

a lot of new and a little of the same
CPA is Still the Best

Every year the same thing happens: summer ends and school begins. Its back to school for one more year of the same. The same people, same teachers, and even the same weekly lunch menu. At least that's what many of this years CPA students thought as they filed into the gym for orientation in late August. Instead, they were greeted by the first of many changes they would encounter that day. Many knew there would be a new captain steering the ship this year; but few had actually seen Mr. Jerry Wolff. The students were also introduced to eleven new teachers. Some had new faces while others were quite familiar. As the students left the gym they walked into newly remodeled lower and middle school buildings and onto the freshly waxed and polished floors of the high school building. Few knew what to expect as they visited classes for the first time; but everyone knew that CPA, same or different, was still the best.

Jason and Wesley show that there's always fun to have during the day.

What is it that seems to have captured new headmaster Jerry Wolff's attention?

During a quiet moment Pam and Tommy show that it's good to share your day with someone.
