

Will Thomas, a fourth grader, must concentrate and finish his classwork before he can go to recess. Although lower school students enjoy being on the playground, they realize their schoolwork is important.

Mrs. Morehead shares storytime with her students. Learning to read is a very exciting part of the first grade and teachers realize reading aloud can increase students' progress tremendously.

Christmas is a very exciting part of the year for lower school students. Third grader Mary Beth Bolt is busy making an ornament for the class' Christmas tree and dreaming of what Santa will bring her.