Dancing is a form of expressing yourself. To some it's a way to let loose and be yourself or maybe its that dance with your father on your wedding day, it's truly a good way to get close to that person you love the most. "If it was my last dance, the song would be 'In the Middle' by Trey Songz. This song explains how I feel about the person that I would share this dance with. I would want us to be in a private ballroom, just the two of us alone with the music," senior Jabree Salley said.

If it was your last dance, what song would it be to?
