

VARSITY BASEBALL

Loaded bases, two outs, and two strikes, these are enough to get a baseball players blood pumping with adrenaline about a game. With nineteen games and four scrimmages, the boys on the CCHS varsity baseball team have faced the combined anxiety and thrill of waiting for their final score quite often while doing what they are passionate about.

Junior Reese Penfield whizzes the ball to a teammate, trying his best to out the offending team player.

Sophomore Matthew Tyler is hopeful for a successful season: "This season isn't going as well as we had hoped, but with the talented and dedicated people playing with us, we should be able to turn that around."

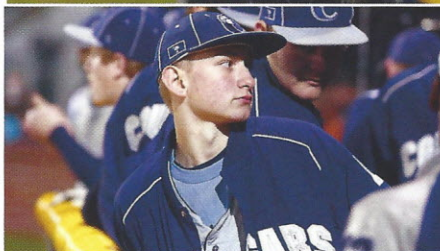

Sophomore Lucas Bell swings, ready for the ball, preparing for a home run in the game against Fort Dorchester.

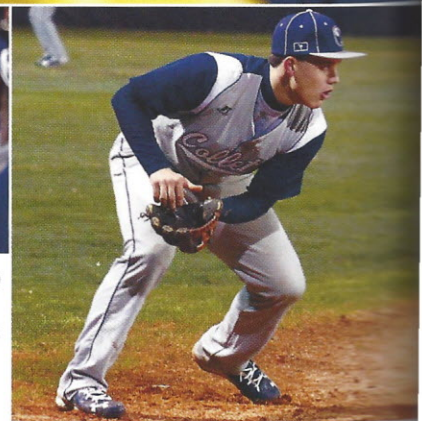

FOCUS//

Not wanting to miss a single moment of the boys intently watch their teammates on the field.

ABOVE: Sophomore Keel Murdaugh listens to one of his coaches.
RIGHT: Senior Robert Avant prepares to catch a grounded ball.

"WHEN YOU FEEL LIKE QUITTING, THINK ABOUT WHY YOU STARTED."

DETERMINED TO WIN//

1. Junior Michael Thigpen waits for the bat of the other team.
2. Junior Josh Kinard gets ready to bat that ball out of the park.
3. Freshman Henry Gibson spots the photographer in between pitches.
4. Tools of the trade

