

1. Senior Shelby Peters aids fellow seniors, Alana Peets and Julia Owans in a presentation for class. "HOSA is a great organization. My favorite event is Pink Out because it helps spread breast cancer awareness."

2. Senior Michaela Barnes is the HOSA historian. Michaela helps put the scrapbook together and writes notes at meetings. "HOSA is a big part of our school. I've been in it for four years."

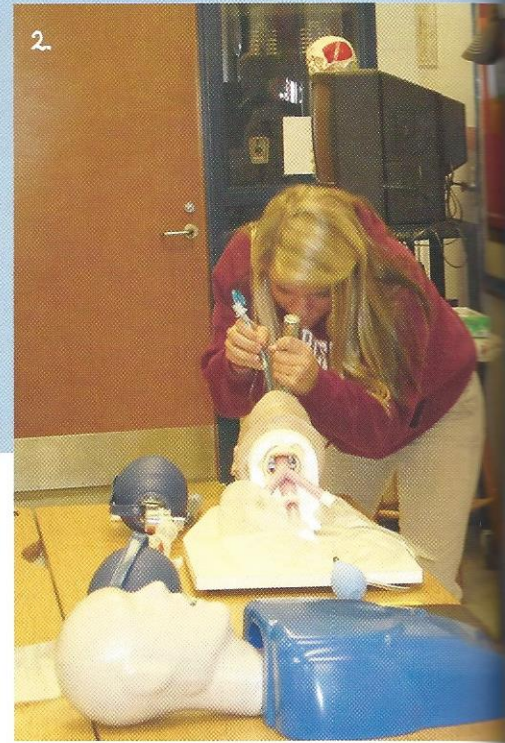

3. HOSA members take a field trip to further learn about their future adventures in healthcare.

4. Senior Erica Concepcion gives back to her community as she works hard at Colleton County Medical Center moving the medical equipment.

5. Senior December Bishop organizes linens during her clinical time at the local hospital.

6. Seniors Austin Hollis and Sylvester Bowman keep smiles on their faces despite carrying waste bags for their clinical duties.

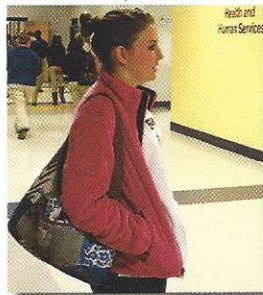

7. Seniors Julia Owans and Austin Hollis promote Colleton County High School's HOSA group during HOSA week.

"My friend convinced me to join HOSA. I love going to meetings," said senior William Hood. "HOSA helps the community raise awareness."

"HOSA has prepared me for the future. I feel like I have learned a lot," responded senior Rebecca Carter. Rebecca took part in the clinicals class, as well.

Junior Presley Holt is a new member of HOSA. "In our meetings, everyone has their opinions heard, and I think that helps make HOSA a success."

"My favorite HOSA event is Pink Out!" said senior Alana Peets. Alana explained how HOSA was a good way to begin your health career path.

