

BATTALION

From competent morale, discipline, and cooperation stems the excellent progress which the Cadet Corps has displayed during the current year.

Efficiently supervised by Capt. Waddy Thompson, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, and Capt. William Scaffé, Band Director, many steps toward a more capable organization have been established. A new system for rewarding the best drilled company has been developed and put into practical use.

A regularly scheduled dress parade on Sunday afternoon, a rigid inspection of barracks and personnel each Saturday morning, classroom instruction twice weekly on military science and tactics, and a daily drill routine maintain a high degree of coordination within the corps.
