

The fifth grade must always pay attention to Mrs. Tuten.

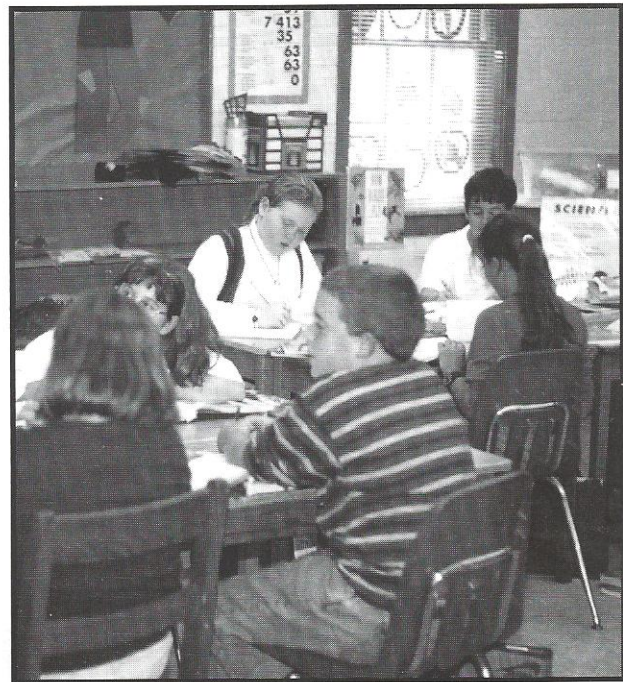

Joseph Williams shows his incredibly large stack of books that he has to carry around.

Emily McKay and her friends pause for a minute to listen to the daily announcements during homeroom.

The fifth grade knows that they must work hard because next year they will be in middle school.

Kristen Carter and her class mates take a break from work during Mrs. Tuten's class.

