

VIDEOGRAPHY!

The videography club, under the direction of Mrs. Tabatha DeWitt, focuses on the process of making videos. The students in this club are responsible for making the CCHS video announcements. Being trusted with filming and editing equipment and duties, these students are always well behaved and down to business, delivering important announcements for the rest of the school. With a mix of serious news and funny segments, the videographers know how to keep the attention of viewers.

Seniors William Bowman and Anni Crook read the upcoming sports events for the following week while Senior Ashlyn Rawls watches the camera to make sure it stays in focus to keep all the other members in line while the recording is going.

Senior Jacob Ellington walks around in an inflatable dinosaur costume to startle and confuse any students walking in the hallway.

Top: Seniors Al'Jaya Robinson, Joseph Burn, and William Bowman set up the tripod and camera for the weather portion of the video announcements.

Bottom: Senior Jacob Ellington reviews an announcement that was given to the videography club to ensure that it is appropriate before they film.
