

IS THIS A NEW CHEER?

HAWKS EARN RECOGNITION

Before going home, the varsity cheerleaders take time out to display two trophies that they won at cheerleading camp, held at Coastal Carolina College in Myrtle Beach. The girls are proud that their hard work, skill, and determination were recognized.

FLY AWAY

No. Sophomore Kimberly Smith is holding these balloons so that she can pass them out to War Hawk football fans at the Homecoming game. A cheerleader's work is never done.

CHEERLEADING

GENERATE SOME SPIRIT

"Being a cheerleader is a demanding job, but I know it's worth it when I look up and see the crowd cheering."

Anyone who says cheerleading is not a sport should see the CPA cheerleaders at work. In August, they headed to cheerleading camp at Coastal Carolina College. While at camp, they spent four intensive days learning new cheers and techniques in the hot August sun. CPA was one of the few private schools attending, but still managed to compete and win two trophies.

"Cheerleading gives us a chance to show our school spirit," stated Laurel Anne Oswald. The cheerleaders generate spirit and support throughout the year. "Being a cheerleader is a demanding job but I know that it is worth it when I look up and see the crowd on their feet, cheering for the team," said junior, Holly Griffith. The girls have to juggle cheering with all their other responsibilities. They could only do it for one reason, in the words of one of the cheers, "We love it, We love it!"
