

Jana Taylor McClendon

Jana,
I remember your little face when you were born. I wanted you to stay small so I could keep you near me forever. The next thing we knew, you grew into a beautiful, independent, and capable woman. Nothing can measure the pride and happiness we have felt watching you face life's challenges. There are no words to describe all the feelings our hearts hold for you. Wherever you go, whatever you do always remember you are loved.
