Foreword

We, the senior class of Cottageville High School, are proud and happy to present this seventh volume of THE CYPRESS AND PINE. We hope this annual will serve as a pleasant reminder of our happy school days and help us always to remember them.

Dedication

To Mrs. Gertrude Turner for the patience and guidance as our home room teacher, for her strength of character and untiring efforts as sponsor of this annual, we dedicate this seventh volume of THE CYPRESS AND PINE.

To Mr. Madison Griffith we dedicate this seventh volume of THE CYPRESS AND PINE for his helpfulness, advice, and guidance as co-sponsor of the annual.

Class History

As we look into the dim shadows of the ever-fading past to that bright morning in September of 1944, we can remember thirty-two students setting forth on the greatest journey of their lives. We were young in age and heart, and the joy of this new adventure was overwhelming us.

Some of us had, at first, a tendency to be sad and many tears were shed in that room down the hall.

The years passed and we learned how to do those things that everyone has or will encounter at one time or another. We were fast learning how to read and write and how to play a lot of new games that none of us had ever heard of before.

We acquired and lost many other adventures on that rough road we have now traveled. To name a few: Harold Isgette, Donald LaTorre, Buddy O'Quinn, Alvin Cales, Audrey Dewitt, Mercer Reeves, Patricia Langdale, Jon Ann Reeves, and Anne Turner. They went away to different places and we extend to them our best wishes and lots of luck.

When we came into the seventh grade, we were in what may be classified as a migration. We were moving from grammar to junior high school level. There wasn't much that was very hard about it; just increased pressure on the spring of education flowing into our heads.

In those years we were introduced to the great sport of basketball; some of us even got a suit.

In the ninth grade we were started in the business of earning units instead of passing the grade. This wasn't too bad, but then why should it be, all there was to it was to keep on passing?

Then in the eleventh grade we had our class play, "Headin' for a Weddin'," which was a big hit and success. The proceeds were used in the sponsoring of our Junior-Senior Banquet. In the latter part of the year we ordered our rings. All this brought to mind the glorious future of next year.

Seniors!! Seniors at last!! The utmost, the ultimate, the infinite!! The period of our school time that had long been dreamed of and anticipated had arrived at last.

The year started with the arrival of our rings and the ordering of our invitations. The work on the annual was started and we soon found out what a job this was going to be.

As we take leave of this beloved school of ours we know we will never find any place to quite come up to the great happiness we have found here for the last 12 years. Each of bids Cottageville High School a fond farewell.

Class Prophecy

Dear Diary,

The keeper of the celestial clock has been too busy during the past year to bother with my unimportant wish to learn the walk of life each of my 1956 classmates now stride down. Instead he lent to me one of his collections of crystal balls to gaze into to see if I could learn their varied vocations.

The first four I see are four graduate nurses. These nurses are none other than Mary, Myona, Elaine, and Kathleen. Here I find that Mary, Myona, and Elaine are at Roper Hospital where Mary and Elaine work in the operating room while Myona works in the x-ray room. I see on Mary's finger a diamond. It seems that at last she's about to catch a doctor. Kathleen is a little nearer home. She is now head nurse in the Walterboro Hospital.

As these people fade away, a bride comes into view. I find it to be De Ann. She is finished college and is beginning her career as a wife. Who is the lucky guy? Well I just can't quite distinguish him.

The next one seems to be signing her name to a book. The name she is writing is Rodgernelle. It seems as though our old classmate, Rodgernelle has finished writing her book and is signing the first copy sold. Lets see whom she's handing this book to. Why it's none other than the journalist, Elizabeth. Looks as if she's getting this story first hand.

Coming closer I see another classmate. This one isn't alone: there are three other people with her. It appears that she is married and now has a darling little boy and girl. This classmate is no other than Nancy.

Next I see our class has taken good care of the United States Service Department. The first one I see clearly is an Air Force uniform; as the face clears up, I find it to be Dennis...Seems as though this choice was a wise one for him because he is now a sergeant and a happily married man. Then the Army appears. The Army has in it Bernard. The Navy not being left out has put its Waves to work. The Waves have none other than Virginia in its force.

I see another member of our class is also upholding the service. This one didn't join it, she married into it. Who could this be, but Carolyn?

Seems that three of our boys went to college. William upon finishing college went to work with G. E. and is now working in his choice vocation. Legare upon finishing college became football coach for Walterboro. Gerald also finished college. What is his vocation? Well give him time, he just got the college diploma.

Next I see women's legs, then a desk. When these two are together it spells nothing but secretaries. These two secretaries happen to be Alice and Sarah. They are private secretaries for a lawyer. This must be a real tough case they're working on now.

Next I see two college graduates, Betty Joan and Carrie Moyer. Carrie Moyer upon finishing has been seeing the world as an air line hostess. The world Betty Joan is seeing is the faces of the boys and girls she stands before and tries to teach.

