

WHAT IS OUR SCHOOL? It is many things, different things. Each student has his own definition of what John C. is; because each student brings to our school different talents, different needs, each takes from it something unique.

It is a whole composed of basic parts: the campus itself, the students and the personnel, and the intangible spirit that infuses the whole with life . . .

