

IV

Girls

Basketball

1. Sophomore Tykemia Stephens and Freshman Tiffany Yates block the opposing team. "My middle school coach said I would be a good defense and under the goal shooter," Tykemia said.

2. Freshman Courtney Edwards goes for the shot against Fort Dorchester with her team behind her. "The team plays well together," freshman Teiara Kelly said.

3. The team talks during a time out. "I like basketball because it's interesting. Also because that's what my brother taught me to play," Sophomore Siera Jenkins-Aiken said.

4. Sophomore Arika Williams works hard to keep score and show support for the team. "I've loved the game all of my life," Arika said.

5. The team crowds around the net to shoot the ball. "I play basketball because it's fun and gives me something to do," sophomore Synquetta Taylor said.

6. Junior Aviance Welch looks for what she needs to do next. "A family member got me started, I play because I love it," Aviance said.

7. Team manager Kala Barco does everything she can for the team. "I enjoy basketball, and it's fun," Kala said.

It's all in the game!

Lead by ambition and driven by heart, the girls Junior Varsity basketball team had a very productive season. The girls didn't win every time they played, but the drive that was given on the court was outstanding. "I think the best game we played all season was against James Island," sophomore Shyda Council said. The girls played many great games and you could always see the love for the game in both how they played and how they carried themselves on and off the court. Throughout the season the games and practices weren't anything except hard work and dedication for the team. Like many other teams, the girls practiced in the afternoons having hopes and dreams of getting better and allowing their team to go further. One thing that the girls held within them that truly carried them to and past their destinations was their want to improve, and further more succeed. When you think of the girls basketball team you think of all the factors that really make a team. They allowed themselves to be known as the bright future for the Varsity teams in the next few years.