

It was Powderpuff season again, and the students could feel the tension and excitement in the school. Before the game, there was much question as to which was the better team. After the first three minutes, the Senior-Sophomore team had taken control and continued to dominate for the rest of the evening.

The scoring began when sophomore Melody McGinnis ran a wide sweep to the outside for a touchdown. The Junior-Freshman defense stopped the two-point conversion, leaving the Seniors ahead 6-0. In the second quarter, running back Marsha McGinnis found the open hole and ran up the middle for a touchdown. Jan Ulmer raised the score as she snuck through the Junior defense for the two-point conversion. The Junior defense put up a strong fight, but they were no match for the offensive line of the Seniors. After the half, the Senior offense struck again when Marsha McGinnis faked a reverse in the backfield and ran forth-five yards for the touchdown. This ended the game with a score of 20-0 giving the Seniors a 4-0 record. Another highlight of the game was the crowning of the new Powderpuff

Queen. Of the two candidates, Joey Craven and Keith Hadwin, "Josephine Gertrude Craven" was the winner.

The Senior-Sophomore team and their coaches gather together before the "big game."

The Senior Cheerleaders amuse the crowd with their acrobatic ability.

The new Powderpuff Queen prepares to take the victory ride around the field during halftime.

