

To My Dear Daughter Abbie,

You have reached a valuable milestone in your life, one that I hope has taught you many lessons and gained you many lifelong friends. Please remember that respect, sincerity, trustworthiness, and integrity are virtues that will never lead you astray. Through years of laughter and tears, stomach aches and boo-boos, you have become a lovely young woman. Be true to yourself and make the most of every challenge that life brings you for they will be wonderful experiences that will stay with you forever. You have made me the proudest Dad on Earth. You will always be my little girl.

I Love You,
Daddy
