

FBLA

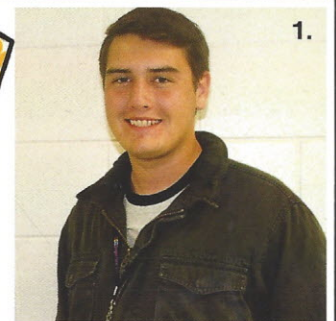

The Future Business Leaders of America have been working hard this year! This organization is dedicated to the development of prospective business people and community organizers. At CCHS, members are challenged at competitive events and attend conferences that aid in the development of social and business related skills. In a year of rebuilding after the departure of a long-time advisor, this chapter has again seen much success in the 2017-2018 school year under the new leadership of Mr. Joseph Arras.

FBLA competitors gather outside James Island Charter High with their newly received awards for this year's regional competition! From here, winners move on to conquer the state, then the national level.

THE 2017-2018 FBLA Chapter! The photo includes: Jared Bailey, Al'Jaya Robinson, Christian Chisolm-Riley, Megan Newton, Jonathan Gardner, Shelly Sechrist, Olivia Phillips, Madison Lord, Briana Green, Amaya Bunton, Charity Crosby, Abigail Branch, Marilena Crosby, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Logan Bailey, Ashlyn Ballew, Mackenzie Ferguson.

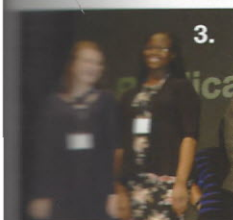

1.

2.

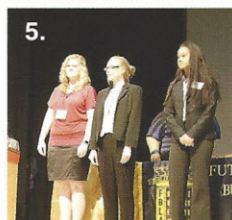

2.

3.

4.

5.

Right, top to bottom

1. President Jared Bailey (Grade 12) says, "Over the last 4 years FBLA has given me the skills and etiquette to be successful in the business world."

2. Member Al'Jaya Robinson (Grade 12) says, "This club has given me the opportunity to meet many new people and learn to network."

3. Secretary Megan Newton (Grade 11) says, "I joined FBLA because I saw all the cool things that they were doing, so I knew I had to get involved!"

4. Member Christian Chisolm-Riley (Grade 12) says, "FBLA has taught me responsibility and really helped me with talking to people in a business setting."

3.

4.

During our own receive their awards after competing at regionals. 1. Competitors wait for awards ceremony. 2. Charity Crosby (10) waits for her place to be announced. 3. Amaya Bunton (10) and Briana Green (12) wait for their place to be announced. 4. Seniors Jared Bailey and Madison Lord examine their first place medals. 5. Juniors Abigail Branch and Elizabeth McLaughlin wait for their place to be announced.