

Spirit Week

The week before the big Homecoming game is always reason for excitement and enthusiasm in the halls of CPA. Teachers and students alike enjoy the out-of-the-ordinary situations that the week brings to campus. Students see it as a break in the monotony of the weeks. Teachers may not view it the same.

This year the theme days included pajama, tacky, redneck, college, and blue and white. The highlight of the week is the pep rally on Friday afternoon. Each grade participates in a spirit contest and a banner contest. Mock Homecoming Queen is also selected. Of course, the grand finale is the big game.

We all enjoy the opportunity to relax the dress code. This is the week to be yourself and let the creative energy flow. It's quite obvious through this grouping of pictures that the entire group at CPA participated in the festivities.
