

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Greetings:

I want to congratulate each member of the Senior Class, the Officers and Advisors for the excellent job accomplished and the untiring efforts demonstrated in the publication of this annual. I would like also to restate our purpose.

Colleton High School proposes to give leadership and to work cooperatively with children, teachers, custodians, parents, and other persons and agencies of the community to develop and maintain educational services that will contribute to effective total living for the total community. Total living includes health, recreation, housing, living with other people, as well as intellectual, spiritual, vocational, and civic development. The total community includes children and adults within and without the school organization.

Education embraces knowledge, training, and aspiration; knowledge of the practical and social arts, of the funded wisdom and aspiration of the race, and of the fine arts. Knowledge alone is not enough--ethics is indispensable. Education includes the training of body and spirit. Education fosters the social virtues by example. Education is committed to the maintenance and improvement of American society.
