 2: Coach Parrotte, MT Martin, CJ Langlo, PI Baird, JJ Green, BG Miller, R Pasut, TM Latham, FH Lewis, RJ Hayden, RH Bellows, JC Lucas, LW Rostmeyer, Coach Dack

McDonald celebrates after making the shot.

Fitz Lewis powers through the defense.

Ryan Hayden advances the ball up field.

Tray Martin picks up a ground ball.

Rocky Pasut defends the goal.

Goal Keeper Jonathan Cole awaits the attack.

John Hayes and Fitz Lewis attack the defense.

Soccer

"This team was very easy to coach," said Coach Hewitt. "We wanted to involve the entire team when we moved the ball up the field. This was accomplished and reflected in our won-loss record." The Spartans have won over 80% of their matches during the last four seasons. The high point of the season was coming back in overtime to tie Heathwood Hall and send the game into a PK shootout. Winning awards were Tyrone Chantilope, Most Valuable Player; Armando Celorio, Offense Award; and Kyle Markey, Defense Award.

Spartans: Bernard Chalmers, Adam Nye, Dustin Mahaffey, Jesse Jacobs, Cory Smith, Mark Zamora Row 2: Warren McRae, Samuel Geigler, Andrew Smith, Jason Deckard, Sargon Smith, Kyle Wilson, David Millar, Jacob Murphy, Jason Green, Armando Celorio, Jeremy Aleman Row 3: William Stypic, TL Zimmerman, Nathaniel Phillips, Charles Nicholas, Pavel Galeta, Kyle Markey, Tyrone Chantilope, Brandon Haley, Craig Phillips, Justin Cheung, Brent Dillard, Coach Hewitt

Captains Armando Celorio and Tyrone Chantilope confer with the referees.

Brandon Haley powers the ball down field.

Tyrone Chantilope takes a long shot at the goal.

Kyle Wilson advances toward the goal from the corner.

Armando Celorio crosses into the middle of the field.

Kyle Markey clears the ball out of danger and sends it down field.

Zimmerman gets in position to clear the ball.

Jason Deckard prepares to set someone up for an assist.

Brent Dillard looks down field for an open man.

Charles Nicholas sets up to shoot for the score.
