Emmi.

If I never receive another thing in life, that would be fine. I have all I need, the most wonderful daughter ever. You are my life. Emily, I love you so very much. You will always be my little girl. Good luck as you embark on the next chapter of your life.

You'll never know how much you mean to me. Having not had children of my own, I was truly blessed when we became a part of each other's lives. You helped fill a void in my life and have become a permanent fixture in my heart. No parent could be more proud or pleased at how their child turned out than I. It's been a learning experience, both good and bad, that I wouldn't trade for anything in the world. You'll never know how much you mean
