

What It's All About

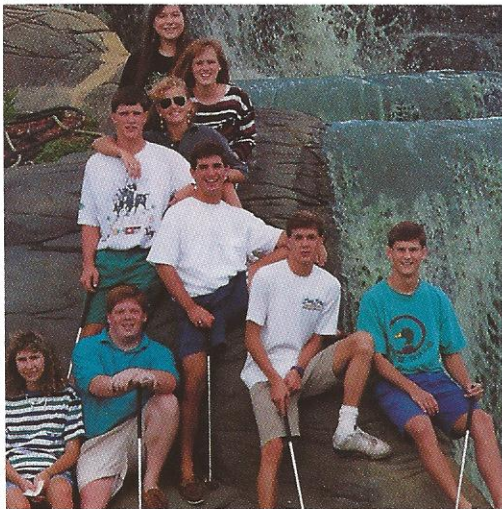

"Seniors. I can't believe we're finally seniors!!" exclaimed Dan DuPre on the first day of his last year in high school. As the underclassmen faced the fact that another school year was beginning, the Class of '93 realized with mixed emotions that it was the beginning of the end.

With graduation quickly approaching, the seniors buckled down and worked harder than ever. They were also swamped with numerous extracurricular activities and meetings. Senior year is definitely not a time to sit back and relax — the pressure is on! There is always a test to take, a college application to fill out, an SAT to sign up for, or a graduation cap and gown to be measured for.

In reward for all of the added responsibility, the seniors were honored throughout the year with a few special privileges, such as going to lunch early, ordering out for lunch, and getting out of school five minutes early. Being a senior definitely has its advantages!

Marie DeLoach, Cassie Silber, Mandy Jones, and Leah Jones watch as their classmates drive the go-carts around the race track. The girls discuss what they should do next at Frankie's Funpark, but these best friends know that they will have a great time as long as they are together.

Miniature golf, along with various other fun activities, made the senior picnic very memorable.

Revenge! With drenched clothes and hair, Holly Davenport and Paige Headden chase Cope Johnston toward the big sprinklers.

The Vintage Hawks pose proudly on the 12th hole. Those special seniors have been together every year since they began school.
