

OBH

Dear Liv,

My precious girl! How you have made me laugh over the last seventeen years. There is never a serious moment when you are around. You have always filled the house with music and laughter. I'm so proud of the young woman you have become.

Continue to always surround yourself with friends and family. You have always been able to "throw a party" at a moment's notice. How many times did you tell me that you were having a few friends over that turned into thirty people? Keep using that talent to gather people for a good cause!

I'm so proud of the Christian values you have developed. Remember to lean on those as you venture out into the world on your own. "My God shall supply all your needs!"

Finally, remember we are your family. We will always be there for you. We always have your back and will love you unconditionally. Congratulations, Olivia! You will do great things and I can't wait to watch!

I love you,
Mom

Livi,

As I try to express some of my thoughts into words, I am saddened to realize how fast the years have flown by. I remember the Wee Hawk days, Saturday morning basketball and your first middle school dance. It seems like yesterday when you would curl up in my lap with a blanket, as we watched for that buck to walk out on a cold November afternoon. Today my reflections turn into reality as I've watched you transform into the beautiful young lady that you've become. I am very proud of you, not only for your accomplishments, but for the faith, manners and your honesty that you project through your life. You brighten the room when you enter it, and that is probably of what I am most proud.

Going forward, I know that you will be successful at whatever you choose to do. Always remember to honor your traditions, but don't be afraid to create your own legacy. Be kind to others, and most of all, "Sit tall in the saddle for you are a Burritram!"

I love you very much,
Dad

Liv,

We're going to miss you. Good luck in college!
Jenn and Jake
