

Mr. Gluek and Mrs. Ellison are proud of Mrs. Ellison (10) and Noah Feather (9) for winning the Respect Key and Student of the Month at our first Family Time.

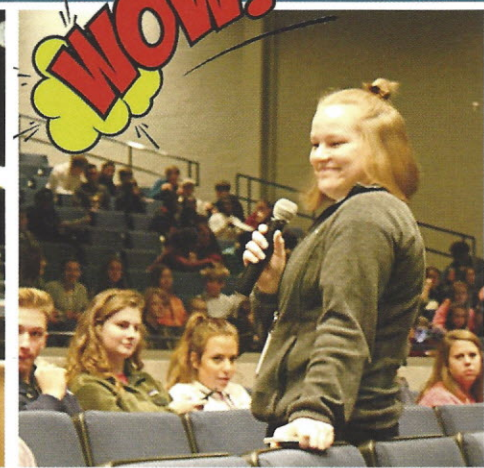

CNT c/o 2018 gathers for a picture after a long day of games and fun, creating lasting memories at their final Trust Day. Karrington Blakeney says "It was a wonderful day, and we finally spent time together for our last Trust Day."

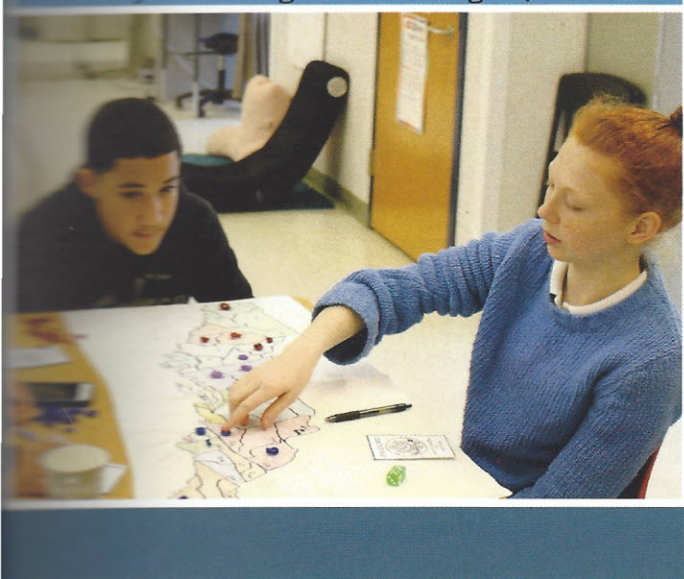

Joanna bridge plays the history-based board game that she and fellow sophomores, Jahlil Muhammad and Darin Mowry, made in class. Alex Sherrill and Danielle Hickman play their version of the same project. The students did a SUPER job creating a fun learning experience.

Junior Kortney Edwards receives the Student of the Month Award thanks to his ability to stay on top of all of his work and remain in email contact with teachers for more work right after having a tumor removed from his brain. You're a TRUE HERO of the 2017-2018 school year, Kortney.

Participating in a Family Time tradition, Deanna Munro (12) gives a shout-out to fellow CNT students and teachers: "Y'all have had made a large impact in my life the past four years. You've helped me through rough patches and celebrated my accomplishments. I can't imagine a better group of people to call my family or a better way to spend one of my last Family Times."

Blake Marvin (9) works on the Worst Foods in America project: "I loved this project but hated that the foods they chose were some of my favorites." Juniors Kyia Brown and Shelby Crabb are excited to have been "funded" after all their hard work to convince the Sharks of Mrs. Shipp's Shark Tank that their product is most profitable. Juniors Felicity Steward, Dondrea Berry, and Joel Crosby collaborate on their portion of a vocabulary database for the whole class as their first English 3 project.