Last of all I see myself with a dress in one hand and a teacher standing beside me. I am still studying and working to fulfill my aim to be a well known dress designer.

Upon having fulfilled my desire to see my classmates in the future, I return the crystal ball to the keeper of time with my deepest appreciation.

Class Will

We, the class of nineteen hundred and fifty-six of Cottageville High School, County of Colleton, State of South Carolina, being of sane mind and sound body, realizing also that we must soon depart this life, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

SECTION I

- Article 1. We do hereby will and bequeath to Mrs. Turner our appreciation and thanks for her patience and understanding during the past year.
- Article 2. We do hereby will and bequeath to our mothers and fathers our love and devotion for their sacrifices and understanding, and for helping us through the past twelve years.
- Article 3. We do hereby will and bequeath to the faculty our thanks for helping us in our work.
- Article 4. We do hereby will and bequeath to the junior class our ability to raise money, hoping they will be as successful as we were.

SECTION II

- Article 1. I, Elaine Adams, do hereby will and bequeath to Betty Jean McMillian my ability to talk and chew gum in Mrs. Turner's room, hoping that she won't get caught as many times as I did.
- Article 2. I, Sarah Perry, do hereby will and bequeath to Lula Mae Adams my walk, hoping she doesn't get teased as much as I have.
- Article 3. I, Kathleen Benton, do hereby will and bequeath to Betty Nettles my temper, hoping she will be able to control it better than I have.
- Article 4. I, Rodgernelle Cattels, do hereby will and bequeath to Mary Ruth Adams my vocabulary, hoping she will be better understood than I have been.
- Article 5. I, Elizabeth Adams, do hereby will and bequeath to Alice Hoff my naturally curly hair, hoping she won't have to use as many permanents as I have.
- Article 6. I, Mary Youmans, do hereby will and bequeath to Patsy Tuten my loud mouth, hoping she will make better use of it in cheerleading than I did but won't get called down in class and in the hall as often as I did.

- Article 7. I, Carolyn Johnston, do hereby will and bequeath to Jeanette Griffith my ability for getting to classes late in hopes that she will have better reasons planned than I.
- Article 8. I, Dennis Cook, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get away with almost anything to George Addison in hopes that he won't get caught as much as I have.
- Article 9. I, William Reeves, do hereby will and bequeath to Robert Ernest Dandridge my ability to get along with my classmates, hoping he will have as good a class as I.
- Article 10. I, Legare Reeves, do hereby will and bequeath to Andrew Spell my habit of being late for school and hope Mrs. Turner won't fuss at him as much as she did me.
- Article 11. I, Bernard Bridge, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Anderson the hair left over after my next G.I. haircut.
- Article 12. I, Gerald Adams, do hereby will and bequeath to Reginald Addison my false teeth, hoping he doesn't need them as soon as I did.
- Article 13. I, Betty Joan Adams, do hereby will and bequeath my pony tail to Margaret Reeves in hopes it doesn't get yanked as often as mine was.
- Article 14. I, Nancy Gatch, do hereby will and bequeath to Rose Mary Willis my ability to catch a man as early as I did, hoping she will make as good a choice as I did.
- Article 15. I, Alice Ackerman, do hereby will and bequeath to Geraldine Stokes and my sister, Marilyn, my ability to have boy friends visit at the schoolhouse, hoping they won't have to go to the office as much as I did.
- Article 16. I, Virginia Hughes, do hereby will and bequeath to Peggy Reeves my ability to pop chewing gum, hoping she has as much fun teasing people as I have had.
- Article 17. I, DeAnn Spell, do hereby will and bequeath to Parma Tuten my ability to lose weight, hoping she will lose more than I did.
- Article 18. I, Myona Reeves, do hereby will and bequeath to Lou Ellyn Thomas my ability to make all one's, hoping a two doesn't slip on her report card as often as it did mine.
- Article 19. I, Patricia Jacques, do hereby will and bequeath to Jeanette Ackerman my ability to get a new boyfriend every two weeks, hoping she will be as successful as I have been.
- Article 20. I, Carrie Moye Smith, do hereby will and bequeath to Mrs. Thomas my Bermuda shorts, hoping she will enjoy wearing them as much as I did.

Class Poem

Twenty seniors are on the eve of graduation,
Long awaited with eager anticipation.

Twelve long years have passed and gone.
Each heart string plays a happy song.

With all the celebrating and making jolly,
Deep within is born a feeling melancholy.

As school days like an ebbing tide,
Go out, no longer to abide.

A part of life for us is over;
As separation like a gloom o'er us does hover.

We've memories to treasure of C.H.S.
Where we were taught to accept the worst
while striving for the best.

We stand together, the class of 1956,
Watching the doors close, our emotions mixed.

We're happy, yet a little sad.
Somewhat sorrowful, yet glad.

We'll separate each with his path to trod,
Onward, upward, always trusting in God.

Our Alma Mater we'll always hold in high esteem;
Cottageville, to us, will forever be supreme.
