

Dedication

Learning...It's supposed to be dull and boring, right? Not in Mr. David McArthur's class. Mr. McArthur requires each of his students to give him their best effort, but he makes sure that they have fun doing it. Although Mr. McArthur is mostly known as a math teacher, he also serves as a mentor for many Colleton Prep students.

Mr. McArthur has been a teacher at Colleton Prep for eight years. He has taught every math class possible plus computer applications. He has also been the tennis, basketball, and football coach in the past, and currently serves as the golf coach. Not only did Mr. McArthur teach computer applications, but it is safe to say that none of the computers in the whole school would be running correctly if it were not for him.

Mr. McArthur travels a round trip of one hundred and sixty-two miles to Colleton Prep from Savannah everyday, and students could not appreciate that more. His booming laugh and his overall good nature helps get many Colleton Prep students through the day. Mr. McArthur does all of these things and more, and we would like to take this opportunity to thank him for all that he does by dedicating the 2006 Talon to him.

WE LOVE YOU MAC-DADDY!
