With admirable concentration and skill, the chorus students avidly prepare themselves for their performance of Guy's and Dolls. Each cast member works to the strongest of their abilities to make their voices heard. With stunning vocals, from such people as Charles Anderson, Ellis Upchurch, Allen Lash and Belle Smith, the crowd couldn't help but to be captivated.

The chorus class is a very important class. It helps to make the singing talents of the students heard by all. The chorus class participates in many events such as Christmas concerts and school musicals. These events required hard work and skills, provided by none other than Mrs. Drawdy. With so much dedication and heart it is no wonder that the chorus class productions are so great.

Senior Ellis Upchurch played the role of a church goer trying to help save the crap shooters and show them the way. "I found the part I played to be challenging because I'm very different from my character's personality," Ellis said.

Junior Malik Squire and Junior Belle Smith are seen here as each others' love interests in the play Guys and Dolls. "I enjoyed playing the role of Nathan Detroit. It wasn't that difficult for me to portray a character like him." Malik said.
