

1. Jasmine Boyert (12) describing her visits to CC Animal Shelter: "It breaks my heart to see the animals at the shelter. They're too cute, and I wish I could take care of all of them." Animal Care students and FFA members regularly visit the shelter to assist in caretaking. 2. Aspen Keen grooms Concho, a regular visitor to Mrs. Lutton's class. 3. Aspen and Candice Grooms wash a young boxer at the animal shelter. 4. Victoria Wilson writes the week's posts out. Students care for animals on rotation.

Shavon Pitts (left) describes Culinary as a "school-based enterprise". Students leave the course certified and experienced in running a commercial kitchen. Pitts reported an exemplary intro class this year. Many students reported changing careers to culinary now thanks to her class.

Seniors Tresauna Salley and Miranda Williams love that Ms. Pangalangan's Childhood Development courses allow them to work directly with children at Black Street ELC.

Building and Construction isn't your average workshop. While intro students are building birdhouses... Kyle Davis (10), Lane Lee (11), and Charles Martin (10), (right) try not to think about the workload they're sitting on. This pile of lumber would become... Right: A 13-foot tall rocking chair! Built over the course of 5 weeks, Instructor Mike Swearingen poses here for scale.
