

1. Coach George meets with some players to discuss what they need to do differently. "I want to play in college because it may give me a chance at the NBA," freshman David Green said.

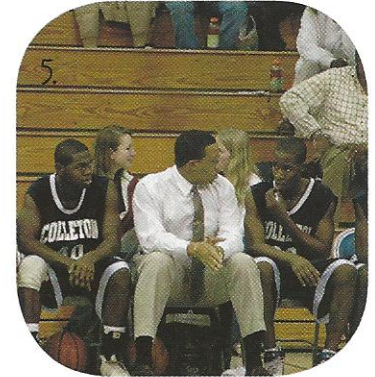

2. Freshman Troy Ford goes up for the shot. "Our team works well together," sophomore Kevin Bazzle said.

3. Michael Bolton waits on a pass from a teammate. "Always stay focused and don't let anything distract you," freshman Andre Collum said

4. The team anticipates the shot from the opposing team. "Play hard and play smart," sophomore Hakeem Williams said.

5. Coach George speaks with the team on the bench. "I play to stay out of trouble and to be the person I'm supposed to be," junior Dejon Murray said.

6. Sophomore Chad Mcmillon goes for the lay up backed up by Jamel Paige. "We want to turn our season around and win regions," freshman Bryan McCuthen said.

7. Freshman Marquis Hambleton catches the pass. "I would like to play college basketball so I can go to the NBA and make millions," Marquis said.

Wanna be a Baller?

Driven, dedicated, and down right talented are all descriptions of the boys JV basketball team. Whenever you see them in person or out on the court, you can almost feel the intensity in what they're doing. The boys never go down without a fight, and stay as into the game as possible. As many of the other junior varsity squads in the school, they are very promising to our future, and give the future of our basketball teams something to look forward to. It wasn't easy for the guys though, they had to spend numerous afternoons in a cramped gym running drills, running sprints, and running the game over, and over again to reach their ultimate best. Whether or not the guys reached their very best is uncertain, but the level they brought to their game is a great place to be for future improvements. The work ethic seen in these young athletes are ultimately the very base of future wins and awards for the school.

-Mehgan Carter