The fashion of the day was constantly changing; there were so many different styles to choose from and EVERYONE seemed to have their own opinion about clothing and accessories. Sophomore Aaron Baldwin had very strong opinions himself about fashion. "I love to rock Air Forces and collared shirts myself, but I hate that whole preppy 'tight pants' look. It's corny." The various trends prove that one minute something could be in style but the next minute it was 'SO LAST SEASON'! Aaron also said, "Addias will come back into style because [I'm gonna start wearing them again] I'll bring 'em back." No one could tell what would be the next trend. Fortunately, the high fashion world, labeled fashion as being mo about one's own personal opinions and style.

"I decide what to wear every morning by looking at what my sister has on and going and finding the opposite of that," freshman Ashley McCauley said.

"There is one trend that I like, but I am too scared to try...you know those skateboarding shoes, Vans? I like them but I don't know how people would react to me wearing them," sophomore Keneon Francis said.

"I like to dress comfortably; Cloth that are too small are nasty looking," freshman Amber McCauley said.
