Music is an integrated part of everyday life. Although different genres separate us in our taste, the feelings we get from our favorite music can be the same. Music arouses feelings of joy, sadness, love, and anger, but does the genre of music you listen to and the emotions it provokes determine a person's actions? "I don't think music necessarily affects how you live, but who you are affects the type of music in which you listen," senior John Hiott said.

Sherilyn's Friends!

Sophomore Randi Breland sat with her friend, senior Charlotte Fletcher, on the way to a band competition. "She Bangs", performed by William Hung, is a humorous song," Randi said.

Stewart the Turtle payed junior Renee Brooks a visit one night. She was extremely frightened to awaken to Stewart hovering over her. "The Postal Service is my favorite band," Renee said.
