

What is a yearbook? . . .
It is hours of shuffling pictures and selecting and discarding . . . of writing copy that might sound just a little bit fresh and original . . . of scheduling meetings between organizations and photographer.

It is hours in the darkroom, developing and printing. It is selling ads and annuals.
It is meeting deadlines after everything that could possibly go wrong, does.

And above all, it is the pleasure and excitement of creating something permanent, something that will be a lasting reminder of good friends and good times.
